Reuter Named Mayor Of West Berlin Sector

Man Once Barred By Russians Now Takes Over Post

BERLIN, Dec. 7 (AP) — Berlin's anti-Communist leaders defiantly installed as Lord Mayor today the man once barred from the post by the Russians — Social Democratic Leader Ernst Reuter.

It was the second time in a week the Germans of the three Western sectors of the city had defied the Soviets.

They showed their feelings Sunday by their huge turnout for the municipal elections which the Communists were boycotting. Today the newly elected City Council decided that Reuter, outspoken foe of Communist, should take office immediately instead of waiting until January 1 as customary.

Installed In Office

The 58-year-old Reuter thus will serve out the term for which he was elected in 1946—the Russians never let him take office—and then probably will be continued for a full term when the new council meets in January.

Today's action completed the administrative split which started Nov. 30 when the Communists set up a rump government in the Soviet sector for all Berlin. Reuter also is Mayor of all Berlin, technically, but he will organize his government to deal only with the British, American and French sectors.

Acting Lord Mayor Louise Schroeder now reverts to her original post of deputy mayor until the end of December.

Reuter, who fought the Nazis as hard as he is fighting the Communists, made it clear he was ready for a scrap.

"The battle of Germany against Communism will be fought and won right here," he declared.

He said he would start work immediately to reorganize the executive branch of the city government so the three western sectors "can stand on their own feet."

Reuter called for a doubled volume of supplies from the allied airlift. He also demanded the outlawing of the Soviet zone mark as legal currency in the western sectors.

Can Double Airlift

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American Commander in Germany, said doubling the airlift would be "just about possible" in good weather. United States and British planes flew in almost 5,000 tons over the Soviet blockade during the past 24 hours.

Clay said the question of banning Soviet currency is being considered "on a government level" by the three Western powers.

"This is not a Berlin question any more," Reuter said in an interview.

"We are now fighting for all Germany. We can talk of a United Berlin only if the four occupation powers get together. Meanwhile, what we do for West Berlin we are doing also for East Berlin. They will see what we do and it will influence them."

The split of the city was further illustrated when 800 office workers refused any longer to report for work at headquarters of the Electric Company in the Soviet sector. They said the Communists were molesting them. They reported for work at branch offices in the western sectors. The remaining 400 who live in the Russian sector stayed on the job.

Bank Robber Is Nabbed By Lady

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 7 (INS) — Newark police were amazed to learn today that a man who meekly surrendered to a woman store detective on a $15 shoplifting charge was sought as a member of a mob which staged a $2,000,000 Chicago robbery.

Mrs. Elsie Seamon, didn't know the "prize" she nabbed when she collared John (Jiggs) Sullivan, 51, as he slipped a cheap electric razor into his pocket in the Kresge Department Store in Newark.

Sullivan, when arrested, gave his name as John Sommers, but when confronted with an FBI circular admitted his identity.

The authorities charged that Sullivan headed a seven-man gang which looted the Rumbold Realty Company safety deposit vault in Chicago January 18, 1945.

More than $2,000,000 in bonds from the robbery were discovered in a bungalow on Chicago's far northwest side a week after it was taken.

About $100,000 in cash never was recovered.

Sullivan was the only man in the gang unaccounted for, until today.

Michael Kozar, a participant in the vault looting, was shot to death in his home shortly after turning state's witness. Another member of the gang, Wencil Urban, was "taken for a ride" and killed near Kankakee, Ill., after he reportedly got into an argument over splitting the proceeds of the robbery.

Jap Premier Jailed

Marshall 'Excellent' Following Operation For Kidney Condition

Secretary Of State Undergoes Surprise Surgery At Army's Walter Reed Hospital

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — Secretary of State Marshall today underwent a major operation and informed sources said one of his kidneys was removed.

"The operation was successful. The secretary is doing excellently. No complications are anticipated," the Army's Walter Reed Hospital reported shortly after the 8 a. m. (EST) operation.

Seven hours after the operation a bulletin said "the secretary is still getting along fine." It added that no complications have developed, and that no further reports will be made until tomorrow morning.

The seriousness of the surgery came as a surprise. The State Department and his associates have insisted that Marshall, who will be 68 on December 31, was in the hospital merely for a physical checkup.

Report Is Good News

The report that the operation was successful is good news to those who hope Marshall will remain in President Truman's cabinet.

The President told a news conference last week he had asked Marshall to stay in the cabinet and Marshall had agreed. At the time, the President said he had no information about Marshall's health.

Whether or not Mr. Truman's chief adviser in international affairs will continue long as Secretary of State presumably will depend on the speed and ease of his recovery.

During the three to five weeks usually required for convalescense after such an operation, Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett will run the State Department.

Rumors about Marshall's health have been widespread during much of the time he has been Secretary of State. He has held the high post since January, 1947.

Last summer he spent two weeks at Walter Reed hospital. A small growth was removed from his back. But Marshall told a news conference that he was in good health.

Discovered Last Summer

It was revealed today that the kidney condition was discovered during last summer's check-up and doctors wanted to operate at that time.

But Marshall decided to delay the operation because of pressing world conditions. The latest major situation requiring his attention was the United Nations meeting in Paris.

He returned from that conference November 22 and again began taking what his aides described as "tests and examinations."

But he did not allow these "examinations" to interfere with his work. He held several conferences with President Truman. He appeared at his office.

Later he ceased to come to the State Department and spent all of his time at the hospital. Even in the hospital, he continued to work on papers and kept fully informed of world developments.

China Reds Trap Troops In Suchow

Government Source Admits Swift Move Ends Escape Hopes

NANKING, Dec. 7 (AP)—A swift Communist maneuver has trapped the 250,000-man garrison from Suchow, probably beyond any hope of escape or help, government sources admitted today.

With the best of the government's troops in all East China thus caught in a net, defenses were rushed along the Hwai and Yangtze Rivers. These are the last lines of defense before the capital.

Chiang's Son In Trap

Col. Chiang Wei-Kuo, adopted son of President Kai-Shek, is believed among those trapped. His tank column helped to break the first Red drive on Suchow, 211 miles northwest of Nanking.

Meanwhile, the Communists appear to have launched a drive in North China against the Peiping-Tientsin area.

(Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa in Peiping said the Communists were pouring through Kupehkow Pass out of Jehol Province and had taken Huaijou only 30 miles northeast of Peiping).

Government sources said the Suchow garrison, which is trying to fight south and rejoin the defenders of Nanking, now is compressed in a pocket eight miles long and five miles in depth about 50 miles southwest of Suchow.

(This would be about 90 miles from the closest government forces not already encircled—the 80,000 men on the Hwai River line.)

Gen. Chen Yi, whose Communist Armies of East China had smashed to the Hwai River line some 100 miles from Nanking, was credited with welding a trap of steel for the Suchow garrison.

Send Forces North

When the order came through for the garrison to abandon Suchow and fight south, General Chen left off his attacks along the Hwai and rushed his main force northwestward.

They intercepted the garrison, which had been heading toward Suhsien, 50 miles south of Suchow. The garrison had been ordered to liberate 100,000 men of the government's 12th army group encircled in the Suhsien area.

The garrison then swung westward. The Communist radio boasted the garrison "stampeded" when it came under Red attack and then was caught in "an air tight encirclement."

(A later Communist broadcast heard by the Associated Press at San Francisco asserted the garrison in its flight abandoned "truck loads of American equipment.")

An official military spokesman said the Communist encirclement was "not probable," but government statements usually are late in reporting military reverses.

Would Drop Monrovia

BALTIMORE, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Public Service Commission took under advisement today the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's request for authority to abandon its station at Monrovia, Frederick County.

Railroad officials testified at a hearing earlier that the Monrovia depot drew little traffic and has proved uneconomical to operate.

Farmers and residents of the Monrovia area opposed the projected abandonment, contending it would work a hardship on them.

Probe Of Ruth's Will Is Started

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (INS) — A possibility that the disputed will of the late Babe Ruth was signed under duress or the influence of drugs was reported tonight by the Daily Mirror.

The newspaper said that an investigation of this nature is being made by Harold T. Garrity, attorney for one of the adopted daughters of the deceased home run king.

Garrity, who is chairman of the Westchester County Democratic Committee, was said to have attempted questioning of doctors and attendants in this connection at Memorial Hospital. Ruth died there last August 16.

Action to contest the will was taken by the adopted daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Helen Ruth Sullivan, who asserts she is not receiving fair treatment under the will which left a $5,000 bequest to each daughter.

Fails In Speed Record

CLEVELAND, Dec. 7—(INS)—Paul Mantz, noted speed flyer, was on his way to a new west-east transcontinental speed record today when the supercharger of his T-51 Mustang failed, forcing him down at Cleveland airport.

Mantz reported that he was "flying at about 28,000 feet when the high blower(supercharger) cut out."

Secret Service Traps Man With "Very Good Money"

BALTIMORE, Dec. 7 (AP)—Police and secret service agents snapped an elaborate trap today on a man with two rolls of bills that turned out to be very good copies of the real thing.

He was booked as John Acunzo, 24, of South Norwalk, Conn., and identified himself as a dealer in costume jewelry.

Secret service agents said his bogus money was the type that has turned up widely along the Middle Atlantic seaboard the past few weeks.

George Drescher, agent in charge of the Baltimore Secret Service office, said Acunzo will be charged with possessing and passing counterfeit United States currency.

Much of the passing was done at Baltimore night clubs, where Acunzo had become a frequent customer. A special squad of city police had been on his trail after obtaining a description from one cabaret where $120 worth of counterfeit bills turned up and another which reported $150 worth.

The officers said they finally caught up with Acunzo through a showgirl who had a date with him.

He was arrested at 3:30 o'clock this morning as he stepped out of a big 1948 convertible to go into a night club. Drescher said many of the bills in his $629 bankroll were counterfeit. The agents found another batch stuffed beneath the spare tire in the convertible.

Acunzo was questioned most of the day by secret service agents. They declined to say what they had learned. They reported some of the bills were so cleverly engraved it took a magnifying glass to detect them.

Several hours after Acunzo was arrested here, police announced that secret service agents had picked up his girl friend in New York and were questioning her.

A BASKETFUL-- Nurse Elizabeth Hanawalt shows proud papa, Charles Logan, 34, his triplets at a Ypsilant, Mich., hospital, where he appeared earlier in the day carrying a basket and approached the nurse telling her "I've got a basketful of babies." Sure enough, it was. They are all doing nicely. So is the mother.

Negro Property Rights Aired In Appeals Court

Case Involves Area Along Magothy River

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 7 (AP)—To hold that courts cannot enforce restrictive convenants against Negroes would result in "the greatest public confusion and civil disorder," the Court of Appeals was told today.

Maryland's highest court took under advisement arguments in two cases involving the right of Negroes to buy property in white neighborhoods.

They involved Beachwood Forest, a 100-acre development along the Magothy River between Annapolis and Baltimore.

Deeds Are Cited

Deeds to the property in 1922 contained a clause banning sale to anyone "of Negro, Chinese or Japanese descent."

The Rev. Hiram E. Smith, who said he is an Indian, and his wife, Lulu, a Negro, bought about 65 acres in 1943 from a man who left the restrictive covenant out of the deed. They put up a $70,000 amusement park for Negroes.

In 1946, the Smiths bought four adjacent lots which were covered by restrictive covenants. Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Saunders, Negroes, bought another lot nearby. Both houses are separated by a ravine from a second section of about 35 acres owned by various white people.

"The first neighborhood is distinctly colored; the second neighborhood white," said lawyers for the Smiths and Saunders. "Both neighborhoods we hope are American.

"If the court insists on holding the entire subdivision constitutes one neighborhood, then the neighborhood is no longer white but mixed, and no injunction any court can issue can change it to an all-white neighborhood again," they said.

Earlier Orders Appealed

Both sides appealed from orders issued last February by then Judge William J. McWilliams in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court.

McWilliams ordered an injunction permanently restraining the Smiths and Saunders from using or occupying the home lots they bought. "They admit that the existence of the restriction was known to them prior to their purchase of the property," he said.

McWilliams at the same time dismissed a suit brought by white property owners for an injunction to throw the Smiths off the 64-acre amusement park property they had bought free of restrictions.

"It may well be that these particular defendants would make more desirable neighbors than any white people who might become owners of property in the development," he said. But "this is neither the time or place for an essay on racial tolerance," he said.

McWilliams said he was "obliged" to follow Supreme Court decisions that restrictive covenants in themselves are not a violation of the Fourteenth Amendment.

Austria Peace Talks Expected

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—The United States hopefully joined Austria today in a new move for an Austrian peace treaty.

Austria asked yesterday that the Big Four—the U. S., Russia, Britain and France—revive treaty talks which bogged down in London last May because of Russian demands on the Austrians.

Today, the State Department sent a note telling Austria it was ready, if the other Big Four members were, to call a new meeting of the Big Four Deputy Foreign Ministers.

Dad Of Triplets Uses Basket To Reach Hospital

Ypsilanti, Mich., Dec. 7. (INS) — Charles Logan walked into Ypsilanti's Boyer Memorial Hospital carrying a market basket today.

He approached nurse Dorothy Heath and, with confused abruptness, announced:

"I've got a basketfull of babies here."

Miss Heath chuckled goodnaturedly to demonstrate that she can appreciate a joke now and then.

But, when she lifted the cover of Logan's basket, she stifled a shriek.

She saw three newly-born infants—two girls and a boy.

The nurse rushed them to the infant ward, where they were found to be as sturdy as they looked.

Mother and children reportedly are doing well.

Congress Will Be Asked For Strong Curbs On Prices

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (INS)—President Truman was told by his Chief Economic Adviser today that the Democratic Congress will have to be asked to approve strong standby anti-inflation powers.

This report was made by Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chief of the Council of Economics Advisers, who gave the President a preview of the price curb proposals which the council will recommend.

Nourse emphasized that, despite some price reductions, the economic climate is still inflationary and that a price curb program "is still at the front" of the legislature picture.

But he said changes may come along in 1949 which would make it unnecessary to use these powers.

He declared that the council has reached no decision on the rent question. Other administration sources said the White House had flatly rejected proposals for a further increase in rent ceilings.

Postmaster General Donaldson declared after a White House call that rates on second class and other low revenue-producing mail will have to be increased because of rising costs, borne upward by inflation.

The President, at his desk early as usual, spent a busy day receiving visitors and discussing international and domestic problems with cabinet members and other advisers.

Charles Luckman, president of Lever Brothers, Inc., told Mr. Truman that the Germans felt no "remorse" over the war and only regretted that Hitler did not win. Luckman, who headed the President's Food Conservation committee last year, recently spent two weeks in Germany.

He declared that the Russians had made "their greatest tactical mistake" in blockading Berlin. He said the Germans, who admire only displays of "might," were greatly impressed by the Berlin airlift, and in consequence were cooperating better with American officials.

David Dubinsky, head of the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union, AFL, told reporters that Mr. Truman still insisted on complete revision of the Displaced Persons Act. Mr. Truman has contended that the present law discriminates against Jews and Catholics and that the number of displaced persons admitted should be doubled.

Florida Banker Dies

PALM BEACH, Fla., Dec. 7 (AP)—Wiley Richard Reynolds, 69, founder of a Florida banking empire, died today aboard his yacht ,the Captiva.

Reynolds built a financial career in the state after he retired as a multi-millionaire automobile parts manufacturer. He came to Palm Beach in 1926 "to enjoy myself as a retired man."

Errol Flynn Is Arrested Second Time In New York

Movie Actor Fails To Appear In Court

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(INS)—Movie Actor Errol Flynn, who has been getting away with "murder" on and off the screen for years, discovered today there is one thing he can't do with impunity in New York: He can't kick a cop.

The Hollywood hero, to whom assault charges, breach of contract suits, paternity cases and actions involving precocious (feminine) minors are old stuff, was arrested twice within twelve hours today on the policeman's plaint.

Flynn even spent an ignominous 70 minutes locked up in the pokey after he failed to appear in Magistrate's Court at 11 a. m. to answer the charge of booting a policeman at 2:30 a. m.

The Irish actor was finally released by a lady judge pending his appearance in Magistrate's Court at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

At that time, Flynn, charged with third degree assault, must answer the charge of kicking Policeman Joseph Birgeles "upon the shin with his foot, upon which foot he did have a shoe."

Flynn, who has always been a hard man in the screen's cloak-and-dagger dramas, was meek as Moses when he was finally hauled into court today after his second arrest. It came on a bench warrant issued by an angry magistrate, Henri Schwob, before whom he failed to appear in the first instance.

If the handsome hero thought to fight his way out of this one by charming the lady judge—Doris L. Byrne—before whom he eventually appeared, he was sadly mistaken.

Magistrate Byrne looked at Flynn with what seemed to be the jaundiced eye of an ardent non-movie fan.

Flashing a nervous smile, Flynn weakly explained that he had overslept, his alarm clock hadn't gone off, the hotel had failed to call him in time—

"I was sort of disturbed and I didn't get any sleep until 8 a. m.," Flynn said in delicate reference to his early ayem run-in with the law.

Fake Voting In Korea Is Laid To Russ

U. N. Delegate Says Photocopy Evidence Held

PARIS, Dec. 7 (INS)—A British U. N. delegate aroused by Russian charges of "American bayonet imperialism" in Korea, charged tonight that there is "photocopy evidence" that the Russians faked last August's elections in Soviet-occupied Northern Korea.

U. S. Delegate John Foster Dulles earlier called on all non-Communist lands "to close ranks" against what he termed Russia's global use of "terrorism, coercion, and force."

West Fights Filibuster

The west fought against apparent Soviet filibustering all day and into a late night session in seeking a U. N. Special Commission to supervise eventual Korean unity and withdrawal of American and Russian occupation forces.

The political committee delegates heard Polish Delegates Tadeus Zebrowski echo Moscow anti-western charges.

Then British Delegate Gordon Walker shook his finger at Soviet Delegate Constantin Rodionov, who is scheduled to continue the debate tomorrow. Walker advised him to "keep silent" on what he termed outworn charges that the Americans had rigged elections in Southern Korea.

The Southern Korean election was attended by another U. N. Commission which Russia banned from Northern Korea.

Walker, foreshadowing what may be a formal "exposure" of Soviet election claims, declaring that a Korean woman present in the U. N. political committee chamber had her vote falsified by the Russians and had photocopy evidence of it.

Dulles Hits Russia

Dulles' speech was one of his heaviest attacks on the Russians.

Dulles was supported by a long succession of speakers deploring Russian splitting of Korea and her refusal to let a previous U. N. Commission into Soviet-occupied Northern Korea.

A French speaker declared Russia had "projected into the assembly the veto which has done so much to hamper the effectiveness of the Security Council."

Russia embarked on what western delegates called a filibuster, presumably aimed at delaying action on key issues beyond the December 11-12 assembly adjournment date.

Under repeated challenges, the Soviet bloc finally agreed at a special night session to debate the issue.

At first the Russians had refused to talk today. Now it appears that the Soviet speakers will try to postpone committee action beyond tomorrow night's deadline on the Korean issue.

In the night session Soviet Ukranian Delegate Vladimir Kovalanko began the familiar charges against the United States. He said it was "systematically enslaving Koreans" and supporting a government of "wartime collaborators" elected by "American bayonets."

Pollard Indicted In Baby's Death

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 7 (AP)—A circuit court grand jury voted a first-degree murder indictment against William N. Pollard, 26, today, a few hours after Pollard's mother arrived "to save my boy's life."

The indictment was voted in the fatal beating of 21-month-old Joseph Nichols, Jr., whose body was found in a dresser drawer in a downtown hotel November 20.

3 New Suspects Sought In Probe By House Group

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — A quest for new suspects in the Red spy case was launched tonight after testimony that the "pumpkin papers" filched from the State Department could have been used to crack a "top secret" prewar government code.

The testimony came from Sumner Welles, former Undersecretary of State, before the House Un-American Activities Committee. Committee members immediately raised the possibility that the code may have fallen into the hands of the Russians, Germans and Japanese.

Rep. Mundt (R-S.D.), acting chairman, told reporters the committee seeks to check on evidence that "at least three persons" piped confidential government documents before the war to Whittaker Chambers, then a Communist courier.

Reports Four Sought

Another committeeman, Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.), told reporters, however, that there are four suspects.

The committee said yesterday that Chambers made a sworn statement that Alger Hiss, then a State Department official, procured some documents which Chambers gave a Soviet agent. Hiss denies it.

Now, Nixon says, Chambers has named three additional persons as having passed secret government documents to him. Their names were not disclosed. Nixon said none of the names is familiar to the public. He said they are civilian men, one of whom had worked in the State Department and the others elsewhere in the government.

Nixon explained this was told to a subcommittee by Chambers last night in New York.

Reporters who talked to Nixon went back to Mundt who said he didn't know about a fourth suspect.

Mundt told reporters, the committee has received testimony that two other persons may have "passed documents to Chambers." The committee is looking for them and hopes to have them testify at a closed committee session at 11 a. m. EST tomorrow, he said.

Welles, Undersecretary of State from 1937 to 1943, examined some of the "pumpkin papers" as the committee re-opened its espionage hearings. To publish them even now, he said, might endanger national security.

John E. Peurifoy, Assistant Secretary of State, agreed with Welles' evaluation of their delicate nature.

Fed To Spy Ring

The papers are said by the committee to have been fed out of the State Department to a Communist spy ring of a decade ago. Some of them handed to Welles were marked 'strictly confidential for the Secretary of State."

Mundt said that one of the two persons sought by the committee is reported to have been a State Department employe at the time the documents were purloined, and the other employe in another government agency.

He said he doesn't know whether either of the two sought is a Communist or has been.

So far, he said, a check of committee files has turned up nothing on them.

Mundt was asked how any papers pertaining to 1937 and 1938 could endanger the nation's security if made public now.

Army Major Held In Huge Swindle

OSSIPEE, N. H., Dec. 7 (INS) — A highly-decorated Army major who mingled with royalty and Hollywood stars is being taken to Los Angeles tonight to face charges that he swindled hundreds of thousands of dollars from coast to coast.

Police described Harold J. O'Rourke, 52, arrested in a farm home near Dixfield, Me., as the "greatest bunco artist" since the fabulous Yellow Kid Weil.

The flashily-dressed O'Rourke — who once walked through Los Angeles streets with a tiger reportedly given him by an Indian potentate—told reporters:

"I guess I'm all washed up."

Los Angeles detectives who arrested him after he allegedly put over a fraudulent mortgage deal in Chatham, N. H., said he fled Los Angeles while awaiting trial on a charge of fleecing $10,000 from a wheat farmer.

O'Rourke will face charges of fraud, grand theft, conspiracy and failing to appear for trial. He was accused of 47 overt acts.

Sheriff John Leighton, who aided two Los Angeles detectives in the arrest, said O'Rourke was traced through fingerprints.

Police said O'Rourke had been decorated for service with General Chennault's Flying Tigers in China and that he was acquainted with movie stars Linda Darnell, Rita Hayworth, Clark Gable and others.

"One More Try" Request Saves 33 In Ocean Crash

HONOLULU, Dec. 7 (AP)—Thirty-three survivors of a downed air force transport plane owe their rescue to a search plane navigator who insisted on just one more look before giving up the hunt.

Exhausted by 40 hours in the water, the 33 were picked up last night from two life rafts in the tossing Pacific 1,200 miles southwest of Honolulu. Four others were lost.

Lt. Cmdr. Steve G. Kona, Hammond, Ind., pilot of a navy privateer search plane which spotted them, said he was preparing to return to base at Johnston Island when up spoke Ensign L. R. Johnson, Minneapolis.

"Johnnie said 'let's just try one more—it will only take eight minutes,'" Kona related. "Two minutes before the end of that time my plane captain sighted a green dye marker directly beneath the plane.

"We went down to take a look. They were hanging on the gunwales, half inside and half outside."

Safe aboard the Rendova, Lt. Col. William R. Calhoun, Birmingham, Ala., calmly told of waiting in the shark-infested sea for rescue. He was pilot of the C-54, which was forced down on a flight from Okinawa.

"We didn't decide to ditch," he said in a radio interview with Navy Headquarters here, "we just ran out of altitude."

One engine began throwing oil, and a second developed an oil leak. They prepared for an emergency landing 520 miles from Johnston Island. It was early Sunday morning and dark.

Calhoun said the 30 passengers and crew of seven donned life vests and fastened safety belts. When the plane hit the water the lights went out.

Only two life rafts could be saved and inflated in the darkness.

"We had some food and some water," Calhoun said. "However, not knowing how long we would be in the rafts they were rationed to last five days. We expected to be rescued within that time."

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American Commander in Germany, said doubling the airlift would be "just about possible" in good weather. United States and British planes flew in almost 5,000 tons over the Soviet blockade during the past 24 hours.

Clay said the question of banning Soviet currency is being considered "on a government level" by the three Western powers.

"We are now fighting for all Germany. We can talk of a United Berlin only if the four occupation powers get together. Meanwhile, what we do for West Berlin we are doing also for East Berlin. They will see what we do and it will influence them."

The split of the city was further illustrated when 800 office workers refused any longer to report for work at headquarters of the Electric Company in the Soviet sector. They said the Communists were molesting them. They reported for work at branch offices in the western sectors. The remaining 400 who live in the Russian sector stayed on the job.

Bank Robber Is Nabbed By Lady

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 7 (INS) — Newark police were amazed to learn today that a man who meekly surrendered to a woman store detective on a $15 shoplifting charge was sought as a member of a mob which staged a $2,000,000 Chicago robbery.

Mrs. Elsie Seamon, didn't know the "prize" she nabbed when she collared John (Jiggs) Sullivan, 51, as he slipped a cheap electric razor into his pocket in the Kresge Department Store in Newark.

More than $2,000,000 in bonds from the robbery were discovered in a bungalow on Chicago's far northwest side a week after it was taken.

About $100,000 in cash never was recovered.

Sullivan was the only man in the gang unaccounted for, until today.

Michael Kozar, a participant in the vault looting, was shot to death in his home shortly after turning state's witness. Another member of the gang, Wencil Urban, was "taken for a ride" and killed near Kankakee, Ill., after he reportedly got into an argument over splitting the proceeds of the robbery.

Jap Premier Jailed

TOYKO, Wednesday, Dec. 8 (AP)—Former Premier Hitoshi Ashida was jailed by the Tokyo procurator's office today, charged with accepting bribes from a contractor while in office.

Marshall 'Excellent' Following Operation For Kidney Condition

Secretary Of State Undergoes Surprise Surgery At Army's Walter Reed Hospital

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — Secretary of State Marshall today underwent a major operation and informed sources said one of his kidneys was removed.

"The operation was successful. The secretary is doing excellently. No complications are anticipated," the Army's Walter Reed Hospital reported shortly after the 8 a. m. (EST) operation.

Seven hours after the operation a bulletin said "the secretary is still getting along fine." It added that no complications have developed, and that no further reports will be made until tomorrow morning.

The seriousness of the surgery came as a surprise. The State Department and his associates have insisted that Marshall, who will be 68 on December 31, was in the hospital merely for a physical checkup.

Report Is Good News

The report that the operation was successful is good news to those who hope Marshall will remain in President Truman's cabinet.

The President told a news conference last week he had asked Marshall to stay in the cabinet and Marshall had agreed. At the time, the President said he had no information about Marshall's health.

Whether or not Mr. Truman's chief adviser in international affairs will continue long as Secretary of State presumably will depend on the speed and ease of his recovery.

During the three to five weeks usually required for convalescense after such an operation, Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett will run the State Department.

Rumors about Marshall's health have been widespread during much of the time he has been Secretary of State. He has held the high post since January, 1947.

Last summer he spent two weeks at Walter Reed hospital. A small growth was removed from his back. But Marshall told a news conference that he was in good health.

Discovered Last Summer

It was revealed today that the kidney condition was discovered during last summer's check-up and doctors wanted to operate at that time.

But Marshall decided to delay the operation because of pressing world conditions. The latest major situation requiring his attention was the United Nations meeting in Paris.

He returned from that conference November 22 and again began taking what his aides described as "tests and examinations."

But he did not allow these "examinations" to interfere with his work. He held several conferences with President Truman. He appeared at his office.

Later he ceased to come to the State Department and spent all of his time at the hospital. Even in the hospital, he continued to work on papers and kept fully informed of world developments.

China Reds Trap Troops In Suchow

Government Source Admits Swift Move Ends Escape Hopes

NANKING, Dec. 7 (AP)—A swift Communist maneuver has trapped the 250,000-man garrison from Suchow, probably beyond any hope of escape or help, government sources admitted today.

With the best of the government's troops in all East China thus caught in a net, defenses were rushed along the Hwai and Yangtze Rivers. These are the last lines of defense before the capital.

Chiang's Son In Trap

Col. Chiang Wei-Kuo, adopted son of President Kai-Shek, is believed among those trapped. His tank column helped to break the first Red drive on Suchow, 211 miles northwest of Nanking.

Meanwhile, the Communists appear to have launched a drive in North China against the Peiping-Tientsin area.

(Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa in Peiping said the Communists were pouring through Kupehkow Pass out of Jehol Province and had taken Huaijou only 30 miles northeast of Peiping).

Government sources said the Suchow garrison, which is trying to fight south and rejoin the defenders of Nanking, now is compressed in a pocket eight miles long and five miles in depth about 50 miles southwest of Suchow.

(This would be about 90 miles from the closest government forces not already encircled—the 80,000 men on the Hwai River line.)

Gen. Chen Yi, whose Communist Armies of East China had smashed to the Hwai River line some 100 miles from Nanking, was credited with welding a trap of steel for the Suchow garrison.

Send Forces North

When the order came through for the garrison to abandon Suchow and fight south, General Chen left off his attacks along the Hwai and rushed his main force northwestward.

They intercepted the garrison, which had been heading toward Suhsien, 50 miles south of Suchow. The garrison had been ordered to liberate 100,000 men of the government's 12th army group encircled in the Suhsien area.

The garrison then swung westward. The Communist radio boasted the garrison "stampeded" when it came under Red attack and then was caught in "an air tight encirclement."

(A later Communist broadcast heard by the Associated Press at San Francisco asserted the garrison in its flight abandoned "truck loads of American equipment.")

An official military spokesman said the Communist encirclement was "not probable," but government statements usually are late in reporting military reverses.

Would Drop Monrovia

BALTIMORE, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Public Service Commission took under advisement today the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's request for authority to abandon its station at Monrovia, Frederick County.

Railroad officials testified at a hearing earlier that the Monrovia depot drew little traffic and has proved uneconomical to operate.

Farmers and residents of the Monrovia area opposed the projected abandonment, contending it would work a hardship on them.

Probe Of Ruth's Will Is Started

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (INS) — A possibility that the disputed will of the late Babe Ruth was signed under duress or the influence of drugs was reported tonight by the Daily Mirror.

The newspaper said that an investigation of this nature is being made by Harold T. Garrity, attorney for one of the adopted daughters of the deceased home run king.

Garrity, who is chairman of the Westchester County Democratic Committee, was said to have attempted questioning of doctors and attendants in this connection at Memorial Hospital. Ruth died there last August 16.

Action to contest the will was taken by the adopted daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Helen Ruth Sullivan, who asserts she is not receiving fair treatment under the will which left a $5,000 bequest to each daughter.

Fails In Speed Record

CLEVELAND, Dec. 7—(INS)—Paul Mantz, noted speed flyer, was on his way to a new west-east transcontinental speed record today when the supercharger of his T-51 Mustang failed, forcing him down at Cleveland airport.

Mantz reported that he was "flying at about 28,000 feet when the high blower(supercharger) cut out."

Secret Service Traps Man With "Very Good Money"

BALTIMORE, Dec. 7 (AP)—Police and secret service agents snapped an elaborate trap today on a man with two rolls of bills that turned out to be very good copies of the real thing.

He was booked as John Acunzo, 24, of South Norwalk, Conn., and identified himself as a dealer in costume jewelry.

Secret service agents said his bogus money was the type that has turned up widely along the Middle Atlantic seaboard the past few weeks.

George Drescher, agent in charge of the Baltimore Secret Service office, said Acunzo will be charged with possessing and passing counterfeit United States currency.

Much of the passing was done at Baltimore night clubs, where Acunzo had become a frequent customer. A special squad of city police had been on his trail after obtaining a description from one cabaret where $120 worth of counterfeit bills turned up and another which reported $150 worth.

The officers said they finally caught up with Acunzo through a showgirl who had a date with him.

He was arrested at 3:30 o'clock this morning as he stepped out of a big 1948 convertible to go into a night club. Drescher said many of the bills in his $629 bankroll were counterfeit. The agents found another batch stuffed beneath the spare tire in the convertible.

Acunzo was questioned most of the day by secret service agents. They declined to say what they had learned. They reported some of the bills were so cleverly engraved it took a magnifying glass to detect them.

Several hours after Acunzo was arrested here, police announced that secret service agents had picked up his girl friend in New York and were questioning her.

A BASKETFUL— Nurse Elizabeth Hanawalt shows proud papa, Charles Logan, 34, his triplets at a Ypsilant, Mich., hospital, where he appeared earlier in the day carrying a basket and approached the nurse telling her "I've got a basketful of babies." Sure enough, it was. They are all doing nicely. So is the mother.

Negro Property Rights Aired In Appeals Court

Case Involves Area Along Magothy River

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 7 (AP)—To hold that courts cannot enforce restrictive convenants against Negroes would result in "the greatest public confusion and civil disorder," the Court of Appeals was told today.

Maryland's highest court took under advisement arguments in two cases involving the right of Negroes to buy property in white neighborhoods.

They involved Beachwood Forest, a 100-acre development along the Magothy River between Annapolis and Baltimore.

Deeds Are Cited

Deeds to the property in 1922 contained a clause banning sale to anyone "of Negro, Chinese or Japanese descent."

The Rev. Hiram E. Smith, who said he is an Indian, and his wife, Lulu, a Negro, bought about 65 acres in 1943 from a man who left the restrictive covenant out of the deed. They put up a $70,000 amusement park for Negroes.

In 1946, the Smiths bought four adjacent lots which were covered by restrictive covenants. Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Saunders, Negroes, bought another lot nearby. Both houses are separated by a ravine from a second section of about 35 acres owned by various white people.

"The first neighborhood is distinctly colored; the second neighborhood white," said lawyers for the Smiths and Saunders. "Both neighborhoods we hope are American.

"If the court insists on holding the entire subdivision constitutes one neighborhood, then the neighborhood is no longer white but mixed, and no injunction any court can issue can change it to an all-white neighborhood again," they said.

Earlier Orders Appealed

Both sides appealed from orders issued last February by then Judge William J. McWilliams in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court.

McWilliams ordered an injunction permanently restraining the Smiths and Saunders from using or occupying the home lots they bought. "They admit that the existence of the restriction was known to them prior to their purchase of the property," he said.

McWilliams at the same time dismissed a suit brought by white property owners for an injunction to throw the Smiths off the 64-acre amusement park property they had bought free of restrictions.

"It may well be that these particular defendants would make more desirable neighbors than any white people who might become owners of property in the development," he said. But "this is neither the time or place for an essay on racial tolerance," he said.

McWilliams said he was "obliged" to follow Supreme Court decisions that restrictive covenants in themselves are not a violation of the Fourteenth Amendment.

Austria Peace Talks Expected

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—The United States hopefully joined Austria today in a new move for an Austrian peace treaty.

Austria asked yesterday that the Big Four—the U. S., Russia, Britain and France—revive treaty talks which bogged down in London last May because of Russian demands on the Austrians.

Today, the State Department sent a note telling Austria it was ready, if the other Big Four members were, to call a new meeting of the Big Four Deputy Foreign Ministers.

Dad Of Triplets Uses Basket To Reach Hospital

Ypsilanti, Mich., Dec. 7. (INS) — Charles Logan walked into Ypsilanti's Boyer Memorial Hospital carrying a market basket today.

He approached nurse Dorothy Heath and, with confused abruptness, announced:

"I've got a basketfull of babies here."

Miss Heath chuckled goodnaturedly to demonstrate that she can appreciate a joke now and then.

But, when she lifted the cover of Logan's basket, she stifled a shriek.

She saw three newly-born infants—two girls and a boy.

The nurse rushed them to the infant ward, where they were found to be as sturdy as they looked.

Mother and children reportedly are doing well.

Congress Will Be Asked For Strong Curbs On Prices

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (INS)—President Truman was told by his Chief Economic Adviser today that the Democratic Congress will have to be asked to approve strong standby anti-inflation powers.

This report was made by Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chief of the Council of Economics Advisers, who gave the President a preview of the price curb proposals which the council will recommend.

Nourse emphasized that, despite some price reductions, the economic climate is still inflationary and that a price curb program "is still at the front" of the legislature picture.

But he said changes may come along in 1949 which would make it unnecessary to use these powers.

He declared that the council has reached no decision on the rent question. Other administration sources said the White House had flatly rejected proposals for a further increase in rent ceilings.

Postmaster General Donaldson declared after a White House call that rates on second class and other low revenue-producing mail will have to be increased because of rising costs, borne upward by inflation.

The President, at his desk early as usual, spent a busy day receiving visitors and discussing international and domestic problems with cabinet members and other advisers.

Charles Luckman, president of Lever Brothers, Inc., told Mr. Truman that the Germans felt no "remorse" over the war and only regretted that Hitler did not win. Luckman, who headed the President's Food Conservation committee last year, recently spent two weeks in Germany.

He declared that the Russians had made "their greatest tactical mistake" in blockading Berlin. He said the Germans, who admire only displays of "might," were greatly impressed by the Berlin airlift, and in consequence were cooperating better with American officials.

David Dubinsky, head of the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union, AFL, told reporters that Mr. Truman still insisted on complete revision of the Displaced Persons Act. Mr. Truman has contended that the present law discriminates against Jews and Catholics and that the number of displaced persons admitted should be doubled.

Florida Banker Dies

PALM BEACH, Fla., Dec. 7 (AP)—Wiley Richard Reynolds, 69, founder of a Florida banking empire, died today aboard his yacht ,the Captiva.

Reynolds built a financial career in the state after he retired as a multi-millionaire automobile parts manufacturer. He came to Palm Beach in 1926 "to enjoy myself as a retired man."

Errol Flynn Is Arrested Second Time In New York

Movie Actor Fails To Appear In Court

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(INS)—Movie Actor Errol Flynn, who has been getting away with "murder" on and off the screen for years, discovered today there is one thing he can't do with impunity in New York: He can't kick a cop.

The Hollywood hero, to whom assault charges, breach of contract suits, paternity cases and actions involving precocious (feminine) minors are old stuff, was arrested twice within twelve hours today on the policeman's plaint.

Flynn even spent an ignominous 70 minutes locked up in the pokey after he failed to appear in Magistrate's Court at 11 a. m. to answer the charge of booting a policeman at 2:30 a. m.

The Irish actor was finally released by a lady judge pending his appearance in Magistrate's Court at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

At that time, Flynn, charged with third degree assault, must answer the charge of kicking Policeman Joseph Birgeles "upon the shin with his foot, upon which foot he did have a shoe."

Flynn, who has always been a hard man in the screen's cloak-and-dagger dramas, was meek as Moses when he was finally hauled into court today after his second arrest. It came on a bench warrant issued by an angry magistrate, Henri Schwob, before whom he failed to appear in the first instance.

If the handsome hero thought to fight his way out of this one by charming the lady judge—Doris L. Byrne—before whom he eventually appeared, he was sadly mistaken.

Magistrate Byrne looked at Flynn with what seemed to be the jaundiced eye of an ardent non-movie fan.

Flashing a nervous smile, Flynn weakly explained that he had overslept, his alarm clock hadn't gone off, the hotel had failed to call him in time—

"I was sort of disturbed and I didn't get any sleep until 8 a. m.," Flynn said in delicate reference to his early ayem run-in with the law.

Fake Voting In Korea Is Laid To Russ

U. N. Delegate Says Photocopy Evidence Held

PARIS, Dec. 7 (INS)—A British U. N. delegate aroused by Russian charges of "American bayonet imperialism" in Korea, charged tonight that there is "photocopy evidence" that the Russians faked last August's elections in Soviet-occupied Northern Korea.

U. S. Delegate John Foster Dulles earlier called on all non-Communist lands "to close ranks" against what he termed Russia's global use of "terrorism, coercion, and force."

West Fights Filibuster

The west fought against apparent Soviet filibustering all day and into a late night session in seeking a U. N. Special Commission to supervise eventual Korean unity and withdrawal of American and Russian occupation forces.

The political committee delegates heard Polish Delegates Tadeus Zebrowski echo Moscow anti-western charges.

Then British Delegate Gordon Walker shook his finger at Soviet Delegate Constantin Rodionov, who is scheduled to continue the debate tomorrow. Walker advised him to "keep silent" on what he termed outworn charges that the Americans had rigged elections in Southern Korea.

The Southern Korean election was attended by another U. N. Commission which Russia banned from Northern Korea.

Walker, foreshadowing what may be a formal "exposure" of Soviet election claims, declaring that a Korean woman present in the U. N. political committee chamber had her vote falsified by the Russians and had photocopy evidence of it.

Dulles Hits Russia

Dulles' speech was one of his heaviest attacks on the Russians.

Dulles was supported by a long succession of speakers deploring Russian splitting of Korea and her refusal to let a previous U. N. Commission into Soviet-occupied Northern Korea.

A French speaker declared Russia had "projected into the assembly the veto which has done so much to hamper the effectiveness of the Security Council."

Russia embarked on what western delegates called a filibuster, presumably aimed at delaying action on key issues beyond the December 11-12 assembly adjournment date.

Under repeated challenges, the Soviet bloc finally agreed at a special night session to debate the issue.

At first the Russians had refused to talk today. Now it appears that the Soviet speakers will try to postpone committee action beyond tomorrow night's deadline on the Korean issue.

In the night session Soviet Ukranian Delegate Vladimir Kovalanko began the familiar charges against the United States. He said it was "systematically enslaving Koreans" and supporting a government of "wartime collaborators" elected by "American bayonets."

Pollard Indicted In Baby's Death

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 7 (AP)—A circuit court grand jury voted a first-degree murder indictment against William N. Pollard, 26, today, a few hours after Pollard's mother arrived "to save my boy's life."

The indictment was voted in the fatal beating of 21-month-old Joseph Nichols, Jr., whose body was found in a dresser drawer in a downtown hotel November 20.

3 New Suspects Sought In Probe By House Group

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — A quest for new suspects in the Red spy case was launched tonight after testimony that the "pumpkin papers" filched from the State Department could have been used to crack a "top secret" prewar government code.

The testimony came from Sumner Welles, former Undersecretary of State, before the House Un-American Activities Committee. Committee members immediately raised the possibility that the code may have fallen into the hands of the Russians, Germans and Japanese.

Rep. Mundt (R-S.D.), acting chairman, told reporters the committee seeks to check on evidence that "at least three persons" piped confidential government documents before the war to Whittaker Chambers, then a Communist courier.

Reports Four Sought

Another committeeman, Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.), told reporters, however, that there are four suspects.

The committee said yesterday that Chambers made a sworn statement that Alger Hiss, then a State Department official, procured some documents which Chambers gave a Soviet agent. Hiss denies it.

Now, Nixon says, Chambers has named three additional persons as having passed secret government documents to him. Their names were not disclosed. Nixon said none of the names is familiar to the public. He said they are civilian men, one of whom had worked in the State Department and the others elsewhere in the government.

Nixon explained this was told to a subcommittee by Chambers last night in New York.

Reporters who talked to Nixon went back to Mundt who said he didn't know about a fourth suspect.

Mundt told reporters, the committee has received testimony that two other persons may have "passed documents to Chambers." The committee is looking for them and hopes to have them testify at a closed committee session at 11 a. m. EST tomorrow, he said.

Welles, Undersecretary of State from 1937 to 1943, examined some of the "pumpkin papers" as the committee re-opened its espionage hearings. To publish them even now, he said, might endanger national security.

John E. Peurifoy, Assistant Secretary of State, agreed with Welles' evaluation of their delicate nature.

Fed To Spy Ring

The papers are said by the committee to have been fed out of the State Department to a Communist spy ring of a decade ago. Some of them handed to Welles were marked 'strictly confidential for the Secretary of State."

Mundt said that one of the two persons sought by the committee is reported to have been a State Department employe at the time the documents were purloined, and the other employe in another government agency.

He said he doesn't know whether either of the two sought is a Communist or has been.

So far, he said, a check of committee files has turned up nothing on them.

Mundt was asked how any papers pertaining to 1937 and 1938 could endanger the nation's security if made public now.

Army Major Held In Huge Swindle

OSSIPEE, N. H., Dec. 7 (INS) — A highly-decorated Army major who mingled with royalty and Hollywood stars is being taken to Los Angeles tonight to face charges that he swindled hundreds of thousands of dollars from coast to coast.

Police described Harold J. O'Rourke, 52, arrested in a farm home near Dixfield, Me., as the "greatest bunco artist" since the fabulous Yellow Kid Weil.

The flashily-dressed O'Rourke — who once walked through Los Angeles streets with a tiger reportedly given him by an Indian potentate—told reporters:

"I guess I'm all washed up."

Los Angeles detectives who arrested him after he allegedly put over a fraudulent mortgage deal in Chatham, N. H., said he fled Los Angeles while awaiting trial on a charge of fleecing $10,000 from a wheat farmer.

O'Rourke will face charges of fraud, grand theft, conspiracy and failing to appear for trial. He was accused of 47 overt acts.

Sheriff John Leighton, who aided two Los Angeles detectives in the arrest, said O'Rourke was traced through fingerprints.

Police said O'Rourke had been decorated for service with General Chennault's Flying Tigers in China and that he was acquainted with movie stars Linda Darnell, Rita Hayworth, Clark Gable and others.

"One More Try" Request Saves 33 In Ocean Crash

HONOLULU, Dec. 7 (AP)—Thirty-three survivors of a downed air force transport plane owe their rescue to a search plane navigator who insisted on just one more look before giving up the hunt.

Exhausted by 40 hours in the water, the 33 were picked up last night from two life rafts in the tossing Pacific 1,200 miles southwest of Honolulu. Four others were lost.

Lt. Cmdr. Steve G. Kona, Hammond, Ind., pilot of a navy privateer search plane which spotted them, said he was preparing to return to base at Johnston Island when up spoke Ensign L. R. Johnson, Minneapolis.

"Johnnie said 'let's just try one more—it will only take eight minutes,'" Kona related. "Two minutes before the end of that time my plane captain sighted a green dye marker directly beneath the plane.

"We went down to take a look. They were hanging on the gunwales, half inside and half outside."

Safe aboard the Rendova, Lt. Col. William R. Calhoun, Birmingham, Ala., calmly told of waiting in the shark-infested sea for rescue. He was pilot of the C-54, which was forced down on a flight from Okinawa.

"We didn't decide to ditch," he said in a radio interview with Navy Headquarters here, "we just ran out of altitude."

One engine began throwing oil, and a second developed an oil leak. They prepared for an emergency landing 520 miles from Johnston Island. It was early Sunday morning and dark.

Calhoun said the 30 passengers and crew of seven donned life vests and fastened safety belts. When the plane hit the water the lights went out.

Only two life rafts could be saved and inflated in the darkness.

"We had some food and some water," Calhoun said. "However, not knowing how long we would be in the rafts they were rationed to last five days. We expected to be rescued within that time."

Vandenberg Says ECA Program Will Face Showdown

Declares New Congress Will Probe Usefulness

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) said today the multi-million dollar foreign recovery program is certain to face "a critical showdown" early in the new Congress.

The retiring chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee declined to predict what Congress will do about granting further aid, but he told a reporter:

"My general impression is that ECA has vividly justified its existence, but in an operation of this magnitude there are bound to be liabilities as well as assets.

"It is the duty of Congress to identify both. I think Congress owes it to itself as well as the country to make an exhaustive survey of the record."

Vandenberg, long a principal Republican supporter of a bipartisan foreign policy, will lose the Foreign Relations Committee Chairmanship to Senator Connally (D-Tex) when Democrats take control of Congress next month.

The new Congress is almost certain to receive early requests for additional billions to continue efforts of the Economic Co-operation Administration.

Paul Hoffman, ECA chief, will exhaust the $5,055,000,000 of European aid funds by early April. Hoffman already has indicated that $1,250,000,000 or more will be needed to keep ECA operating until July 1, start of a new fiscal year.

In the next fiscal year, foreign aid programs plus costs of occupation are expected to total near the $7,500,000,000 Congress voted for these purposes for the current year.

A painstaking Congressional check-up on all these matters is proper and necessary, Vandenberg said.

"When I was leading the rather difficult battle in the 80th Congress," he said, "I constantly said that the time for a critical showdown was not in 1948 before we had any actual experience on which to base judgement, but was in January, 1949, at the beginning of the second year, when we could face the feaulities and act on facts. That continues to be my point of view."

Laurel Racing Group Named In $75,000 Suit

BALTIMORE, Dec. 7 (AP) — A $75,000 suit was initiated in federal court here today against the Laurel Harness Racing Association, Inc.

The A. P. Williams Iron and Bronze Company, Inc., of New York charged it had not been paid the $10,000 balance due for building a grandstand at the new harness racing park and was owed for other work done after the stands were built.

Laurel was the only one of three authorized harness racing tracks able to get going last season after dates had been assigned by the Maryland Racing Commission.

Musician's Wife Dies In Fire

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 7—(INS)—Two persons were burned to death and a third injured critically today when fire destroyed their home in Rochester. The blaze was caused by explosion of an oil stove.

The dead were: Mrs. Alberta Stephenson, 38, wife of William Stephenson, 40, a prominent negro band leader; and Edward Woodward, 70, a roomer in the home.

The band leader was taken to a hospital in critical condition.

CITATION HEADS 32 NOMINEES FOR RACE

ARCADIA, Calif., Dec. 7 (AP) — Mighty Citation heads a field of 32 four-year-olds nominated today for the $100,000 added Santa Anita Maturity Jan. 29.

The Calumet Farms' champion will be challenged in the mile and a quarter fixture by such stalwarts as I. J. Collins' Culcan's Forge; Mrs. N. T. Goldstone's Solidarity; and Fifty-Fifty Stable's Drumbeat, who led Shannon II home in last summer's Sunset Handicap.

Maturity's inaugural running last winter was won by Flasch. The weights continue on an allowance basis of first monies won, with a limit of 126 pounds, scaled down to 112. Citation has earned all the penalties and will pack 126.

Welles Says

He replied that he was convinced the documents were of such importance it would be "highly injurious to our security and highly injurious to our diplomatic position" to publish them. He said they contained "highly strategic diplomatic stuff" that still has bearing on conditions existing in the world today and mention names, places and areas of control.

Qualifies Statement

He said he wouldn't go so far as to say they dealt with secret agreements still in effect.

Welles, testifying in his crisp accent, examined documents made from microfilms which turned up last Thursday night in a pumpkin shell on the Maryland farm of Chambers when the committee demanded of Chambers everything he had of an espionage nature.

The committee indicated the papers would not be made public. It permitted only the headings to be read openly.

One puzzler has been why Chambers hadn't yielded up the documents before. A committee aide said yesterday that Chambers is a quaker and didn't wish to hurt anyone.

In New York today, Chambers said they had been out of his hands between 1938 and 1948, but that he knew where he could get hold of them during that period. He didn't explain where this was.

Chambers said he doesn't have any more microfilms.

The committee decided suddenly today to throw its hearings open to the world.

Vandenberg Says ECA Program Will Face Showdown

Declares New Congress Will Probe Usefulness

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) said today the multi-million dollar foreign recovery program is certain to face "a critical showdown" early in the new Congress.

The retiring chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee declined to predict what Congress will do about granting further aid, but he told a reporter:

"My general impression is that ECA has vividly justified its existence, but in an operation of this magnitude there are bound to be liabilities as well as assets.

"It is the duty of Congress to identify both. I think Congress owes it to itself as well as the country to make an exhaustive survey of the record."

Vandenberg, long a principal Republican supporter of a bipartisan foreign policy, will lose the Foreign Relations Committee Chairmanship to Senator Connally (D-Tex) when Democrats take control of Congress next month.

The new Congress is almost certain to receive early requests for additional billions to continue efforts of the Economic Co-operation Administration.

Paul Hoffman, ECA chief, will exhaust the $5,055,000,000 of European aid funds by early April. Hoffman already has indicated that $1,250,000,000 or more will be needed to keep ECA operating until July 1, start of a new fiscal year.

In the next fiscal year, foreign aid programs plus costs of occupation are expected to total near the $7,500,000,000 Congress voted for these purposes for the current year.

A painstaking Congressional check-up on all these matters is proper and necessary, Vandenberg said.

"When I was leading the rather difficult battle in the 80th Congress," he said, "I constantly said that the time for a critical showdown was not in 1948 before we had any actual experience on which to base judgement, but was in January, 1949, at the beginning of the second year, when we could face the feaulities and act on facts. That continues to be my point of view."

Strike Threatens On B. & A. Railroad

BALTIMORE, Dec. 7 (AP)—The little Baltimore and Annapolis railroad, the only public transportation between the two cities and conveyor of several thousand Baltimore commuters, is threatend with a strike tieup Wednesday.

Its 65 motormen, conductors, trainmen, and bus drivers—members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen—have asked an increase of 15½ cents an hour.

[illegible] showed any signs of backing down today and the employes were scheduled to stop working at 4 a. m. Wednesday.

The Cramer-Potter and Hutter-MacDonald Circles of First Presbyterian Church will meet at the church house tomorrow at 6:30 for a covered dish dinner and Christmas meeting.

Laurel Racing Group Named In $75,000 Suit

BALTIMORE, Dec. 7 (AP) — A $75,000 suit was initiated in federal court here today against the Laurel Harness Racing Association, Inc.

The A. P. Williams Iron and Bronze Company, Inc., of New York charged it had not been paid the $10,000 balance due for building a grandstand at the new harness racing park and was owed for other work done after the stands were built.

Laurel was the only one of three authorized harness racing tracks able to get going last season after dates had been assigned by the Maryland Racing Commission.

Musician's Wife Dies In Fire

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 7—(INS)—Two persons were burned to death and a third injured critically today when fire destroyed their home in Rochester. The blaze was caused by explosion of an oil stove.

The dead were: Mrs. Alberta Stephenson, 38, wife of William Stephenson, 40, a prominent negro band leader; and Edward Woodward, 70, a roomer in the home.

The band leader was taken to a hospital in critical condition.

CITATION HEADS 32 NOMINEES FOR RACE

ARCADIA, Calif., Dec. 7 (AP) — Mighty Citation heads a field of 32 four-year-olds nominated today for the $100,000 added Santa Anita Maturity Jan. 29.

The Calumet Farms' champion will be challenged in the mile and a quarter fixture by such stalwarts as I. J. Collins' Culcan's Forge; Mrs. N. T. Goldstone's Solidarity; and Fifty-Fifty Stable's Drumbeat, who led Shannon II home in last summer's Sunset Handicap.

Maturity's inaugural running last winter was won by Flasch. The weights continue on an allowance basis of first monies won, with a limit of 126 pounds, scaled down to 112. Citation has earned all the penalties and will pack 126.

Welles Says

He replied that he was convinced the documents were of such importance it would be "highly injurious to our security and highly injurious to our diplomatic position" to publish them. He said they contained "highly strategic diplomatic stuff" that still has bearing on conditions existing in the world today and mention names, places and areas of control.

Qualifies Statement

He said he wouldn't go so far as to say they dealt with secret agreements still in effect.

Welles, testifying in his crisp accent, examined documents made from microfilms which turned up last Thursday night in a pumpkin shell on the Maryland farm of Chambers when the committee demanded of Chambers everything he had of an espionage nature.

The committee indicated the papers would not be made public. It permitted only the headings to be read openly.

One puzzler has been why Chambers hadn't yielded up the documents before. A committee aide said yesterday that Chambers is a quaker and didn't wish to hurt anyone.

In New York today, Chambers said they had been out of his hands between 1938 and 1948, but that he knew where he could get hold of them during that period. He didn't explain where this was.

Chambers said he doesn't have any more microfilms.

Traffic Continues Cumberland Problem

Probably the nation has never attacked a problem that has proved more stubborn than that of city traffic and highway accidents. Highway safety has been preached, taught and expounded for 40 years, and the result is seen in statistics showing that 40,000 persons were killed by motor car last year and 1,000,000 injured. Cumberland and Allegany county have had their share in both categories.

The fact that, mileage driven taken into consideration, fewer persons die in traffic accidents than was the case a decade ago is only moderately encouraging. Speed is usually named as the primary cause of most accidents, but speed is not diminishing. And traffic in most urban sections has become so congested it is difficult to be optimistic about the future.

The recently established traffic bureau by the Cumberland Police Department has been able to bring about some improvement in the movement of traffic in downtown sections. While there is still much to be desired, Lieut. Lilya, who is directing the traffic bureau, has been able to bring about a steadier flow of traffic in not only the heart of the business district but on nearby streets leading to the downtown areas. This has been accomplished by discontinuing parking on both sides of narrow streets and banning parking to some extent on others. While blocking of railroad crossings will continue to be a handicap to whatever practices are resorted, the restrictive measures now in force and the opening up of South Mechanic Street to two-way traffic have eased congestion to some degree. The reduced speed limit which went into effect on Greene Street a week ago should go far toward reducing accidents without causing serious traffic tieups during periods when traffic is at its peak for when automobile traffic becomes snarled accidents are to be expected. The best drivers have them under such conditions, and many persons never become good drivers.

But the crusade against traffic accidents here as elsewhere continues. President Truman will recall a President's Highway Safety Conference in 1949. The President has asked Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, general chairman of the President's Highway Safety Conference Committee, to continue providing facilities through the Public Roads Administration to further work of safety and of the conference. Whatever the decisions they will be reflected here and in all cities.

Fatalities per 100,000,000 vehicle miles of travel may be less than 8 this year, compared to 12 in 1945. In recent weeks, however, the downward trend seems to have been halted, and safety experts are not optimistic that new trends in motor car design will prove of assistance in promotion of highway safety.

Conflicting Prices, Pressures On Truman

It was a happy and self-confident President who greeted the reporters a few days ago. Mr. Truman had many reasons to feel happy and self-confident, but he will need more than ebullient spirit to harmonize the conflicting pressures inside his own Administration.

To cite only one example—the important question of prices: The President's chief economic adviser, Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, has lately been encouraged by the decline in the cost of living. On the day the President met reporters he told Mr. Truman that "food has had quite a turn down." The President, he said, "was much gratified to hear about it," since the price situation is "his very first concern."

While the President and Dr. Nourse were rejoicing over the decline in food costs, the Department of Agriculture was putting out a gloomy report to the effect that it might be "eight or ten months" before the nation's housewives can expect any sizeable cut in the family food budget.

Here is a conflict of opinion—and inevitably, in legislative pressures. Dr. Nourse and the President's Economic Advisory Committee are eager to see prices, including food prices, come down. But the Agriculture Department, with a jaundiced eye on crop surpluses, wants to keep up farm prices as, for instance, its banning of Canada potatoes from the American market so that the price of American-grown potatoes could be kept at a high price to consumers and make unnecessary the government buying spuds to remove them from market, as pointed out by Mark Sullivan in his column on this page yesterday.

The President admires Dr. Nourse, but Secretary Brannan of the Agriculture Department worked tirelessly for his election and helped swing the farmers behind the promise-laden Truman bandwagon.

The optimism of Dr. Nourse and the pessimism of Secretary Brannan look in opposite legislative directions. The time for easy promises is over. Mr. Truman will soon find out, if he has not already, that he cannot go along with Nourse and Brannan, and what they represent, at the same time.

A Lady's Privilege

In the current edition of "Who's Who in America" a short biographical sketch starts off as follows: "Post, Emily (Mrs. Price Post), author, born Baltimore Maryland., * * *

The asterisks are ours. They have been inserted in the place where the big red book ordinarily puts the person's date of birth. Mrs. Post's is conspicuously omitted from the sketch that has a deserved place because of her books on etiquette.

We have always understood that etiquette permits a lady to withhold her age if she has a mind to. Hence we were shocked to see that Mrs. Post's birthdate had become public property through the agency of a press wire service.

It seems she told the press service her age because she was assured it was for the biographical files. "Oh, an obituary," she said. "Well, if they're not going to print it until I'm dead, I don't care!" Otherwise, she said, it would be "cruel to drag it in."

But it went out on the wire anyway. The item said the date of her birth was omitted even in "Who's Who." We looked her up in the volume for 1948-49. Sure enough, no date of birth. Hm-mm-m. Idly we peer into some dusty volumes of the work.

Hello, what's this—here's her birth date big as life in the 1936-37 edition! It's in every previous volume back to 1924-25 when Mrs. Post was first included.

It seems Miss Emily changed her mind back in 1938. Well, that's a lady privilege, too—even if not strictly a matter of etiquette. How old is she? That information is in our "Who's Who" collection, once more getting dust.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Fever Without Obvious Cause

Tracking down the origin of mild fever in an individual who apparently is healthy is one of the most difficult problems in medicine. Most such persons do not feel up to par, eat poorly, and are losing weight. When examined, no abnormality can be found except that the thermometer registers a degree or two above normal—a slim clew to solve any mystery. An irregularity of this nature is far more difficult to diagnose than pneumonia, rheumatic fever, or a contagious disease. Here the temperature is higher, the patient more ill, and there are symptoms and objective signs of the disorder.

Dr. Van Dellen

Nevertheless, most physicians have learned through experience how to handle vague cases of this nature. Most fevers are due to bacterial invasion and, when the manifestations are practically nil, the infection must be deepseated, of a moderate nature, or of an unusual variety. As a result, the medico turns to the laboratory and X-ray department for help. The blood is tested for different types of organisms to determine whether malaria, tularemia, typhoid, paratyphoid, tick fever, cholera, or undulant fever is present. The cells are studied also for infectious mononucleaosis (glandular fever), leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, and pernicious anemia. The chest is filmed to see if an early tuberculous lesion exists or perhaps an old smoldering pneumonia.

Urine and stool analyses may likewise offer a hint and, if suggestive, additional X-rays of the kidneys or intestinal tract are indicated. The latter is often overlooked because it is not easy to investigate. According to Crohn and Yarnis, mild infections in the colon occasionally cause obscure fevers. The patient may fail to bring this symptom to the attention of his physician because it seems insignificant; others neglect to mention mild attacks of diarrhea and abdominal pain. In segmented colitis, for example, such symptoms are often associated with aching joints and abnormalities in the eyes. This is a baffling combination and cure rarely occurs unless the focus of infection in the digestive tract is eradicated.

Skin tests for tuberculosis and undulant fever often prove valuable in trying to locate the origin of mild fever. Cancer too is a possibility and a thorough search into all of the body openings must be made. The nose, throat, sinuses, tonsils, and teeth should be checked also.

A study such as this is done in cases where most of the major maladies causing fever are excluded. It is well known that the high-strung, emotional individual may show a rise in temperature but before this is blamed, the physician must be sure of his ground. In some persons, a slightly elevated temperature is normal, especially when a mouth thermometer is used; with the rectal device, a more accurate reading may be obtained.

If the checkup shows that the disturbance is not serious, the thermometer should be thrown away and the individual may go about his business without concern. He will do better if he considers how well rather than how ill he is.

RACING HEART

V. L. writes: Is paroxysmal tachycardia called "heart trouble?" I get a rapid pulse on and off all day.

Reply

Yes. In this disturbance, the timing mechanism is at fault in contrast to other types of heart disease in which valves or muscles are disabled.

MOUTH PEBBLES

Mrs. N. writes: My husband has two stones under his tongue. Medicines have done no good. Will he need an operation to cut them out?

Reply

Yes, but the procedure is not always difficult and should not be feared.

PAINFUL GROWTH

F. T. writes: Is it true that a persons feels a pain when growing?

Reply

Literally, growing up is a painful process because we have so much to learn. In the old days, the painful joints of rheumatic fever were sometimes referred to as "growing pains."

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

After the repairmen have finished with the White House, Mr. Truman is going to get himself some new furniture . . . a new desk, a new radio, a new couch, and a new cabinet.

There are also some plans to have an escalator instead of stairs in the White House. It was the President's idea . . . he has done enough running for a while.

It's about time they did some work on the White House. I wouldn't say the building was old, but there is a sign on one bedroom, "Al Jolson slept here." It's the Gold Room, of course.

When the repairmen started to work on the White House attic, they found some interesting objects . . . and old spinning wheel, a rocking chair, and a Republican from the Coolidge Administration who kept yelling, "Have they gone yet?"

During the remodeling President Truman has moved in with some Washington friends. Lucky he didn't have to find a place to stay before election.

Texas Misses Limelight Through Legion Commander's Forgetfulness; Army Considers American Foreign Legion In Western Europe; U. S. Departments Feud

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. — Perry Brown of Beaumont, Texas, the American Legion's new national commander, missed a chance to advertise Texas when he visited the White House with Louis Johnson, former assistant secretary of war.

As photographers marched in for news shots after the meeting, President Truman reached down in his desk and dug out his old "Missouri" Legion cap. There was an embarrassed pause while the red-faced Brown suggested that they pose without headgear.

The Legion boss had forgotten to bring along his "Texas" cap.

American Foreign Legion

The Army is toying with the idea of organizing an American Foreign Legion in Western Europe—composed of refugee Europeans equipped with American arms and taking their orders from the U. S. Army.

This was revealed by Secretary of the Army Kenneth Royall to a group of congressmen, just back from Europe. The Congressmen reported that several young men in Western Europe—particularly refugee Poles—had approached them about joining the American Army and had declared they would rather serve the United States than their own governments.

Royall countered with the idea of taking these men not into the U. S. Army proper, but into an American Foreign Legion.

The congressmen also suggested to Royall that he could improve American troop morale overseas by paying G.I.'s in dollars rather than foreign currency. The G.I.'s are getting clipped, the Congressmen said, because their pay is worth only a fraction on the black market of what they get at the official exchange rate.

Near Upset In Kansas

President Truman was told last week that his failure to speak in Kansas during the campaign cost him that state's eight electoral votes.

If you made two speeches in my state you would have carried it," declared Carl Rice, Democratic national committeeman from Kansas. "As it was, we cut the Republican majority to less than 70,000 votes, and their majority was 154,000 against Roosevelt in 1944.

"In my own home county—Wyandotte—we elected every Democrat on the ticket, from top to bottom," concluded Rice.

Truman admitted he had been fooled by the Kansas outcome.

"I didn't realize how close it would be there, but the way my schedule was arranged it was impossible for me to make any speeches in Kansas," he explained.

However, the President said he would try to make amends by doing his best to speak at the big Democratic "Washington Day" dinner in Topeka in February.

Steel Argument

A hot backstage feud is going on between the Commerce and Interior departments over steel controls.

The Commerce Department, which leans toward business, believes that voluntary controls are adequate, that the steel industry can be trusted to ration out steel where it is needed. It takes this view despite the fact that the steel industry recently refused steel to the government itself for the Oak Ridge atomic plant.

The Interior Department on the other hand argues that even mandatory controles aren't far-reaching enough, that the government must go still further and force the steel industry to expand production.

Both sides argued their case face-to-face recently before Budget Director James Webb. No decision was reached.

Insurance Probe

In addition to Congressman Gellar's demand for a probe of insurance companies, Wisconsin's Sen. McCarthy, an ex-Marine, is getting even more vigorous in his campaign against insurance companies for not giving better protection to widows and orphans of servicemen.

All insurance companies write special war-casualty exemptions into their policies regarding servicemen, but McCarthy has become especially indignant at Acacia Mutual as a result of correspondence over Mrs. Robert Fraser, widow of a Marine pilot.

When he wrote the directors of Acacia asking payment for Mrs. Fraser, he got the following replies:

Director Harry Blake, Washington, D. C., scribbled on the bottom of McCarthy's letter: "This letter does not deserve an answer. It should be thrown into a wastbasket. I have known the president of Acacia for over 50 years. Have been on the board of directors for twenty years and served on the executive committee for many years. I have nothing but contempt for a cheap politician who will stoop to using his high position in the public service in such a vindictive way as you."

Replied Homer Holt of New York City, another director: "I must say that I am both surprised and disappointed to receive from you such an inexcusable letter as that which you addressed to me on United States Senate stationery . . . and mailed to me under your franking privilege as a United States Senator."

Another director, James Colliflower of Washington, suggested that McCarthy pay for widow Fraser's lawsuit if he were so concerned about the case.

McCarthy Fires Back

Burnt up, the Senator dictated a final, abrupt letter to Acacia directors.

"While several of your members indicate their surprise that a Senator can take time off to interest himself in what they apparently feel to be an unimportant matter," wrote McCarthy, "I am sure that you... will realize that there is nothing remarkable or unusual in wanting to be of service to the families of those with whom we served. . . .

"While I knew Major Fraser well when we were both serving in the Marine Corps, his widow and children are not constituents of mine and I do not represent them professionally. I am interested in this case primarily because to me it represents a typical example of the attitude on the part of your company toward the families of deceased servicemen who were policy holders of yours."

Russian diplomats indicate that Russia will soon raise one corner of the Iron Curtain and permit travel to Russia through the Soviet bureau, "Intourist," which has been closed down for years. If so, it's almost revolutionary. Justice Speaks Before Group Steeped To Eyes With Politics

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

For the first time, a justice of the U. S. Supreme Court has made a public address on a political matter before a gathering steeped to the eyebrows with politics. In what Mr. Philip Murray said was a "speech that would be heard round the world," Justice Douglas, at the C.I.O. Convention in Portland, Oregon, urged that labor leaders be appointed to diplomatic posts abroad. His theme was that European countries are largely under labor governments and, therefore, more of our diplomats should be chosen from the ranks of American labor. He thought this would help defeat the spread of Communism.

There may be some merit in the suggestion. To a certain extent, the idea has been put into practise. In France, England, Italy and Greece, men who grew up in the ranks of labor are part of our diplomatic staffs. They are useful as the eyes and ears of our envoys in a field where Ambassadors have had little training. Similarly, the staffs include experts in business, finance and foreign trade. But Justice Douglas carries the idea farther than it has ever been carried before.

Mobilized Sentiments For Pressure

He was, in effect, mobilizing sentiment in a powerful labor union to put pressure upon the President to nominate, and upon the Senate to confirm the appointments of labor leaders to the highest diplomatic posts. Was this something a Supreme Court justice should do?

Justice Douglas is an ambitious man. In the 1944 Democratic National Convention, President Roosevelt said he would be satisfied with either Henry A. Wallace, Senator Truman or Mr. Douglas as his running mate, although in his letter which was read to the Convention, he said that if he were a delegate, "I would personally vote for Henry Wallace."

This year, as Democratic bosses were predicting Truman's defeat, many of them urged Douglas' nomination for the No. 1 spot on the ticket. The Judge put the urging aside, but whether that was final for all time remains to be seen. As Arthur Krock of The New York Times says: "If the Justice follows the plans which the Americans for Democratic Action have made for him, he will soon go into active politics as a road to the Presidency, and the support of the C.I.O. will be useful" to him.

Lessens Respect For Tribunal

The entry of Supreme Court justices into the political arena can only lessen that public respect for the great tribunal which is its greatest asset. For it "has neither purse nor sword." It is the conscience of government. It is the last defense of the citizen against the arbitrary or unconstitutional exercise of power by President, Congress, Governors, State legislatures, or military commanders. Anything that cheapens the Court, weakens the security of every citizen. "After the thunder of political debate has passed, and the earthquake of party passion has spent its force," the Supreme Court, so long as it enjoys public respect, is obeyed. Like Caesar's wife, it must guard both its character and its reputation.

Occasionally a justice of the Court may properly sit in another forum which is essentially judicial, such as an international arbitration commission. But no good was done to the Court's reputation when Justice Roberts investigated the disaster at Pearl Harbor and gave men in power what many regard as a whitewash.

The same thing can be said of the recent proposal of President Truman to send Chief Justice Vinson to Moscow over the head of Secretary of State Marshall. That Mr. Vinson was willing to accept the assignment, and so act as a member of the Executive Branch of the government, shows that the great traditions of the Court are breaking down, both within and without the tribunal.

Dewey Able To Adjust Himself To Situation Better Than Aides

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—President Truman and Governor Dewey will sit at the same head table next Saturday night at the dinner given by the Gridiron Club, an organization of newspapermen, and both will make off-the-record speeches.

Unless the speakers themselves choose later to tell the public what was said, only those present will know the thoughts expressed there.

But the occasion serves to emphasize the American tradition in which victor and vanquished can sit down together for an evening of good-natured banter over current events.

Ever since the election, Governor Dewey has maintained a remarkable silence. It is remarkable because the press has contained no intimation of alibis or excuses or disappointed feelings or frustration such as might possibly be expected to come from a man who felt he had the presidency in his grasp only to find that by a small margin of votes he lost the prize.

Adjusted Himself Rapidly

Inquiry among close friends of the New York governor reveals that he adjusted himself to the situation much more rapidly even than did his associates. Not a word of complaint came from him—not a word of blame for anyone on the unexpected turn of events. Many a man would have been floored for a long time by such a reverse. But Governor Dewey was soon cheerful and natural in his demeanor. Those around him say they could not notice that the election result has left any scars or changed his mood.

Only a deeply religious man, one friend said, could so quickly make such an adjustment. What was meant by this is the readiness of God-guided men to accept their fate whatever it is believing that the destiny of the individual is set by the creator and that it is man's duty to accept the vicissitudes of life without rancor or mental depression. There are disappointments in everybody's life, but they are easier to bear if one has conducted himself honestly and exerted his talents and energies to the utmost to attain a given goal.

It is pertinent here to ask whether Governor Dewey felt that he pursued the right type of campaign and whether in the light of what occurred he perceives the mistakes in strategy. Again close friends say that he has no regrets for having failed to slam out speeches in old-fashioned campaign fighting style, for he and his managers were convinced that the "unity" idea was too important to be abandoned if a man were to try to keep harmony in the country in the critical years that lie ahead. Being convinced that the Republican nominee would become President, it was necessary to think of what forces could unite the country on the threshold of a possible war or a possible upheaval in the entire economic structure.

It is conceded, however, among Mr. Dewey's friends that he might have made more speeches amplifying his farm program and that this might have turned the tide in the farm areas. It is not conceded that Mr. Dewey might have spoken out on the conservative-radical issues without splitting his own party wide open, thus making difficult any reconciliation or even any substantial advance on the progressive side had he been elected.

Ultra-Conservatives vs. Progressives

Those who today complain that Mr. Dewey didn't "speak out" forget that the Republican Party contains a substantial number of ultra-conservatives who still think social security and collective bargaining and government aid in various fields are just a lot of nonsense and that the country would be better off by letting nature take its course even if unemployment and distress were to follow. There are also in the Republican Party progressives who feel that the voters expect economic security and that economic controls by any group must be vigilantly observed by the government acting in the public interest.

The Republican Party is as badly split as the Democratic Party on the basic issues. Governor Dewey had the choice of starting his controversy inside the party before or after election. Ironically enough, he will have another opportunity now—and perhaps free from any such restraint as might have come if he had been President—to set forth what should or should not be Republican policy. He certainly will speak out. For whether he is titular leader or not, Mr. Dewey is a progressive Republican and he is young enough to play a vital part in the history of his country. Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, John C. Calhoun, William Jennings Bryan, Elihu Root, George Norris, Wendell Willkie—strong men of divergent philosophies—never became President but each in his time played an influential part in shaping the policies of the United States. It was Clay who said, "I would rather be right than president."

These Days

Divorce

NEW YORK is suffering the sensation of exposed conspiracy in divorce cases. A group involving lawyers, private detective and "unidentified" women for a fee, provided the evidence of adultery where no adultery actually occurred. The collusion usually involved not only the parties who sought a divorce, but the parties who did not commit adultery but gave the appearance of it. The largest share of the money went to the lawyers.

There has never been a secret about this practice. New York State law permits divorce only for proved adultery. It is cheaper to hire these conspirators than to go to Reno or some other such place. It is no more dishonorable to lie about an unconsummated adultery than to lie about a permanent residence in Reno. The lie is the perjury.

The sensational expose in New York has stirred a thousand imaginations on the subject of how to "liberalize" divorce. Some suggest a uniform Federal divorce law, passed by Congress and applicable to all states. Others propose that New York State revise its laws.

The whole point of the argument seems to be that marriage is not a sacrament but a private contract of indefinite tenure, to be terminated at will, without regard to social consequences. This is regarded as liberal. The assumption that marriage is an inviolable sacrament based upon natural law and involving social responsibilities is called medieval.

Nothing that has been said about marriage—and divorce is a phase of marriage—is different from anything said about it prior to the expose. The discovery that the "unidentified woman" got $10 for each unconsummated adultery was more shocking because of its cheapness than its occurrence. Many were undoubtedly surprised that the adultery had not been consummated and that one "unidentified woman was a pregnant mother and another 60 years old.

These incidents in no matter affected the general principles involved nor the broader fact that marriage is treated so lightly both in its origination and its termination. In fact, in none of the current discussions has the child, the family, the welfare of society been considered at all. Emphasis has been upon the right of those who no longer attract each other, principally sexually, to end their relationship at will.

Yet, society cannot function unless the individuals constituting it, assume their obligations. A nation of Tommy Manvilles and Barbara Huttons and those five or six times bespoused, could not long survive, for such persons live without producing families. If marriage is only a fruitless sex relationship, it need not occur at all. If that is all that marriage means, why bother with the ceremony, the civil permit, the social sanction? Would it not be simpler to engage in libertarian or even libertine sex relationship, following only the biologic urge as it occurs and moving apart with total forgetfulness of the occurrence? Certainly, if biology is our moral guide, that would be right and proper.

We come then to the question of why we marry at all. Some say that it is because a girl wants security which marriage gives her even by alimony. Yet, if divorce be made so easy that a marriage can be revoked by a mere assertion of discontent, why marry at all? The answer must be that marriage is the process for creating a family, and that in a family the responsibility and obligation is to the children, not only to have them, to rear them, to nurture them, to provide them with moral guidance, but to set them an example of decent living which they in turn will transmit to their progeny.

It is said that it is better for the child if the parents separate once they are incompatible. But those who accept moral responsibility, reject incompatibility as an excuse for self-indulgence. Those who love their children must control their impulses so that their children will respect them and accept the laws of God as inviolable. Self-indulgence is just as right as "mental cruelty"—or just as wrong.

We need to think this out because admittedly our marriage system has been weakened and our children are suffering from the effects of our neglect of the family as the center of society.

Baering Down On The News

The French just had another election to see who would beat Charley De Gaulle.

That lad runs for office at the drop of a hoot.

Yet he is the most popular man in all France and is good to his mother. Every time I see him in the news reels he is emerging triumphant from another debacle.

He is always walking down the street bowing right and left. As a French hero he is out-standing. As a French politician they leave him there.

Traffic Continues Cumberland Problem

Probably the nation has never attacked a problem that has proved more stubborn than that of city traffic and highway accidents. Highway safety has been preached, taught and expounded for 40 years, and the result is seen in statistics showing that 40,000 persons were killed by motor car last year and 1,000,000 injured. Cumberland and Allegany county have had their share in both categories.

The fact that, mileage driven taken into consideration, fewer persons die in traffic accidents than was the case a decade ago is only moderately encouraging. Speed is usually named as the primary cause of most accidents, but speed is not diminishing. And traffic in most urban sections has become so congested it is difficult to be optimistic about the future.

The recently established traffic bureau by the Cumberland Police Department has been able to bring about some improvement in the movement of traffic in downtown sections. While there is still much to be desired, Lieut. Lilya, who is directing the traffic bureau, has been able to bring about a steadier flow of traffic in not only the heart of the business district but on nearby streets leading to the downtown areas. This has been accomplished by discontinuing parking on both sides of narrow streets and banning parking to some extent on others. While blocking of railroad crossings will continue to be a handicap to whatever practices are resorted, the restrictive measures now in force and the opening up of South Mechanic Street to two-way traffic have eased congestion to some degree. The reduced speed limit which went into effect on Greene Street a week ago should go far toward reducing accidents without causing serious traffic tieups during periods when traffic is at its peak for when automobile traffic becomes snarled accidents are to be expected. The best drivers have them under such conditions, and many persons never become good drivers.

But the crusade against traffic accidents here as elsewhere continues. President Truman will recall a President's Highway Safety Conference in 1949. The President has asked Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, general chairman of the President's Highway Safety Conference Committee, to continue providing facilities through the Public Roads Administration to further work of safety and of the conference. Whatever the decisions they will be reflected here and in all cities.

Fatalities per 100,000,000 vehicle miles of travel may be less than 8 this year, compared to 12 in 1945. In recent weeks, however, the downward trend seems to have been halted, and safety experts are not optimistic that new trends in motor car design will prove of assistance in promotion of highway safety.

Conflicting Prices, Pressures On Truman

It was a happy and self-confident President who greeted the reporters a few days ago. Mr. Truman had many reasons to feel happy and self-confident, but he will need more than ebullient spirit to harmonize the conflicting pressures inside his own Administration.

To cite only one example—the important question of prices: The President's chief economic adviser, Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, has lately been encouraged by the decline in the cost of living. On the day the President met reporters he told Mr. Truman that "food has had quite a turn down." The President, he said, "was much gratified to hear about it," since the price situation is "his very first concern."

While the President and Dr. Nourse were rejoicing over the decline in food costs, the Department of Agriculture was putting out a gloomy report to the effect that it might be "eight or ten months" before the nation's housewives can expect any sizeable cut in the family food budget.

Here is a conflict of opinion—and inevitably, in legislative pressures. Dr. Nourse and the President's Economic Advisory Committee are eager to see prices, including food prices, come down. But the Agriculture Department, with a jaundiced eye on crop surpluses, wants to keep up farm prices as, for instance, its banning of Canada potatoes from the American market so that the price of American-grown potatoes could be kept at a high price to consumers and make unnecessary the government buying spuds to remove them from market, as pointed out by Mark Sullivan in his column on this page yesterday.

The President admires Dr. Nourse, but Secretary Brannan of the Agriculture Department worked tirelessly for his election and helped swing the farmers behind the promise-laden Truman bandwagon.

The optimism of Dr. Nourse and the pessimism of Secretary Brannan look in opposite legislative directions. The time for easy promises is over. Mr. Truman will soon find out, if he has not already, that he cannot go along with Nourse and Brannan, and what they represent, at the same time.

A Lady's Privilege

In the current edition of "Who's Who in America" a short biographical sketch starts off as follows: "Post, Emily (Mrs. Price Post), author, born Baltimore Maryland., * * *

The asterisks are ours. They have been inserted in the place where the big red book ordinarily puts the person's date of birth. Mrs. Post's is conspicuously omitted from the sketch that has a deserved place because of her books on etiquette.

We have always understood that etiquette permits a lady to withhold her age if she has a mind to. Hence we were shocked to see that Mrs. Post's birthdate had become public property through the agency of a press wire service.

It seems she told the press service her age because she was assured it was for the biographical files. "Oh, an obituary," she said. "Well, if they're not going to print it until I'm dead, I don't care!" Otherwise, she said, it would be "cruel to drag it in."

But it went out on the wire anyway. The item said the date of her birth was omitted even in "Who's Who." We looked her up in the volume for 1948-49. Sure enough, no date of birth. Hm-mm-m. Idly we peer into some dusty volumes of the work.

Hello, what's this—here's her birth date big as life in the 1936-37 edition! It's in every previous volume back to 1924-25 when Mrs. Post was first included.

It seems Miss Emily changed her mind back in 1938. Well, that's a lady privilege, too—even if not strictly a matter of etiquette. How old is she? That information is in our "Who's Who" collection, once more getting dust.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Fever Without Obvious Cause

Tracking down the origin of mild fever in an individual who apparently is healthy is one of the most difficult problems in medicine. Most such persons do not feel up to par, eat poorly, and are losing weight. When examined, no abnormality can be found except that the thermometer registers a degree or two above normal—a slim clew to solve any mystery. An irregularity of this nature is far more difficult to diagnose than pneumonia, rheumatic fever, or a contagious disease. Here the temperature is higher, the patient more ill, and there are symptoms and objective signs of the disorder.

Dr. Van Dellen

Nevertheless, most physicians have learned through experience how to handle vague cases of this nature. Most fevers are due to bacterial invasion and, when the manifestations are practically nil, the infection must be deepseated, of a moderate nature, or of an unusual variety. As a result, the medico turns to the laboratory and X-ray department for help. The blood is tested for different types of organisms to determine whether malaria, tularemia, typhoid, paratyphoid, tick fever, cholera, or undulant fever is present. The cells are studied also for infectious mononucleaosis (glandular fever), leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, and pernicious anemia. The chest is filmed to see if an early tuberculous lesion exists or perhaps an old smoldering pneumonia.

•—•—•

Urine and stool analyses may likewise offer a hint and, if suggestive, additional X-rays of the kidneys or intestinal tract are indicated. The latter is often overlooked because it is not easy to investigate. According to Crohn and Yarnis, mild infections in the colon occasionally cause obscure fevers. The patient may fail to bring this symptom to the attention of his physician because it seems insignificant; others neglect to mention mild attacks of diarrhea and abdominal pain. In segmented colitis, for example, such symptoms are often associated with aching joints and abnormalities in the eyes. This is a baffling combination and cure rarely occurs unless the focus of infection in the digestive tract is eradicated.

Skin tests for tuberculosis and undulant fever often prove valuable in trying to locate the origin of mild fever. Cancer too is a possibility and a thorough search into all of the body openings must be made. The nose, throat, sinuses, tonsils, and teeth should be checked also.

A study such as this is done in cases where most of the major maladies causing fever are excluded. It is well known that the high-strung, emotional individual may show a rise in temperature but before this is blamed, the physician must be sure of his ground. In some persons, a slightly elevated temperature is normal, especially when a mouth thermometer is used; with the rectal device, a more accurate reading may be obtained.

If the checkup shows that the disturbance is not serious, the thermometer should be thrown away and the individual may go about his business without concern. He will do better if he considers how well rather than how ill he is.

RACING HEART

V. L. writes: Is paroxysmal tachycardia called "heart trouble?" I get a rapid pulse on and off all day.

Reply

Yes. In this disturbance, the timing mechanism is at fault in contrast to other types of heart disease in which valves or muscles are disabled.

MOUTH PEBBLES

Mrs. N. writes: My husband has two stones under his tongue. Medicines have done no good. Will he need an operation to cut them out?

Reply

Yes, but the procedure is not always difficult and should not be feared.

PAINFUL GROWTH

F. T. writes: Is it true that a persons feels a pain when growing?

Reply

Literally, growing up is a painful process because we have so much to learn. In the old days, the painful joints of rheumatic fever were sometimes referred to as "growing pains."

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

After the repairmen have finished with the White House, Mr. Truman is going to get himself some new furniture . . . a new desk, a new radio, a new couch, and a new cabinet.

There are also some plans to have an escalator instead of stairs in the White House. It was the President's idea . . . he has done enough running for a while.

It's about time they did some work on the White House. I wouldn't say the building was old, but there is a sign on one bedroom, "Al Jolson slept here." It's the Gold Room, of course.

When the repairmen started to work on the White House attic, they found some interesting objects . . . and old spinning wheel, a rocking chair, and a Republican from the Coolidge Administration who kept yelling, "Have they gone yet?"

During the remodeling President Truman has moved in with some Washington friends. Lucky he didn't have to find a place to stay before election.

Texas Misses Limelight Through Legion Commander's Forgetfulness; Army Considers American Foreign Legion In Western Europe; U. S. Departments Feud

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. — Perry Brown of Beaumont, Texas, the American Legion's new national commander, missed a chance to advertise Texas when he visited the White House with Louis Johnson, former assistant secretary of war.

As photographers marched in for news shots after the meeting, President Truman reached down in his desk and dug out his old "Missouri" Legion cap. There was an embarrassed pause while the red-faced Brown suggested that they pose without headgear.

The Legion boss had forgotten to bring along his "Texas" cap.

American Foreign Legion

The Army is toying with the idea of organizing an American Foreign Legion in Western Europe—composed of refugee Europeans equipped with American arms and taking their orders from the U. S. Army.

This was revealed by Secretary of the Army Kenneth Royall to a group of congressmen, just back from Europe. The Congressmen reported that several young men in Western Europe—particularly refugee Poles—had approached them about joining the American Army and had declared they would rather serve the United States than their own governments.

Royall countered with the idea of taking these men not into the U. S. Army proper, but into an American Foreign Legion.

The congressmen also suggested to Royall that he could improve American troop morale overseas by paying G.I.'s in dollars rather than foreign currency. The G.I.'s are getting clipped, the Congressmen said, because their pay is worth only a fraction on the black market of what they get at the official exchange rate.

Near Upset In Kansas

President Truman was told last week that his failure to speak in Kansas during the campaign cost him that state's eight electoral votes.

If you made two speeches in my state you would have carried it," declared Carl Rice, Democratic national committeeman from Kansas. "As it was, we cut the Republican majority to less than 70,000 votes, and their majority was 154,000 against Roosevelt in 1944.

"In my own home county—Wyandotte—we elected every Democrat on the ticket, from top to bottom," concluded Rice.

Truman admitted he had been fooled by the Kansas outcome.

"I didn't realize how close it would be there, but the way my schedule was arranged it was impossible for me to make any speeches in Kansas," he explained.

However, the President said he would try to make amends by doing his best to speak at the big Democratic "Washington Day" dinner in Topeka in February.

Steel Argument

A hot backstage feud is going on between the Commerce and Interior departments over steel controls.

The Commerce Department, which leans toward business, believes that voluntary controls are adequate, that the steel industry can be trusted to ration out steel where it is needed. It takes this view despite the fact that the steel industry recently refused steel to the government itself for the Oak Ridge atomic plant.

The Interior Department on the other hand argues that even mandatory controles aren't far-reaching enough, that the government must go still further and force the steel industry to expand production.

Both sides argued their case face-to-face recently before Budget Director James Webb. No decision was reached.

Insurance Probe

In addition to Congressman Gellar's demand for a probe of insurance companies, Wisconsin's Sen. McCarthy, an ex-Marine, is getting even more vigorous in his campaign against insurance companies for not giving better protection to widows and orphans of servicemen.

All insurance companies write special war-casualty exemptions into their policies regarding servicemen, but McCarthy has become especially indignant at Acacia Mutual as a result of correspondence over Mrs. Robert Fraser, widow of a Marine pilot.

When he wrote the directors of Acacia asking payment for Mrs. Fraser, he got the following replies:

Director Harry Blake, Washington, D. C., scribbled on the bottom of McCarthy's letter: "This letter does not deserve an answer. It should be thrown into a wastbasket. I have known the president of Acacia for over 50 years. Have been on the board of directors for twenty years and served on the executive committee for many years. I have nothing but contempt for a cheap politician who will stoop to using his high position in the public service in such a vindictive way as you."

Replied Homer Holt of New York City, another director: "I must say that I am both surprised and disappointed to receive from you such an inexcusable letter as that which you addressed to me on United States Senate stationery . . . and mailed to me under your franking privilege as a United States Senator."

Another director, James Colliflower of Washington, suggested that McCarthy pay for widow Fraser's lawsuit if he were so concerned about the case.

McCarthy Fires Back

Burnt up, the Senator dictated a final, abrupt letter to Acacia directors.

"While several of your members indicate their surprise that a Senator can take time off to interest himself in what they apparently feel to be an unimportant matter," wrote McCarthy, "I am sure that you . . . will realize that there is nothing remarkable or unusual in wanting to be of service to the families of those with whom we served. . . .

"While I knew Major Fraser well when we were both serving in the Marine Corps, his widow and children are not constituents of mine and I do not represent them professionally. I am interested in this case primarily because to me it represents a typical example of the attitude on the part of your company toward the families of deceased servicemen who were policy holders of yours."

Justice Speaks Before Group Steeped To Eyes With Politics

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

For the first time, a justice of the U. S. Supreme Court has made a public address on a political matter before a gathering steeped to the eyebrows with politics. In what Mr. Philip Murray said was a "speech that would be heard round the world," Justice Douglas, at the C.I.O. Convention in Portland, Oregon, urged that labor leaders be appointed to diplomatic posts abroad. His theme was that European countries are largely under labor governments and, therefore, more of our diplomats should be chosen from the ranks of American labor. He thought this would help defeat the spread of Communism.

There may be some merit in the suggestion. To a certain extent, the idea has been put into practise. In France, England, Italy and Greece, men who grew up in the ranks of labor are part of our diplomatic staffs. They are useful as the eyes and ears of our envoys in a field where Ambassadors have had little training. Similarly, the staffs include experts in business, finance and foreign trade. But Justice Douglas carries the idea farther than it has ever been carried before.

Mobilized Sentiments For Pressure

He was, in effect, mobilizing sentiment in a powerful labor union to put pressure upon the President to nominate, and upon the Senate to confirm the appointments of labor leaders to the highest diplomatic posts. Was this something a Supreme Court justice should do?

Justice Douglas is an ambitious man. In the 1944 Democratic National Convention, President Roosevelt said he would be satisfied with either Henry A. Wallace, Senator Truman or Mr. Douglas as his running mate, although in his letter which was read to the Convention, he said that if he were a delegate, "I would personally vote for Henry Wallace."

This year, as Democratic bosses were predicting Truman's defeat, many of them urged Douglas' nomination for the No. 1 spot on the ticket. The Judge put the urging aside, but whether that was final for all time remains to be seen. As Arthur Krock of The New York Times says: "If the Justice follows the plans which the Americans for Democratic Action have made for him, he will soon go into active politics as a road to the Presidency, and the support of the C.I.O. will be useful" to him.

Lessens Respect For Tribunal

The entry of Supreme Court justices into the political arena can only lessen that public respect for the great tribunal which is its greatest asset. For it "has neither purse nor sword." It is the conscience of government. It is the last defense of the citizen against the arbitrary or unconstitutional exercise of power by President, Congress, Governors, State legislatures, or military commanders. Anything that cheapens the Court, weakens the security of every citizen. "After the thunder of political debate has passed, and the earthquake of party passion has spent its force," the Supreme Court, so long as it enjoys public respect, is obeyed. Like Caesar's wife, it must guard both its character and its reputation.

Occasionally, a justice of the Court may properly sit in another forum which is essentially judicial, such as an international arbitration commission. But no good was done to the Court's reputation when Justice Roberts investigated the disaster at Pearl Harbor and gave men in power what many regard as a whitewash.

The same thing can be said of the recent proposal of President Truman to send Chief Justice Vinson to Moscow over the head of Secretary of State Marshall. That Mr. Vinson was willing to accept the assignment, and so act as a member of the Executive Branch of the government, shows that the great traditions of the Court are breaking down, both within and without the tribunal.

Dewey Able To Adjust Himself To Situation Better Than Aides

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—President Truman and Governor Dewey will sit at the same head table next Saturday night at the dinner given by the Gridiron Club, an organization of newspapermen, and both will make off-the-record speeches.

Unless the speakers themselves choose later to tell the public what was said, only those present will know the thoughts expressed there.

But the occasion serves to emphasize the American tradition in which victor and vanquished can sit down together for an evening of good-natured banter over current events.

Ever since the election, Governor Dewey has maintained a remarkable silence. It is remarkable because the press has contained no intimation of alibis or excuses or disappointed feelings or frustration such as might possibly be expected to come from a man who felt he had the presidency in his grasp only to find that by a small margin of votes he lost the prize.

Adjusted Himself Rapidly

Inquiry among close friends of the New York governor reveals that he adjusted himself to the situation much more rapidly even than did his associates. Not a word of complaint came from him—not a word of blame for anyone on the unexpected turn of events. Many a man would have been floored for a long time by such a reverse. But Governor Dewey was soon cheerful and natural in his demeanor. Those around him say they could not notice that the election result has left any scars or changed his mood.

Only a deeply religious man, one friend said, could so quickly make such an adjustment. What was meant by this is the readiness of God-guided men to accept their fate whatever it is believing that the destiny of the individual is set by the creator and that it is man's duty to accept the vicissitudes of life without rancor or mental depression. There are disappointments in everybody's life, but they are easier to bear if one has conducted himself honestly and exerted his talents and energies to the utmost to attain a given goal.

It is pertinent here to ask whether Governor Dewey felt that he pursued the right type of campaign and whether in the light of what occurred he perceives the mistakes in strategy. Again close friends say that he has no regrets for having failed to slam out speeches in old-fashioned campaign fighting style, for he and his managers were convinced that the "unity" idea was too important to be abandoned if a man were to try to keep harmony in the country in the critical years that lie ahead. Being convinced that the Republican nominee would become President, it was necessary to think of what forces could unite the country on the threshold of a possible war or a possible upheaval in the entire economic structure.

It is conceded, however, among Mr. Dewey's friends that he might have made more speeches amplifying his farm program and that this might have turned the tide in the farm areas. It is not conceded that Mr. Dewey might have spoken out on the conservative-radical issues without splitting his own party wide open, thus making difficult any reconciliation or even any substantial advance on the progressive side had he been elected.

Ultra-Conservatives vs. Progressives

Those who today complain that Mr. Dewey didn't "speak out" forget that the Republican Party contains a substantial number of ultra-conservatives who still think social security and collective bargaining and government aid in various fields are just a lot of nonsense and that the country would be better off by letting nature take its course even if unemployment and distress were to follow. There are also in the Republican Party progressives who feel that the voters expect economic security and that economic controls by any group must be vigilantly observed by the government acting in the public interest.

The Republican Party is as badly split as the Democratic Party on the basic issues. Governor Dewey had the choice of starting his controversy inside the party before or after election. Ironically enough, he will have another opportunity now—and perhaps free from any such restraint as might have come if he had been President—to set forth what should or should not be Republican policy. He certainly will speak out. For whether he is titular leader or not, Mr. Dewey is a progressive Republican and he is young enough to play a vital part in the history of his country. Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, John C. Calhoun, William Jennings Bryan, Elihu Root, George Norris, Wendell Willkie—strong men of divergent philosophies—never became President but each in his time played an influential part in shaping the policies of the United States. It was Clay who said, "I would rather be right than president."

These Days

Divorce

NEW YORK is suffering the sensation of exposed conspiracy in divorce cases. A group involving lawyers, private detective and "unidentified" women for a fee, provided the evidence of adultery where no adultery actually occurred. The collusion usually involved not only the parties who sought a divorce, but the parties who did not commit adultery but gave the appearance of it. The largest share of the money went to the lawyers.

There has never been a secret about this practice. New York State law permits divorce only for proved adultery. It is cheaper to hire these conspirators than to go to Reno or some other such place. It is no more dishonorable to lie about an unconsummated adultery than to lie about a permanent residence in Reno. The lie is the perjury.

The sensational expose in New York has stirred a thousand imaginations on the subject of how to "liberalize" divorce. Some suggest a uniform Federal divorce law, passed by Congress and applicable to all states. Others propose that New York State revise its laws.

The whole point of the argument seems to be that marriage is not a sacrament but a private contract of indefinite tenure, to be terminated at will, without regard to social consequences. This is regarded as liberal. The assumption that marriage is an inviolable sacrament based upon natural law and involving social responsibilities is called medieval.

Nothing that has been said about marriage—and divorce is a phase of marriage—is different from anything said about it prior to the expose. The discovery that the "unidentified woman" got $10 for each unconsummated adultery was more shocking because of its cheapness than its occurrence. Many were undoubtedly surprised that the adultery had not been consummated and that one "unidentified woman was a pregnant mother and another 60 years old.

These incidents in no matter affected the general principles involved nor the broader fact that marriage is treated so lightly both in its origination and its termination. In fact, in none of the current discussions has the child, the family, the welfare of society been considered at all. Emphasis has been upon the right of those who no longer attract each other, principally sexually, to end their relationship at will.

Yet, society cannot function unless the individuals constituting it, assume their obligations. A nation of Tommy Manvilles and Barbara Huttons and those five or six times bespoused, could not long survive, for such persons live without producing families. If marriage is only a fruitless sex relationship, it need not occur at all. If that is all that marriage means, why bother with the ceremony, the civil permit, the social sanction? Would it not be simpler to engage in libertarian or even libertine sex relationship, following only the biologic urge as it occurs and moving apart with total forgetfulness of the occurrence? Certainly, if biology is our moral guide, that would be right and proper.

We come then to the question of why we marry at all. Some say that it is because a girl wants security which marriage gives her even by alimony. Yet, if divorce be made so easy that a marriage can be revoked by a mere assertion of discontent, why marry at all? The answer must be that marriage is the process for creating a family, and that in a family the responsibility and obligation is to the children, not only to have them, to rear them, to nurture them, to provide them with moral guidance, but to set them an example of decent living which they in turn will transmit to their progeny.

It is said that it is better for the child if the parents separate once they are incompatible. But those who accept moral responsibility, reject incompatibility as an excuse for self-indulgence. Those who love their children must control their impulses so that their children will respect them and accept the laws of God as inviolable. Self-indulgence is just as right as "mental cruelty"—or just as wrong.

We need to think this out because admittedly our marriage system has been weakened and our children are suffering from the effects of our neglect of the family as the center of society.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

The French just had another election to see who would beat Charley De Gaulle.

That lad runs for office at the drop of a hoot.

Yet he is the most popular man in all France and is good to his mother. Every time I see him in the news reels he is emerging triumphant from another debacle.

He is always walking down the street bowing right and left. As a French hero he is out-standing. As a French politician they leave him there.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

The other midnight at Lindy's I got into a remember-when session with Will Morrissey, the happy-go-unlucky showman who helped me put on the Exposition in Fort Worth back in 1936. Around the third cup of coffee, I happened to mention a tribe of Indians we used for atmosphere in this county-sized carnival and, when I did, a wait-till-you-hear look came into Morrissey's Kerry-blue eyes.

Billy Rose

"Big Chief White River was in to see me a few months ago," he said.

"Come again?"

"White River," repeated Will. "You ought to remember him—as a press stunt, he once made you an honorary member of his tribe and dubbed you 'Little Red Flower.'"

"I've got him now," I said, "but before you start on this tall tale, will you take the stand and swear to tell nothing but the truth?"

Morrissey turned on the grin that's charmed hundreds of thousands out of play-backers. "Have you ever known me to fabricate a yarn?" he asked.

"Only the American Woolen Company has a better record," I said. "Now, what's with White River?"

"Well, I hardly recognized the Chief when he walked into my office," Will began. "In sixty-buck blue serge and a high-and- round haircut, he was as picturesque as a floorwalker at Macy's, and when I asked what he was doing so far from the deer and antelope he told me he was in New York looking for notions to improve living conditions on his reservation.

"According to the Chief, a big mining outfit had located copper on their lands, and currently most the braves had union cards and were working in the mines for fancy pay. The tribe had elected him Mayor, he was anxious to raise their standard of living, and for openers, he wanted to introduce a healthier diet, something besides the corn meal, corn bread and corn on the cob."

"I assume you solved White River's problem," I said.

"As a matter of fact, I did get a notion," said Morrissey. "I suggested to the Chief that he pick out six of the most likely gals in his tribe and send them to one of the better cooking schools in New York."

"I get it," I said. "A Morrissey version of 'Home On The Range.'"

"Open discussion will be held after the lecture," said the showman. "To continue, the Chief and I looked under 'Cooking Schools' in the Classified Director and settled on the Ecole Culiniere, run by a Madame Coiselle in the East '60's."

"Interesting story," I heckled, "but it needs a little action."

"The action came a couple of months later," said Morrissey, "when a fattish female walked into my office and hit me over the head with an umbrella. When I calmed her down, she told me she was Madame Voiselle and blamed me for disrupting her school, not to mention her life. The six young squaws, it appears, had arrived in New York on schedule, but instead of buckling down and learning about pots and pans, all they cared about were dates and daiquiris. They had flirted, made hitchy-koo with the male students and, to hear the Madame tell it, she had finally given them diplomas to get rid of them."

"The lady had a legitimate beef," I said, "although it hardly rated an umbrella over the head."

"There's more to the story," said Will. "When White River learned that his squaws couldn't even hard-boil an egg, he recalled an old Apache saying—'if you like the dish, marry the cook.' So he hopped a plane to New York, and invited the Madame to share his marble teepee in Arizona."

"What was the old gal so mad about?" I asked. "As I remember the Chief, he wasn't a bad-looking fellow."

"When I asked the pot-roast pedagogue the same question," said Morrissey, "she informed me that she already had a husband in reasonably good condition, and wasn't interested in bigamy."

"Did she tell you how the Chief took this news?"

"She did," said Will, "and it explains the rain-catcher over the noggin. When the wily redskin learned she was married, he called on Monsieur Voiselle and offered to swap him the six Indian squaws for his wife.

"And what made the Madame so sore was that her husband immediately accepted the proposition . . ."

"Look me in the eye," I said to Morrissey, "and take an oath you didn't dig the whole story up out in deep left field."

"I swear it on Baron Munchhausen's grave," smiled the showman as he up-ended the sugar bowl into his fourth cup of coffee.

Rose Marie Grabenstein Is Bride Of E. T. Smoot

Rev. Father Alban Performs Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard E. Grabenstein, Bowling Green, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Rose Marie Grabenstein, to Edwin Taylor Smoot, 523 Broadway Circle, son of Mrs. Grace Smoot, 222 Columbia Street.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized December 4 in SS. Peter and Paul Church monastery, with Rev. Father Alban, O.F.M. Cap., officiating. Mr. and Mrs. John Kerns, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, were the matron of honor and best man.

The bride was attired in a brown dress trimmed with aqua beads, with which she wore a darker shade of brown accessories. A corsage of orchids completed her costume. Her matron of honor wore a gray suit with black accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds.

Mrs. Grabenstein chose a navy blue costume for her daughter's wedding. With it she wore a corsage of red rosebuds. Mrs. Smoot wore a gray costume with yellow rosebud corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany High School and is a member of the Allegany County Junior Extension Club. She is employed on the staff of the Celanese Corporation of America.

The bridegroom attended Fort Hill High School, served in the Army during World War II, and is a veteran of several years duty in the ETO. He also is employed on the staff of the Celanese.

Mr. and Mrs. Grabenstein entertained with a wedding reception honoring their daughter and her bridal party at the LaVale Fire Hall following the ceremony. Bouquets of white flowers and a tiered wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom carried out the bridal motif. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. George Miller, Miss Betty Harper and Miss Edna Hounshell.

Mr. Smoot and his bride left for a wedding trip to eastern cities. For traveling the bride chose a black costume, with which she wore her corsage of orchids.

Upon their return they will reside in their apartment on Columbia Street, and will be at home to their friends after December 15.

Mrs. Franklin W. Kremer was named Recreation chairman replacing Mrs. Charles D. Callis. Mrs. W. C. Barnes, vice president, and Mrs. Callis, secretary, were introduced. lternate In Deciding Date Plans

(Q) "Dear Nancy: Although ordinarily the boy I date and I never get along well, we never fail to have an argument when it comes to deciding what to do on a date. Even though we really like each other, we don't have many interests in common. He doesn't like the "mob dates," when all the crowd goes out together, and I do so we can never agree where to go. To keep peace, I usually give in and go where he wants to, but I'm getting tired of it. What could you suggest I do about this?"

Nancy Mottram

(A) Unless you can get together and compromise to work out a system of choosing what one wants to do one Saturday and letting the other manage the date the next, you'd better part and find someone who shares your interests. Disagreeing every week won't help your romance, and it's just a question of time. Try to plan something you'll both like in advance, but if it isn't successful, it might be better to start dating boys who won't present this kind of problem.

• — • — •

(Q) "Dear Nancy: At the end of the summer, the girl I was going with broke up with me for another fellow. So instead of sitting around and thinking about it, I began taking out one of her friends. Well, she's broken up with him now, and my girl has begun to think that I still care for her friend, when I honestly have no more interest in her. Things have gotten to the point where the one I'm dating is ready to tell me everything's off, just because of her suspicions. It isn't true but how can I convince her of that?"

(A) If words won't do any good, ask her to look at the facts. If you were still carrying a torch for her friend, by this time, you would have said "so long" and tried to win your ex-date back. You're dating her because you like to—you certainly don't have to. Tell her once and ask her to judge for herself. Your actions ought to be proof of the state of your feelings.

• — • — •

(Q) "Dear Nancy: My birthday and that of one of my friends are the same date. We've been talking about having parties, but since she wants to invite some friends of hers that I don't know and I'm planning to ask some fellows and girls who are strangers to her, we don't know how to work it. If we have separate affairs the same night, our mutual buddies won't know which one to go to, and it's causing a lot of worry all the way around. So, we decided to write to you and see if you could give us some kind of solution."

(A) It would make things a lot less complicated if you'd agree to have a joint party. And as for the people who'll be new to you or her, invite all of them. It's a fine way to become acquainted, but to avoid embarrassment, you'd better have it understood that both groups of friends aren't to bring presents to the party. Otherwise, it might cause some confusion to the people who don't know one of the hostesses. If you think it would be a good idea, you might start the evening at your house and then go to hers later on in the evening. That way, each of you would have a definite share of the party, everyone will get to know each other, and you both might gain several new friends as a result.

If you have a problem at school or at home, write Miss Mottram for her help.

It's a fine way to become acquainted, but to avoid embarrassment, you'd better have it understood that both groups of friends aren't to bring presents to the party. Otherwise, it might cause some confusion to the people who don't know one of the hostesses. If you think it would be a good idea, you might start the evening at your house and then go to hers later on in the evening. That way, each of you would have a definite share of the party, everyone will get to know each other, and you both might gain several new friends as a result.

If you have a problem at school or at home, write Miss Mottram for her help.

St. Mary's Gets School Bus

Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor announced yesterday that the new 36-passenger school bus, given to St. Mary's Parochial School by the St. Mary's Charity Show Committee, will be in operation within two weeks.

Presentation of the bus to Rev. Landrigan was made Sunday by the committee.

The bus will travel a total of 50 to 70 miles daily in picking up children who live in outlying sections to transport them to classes.

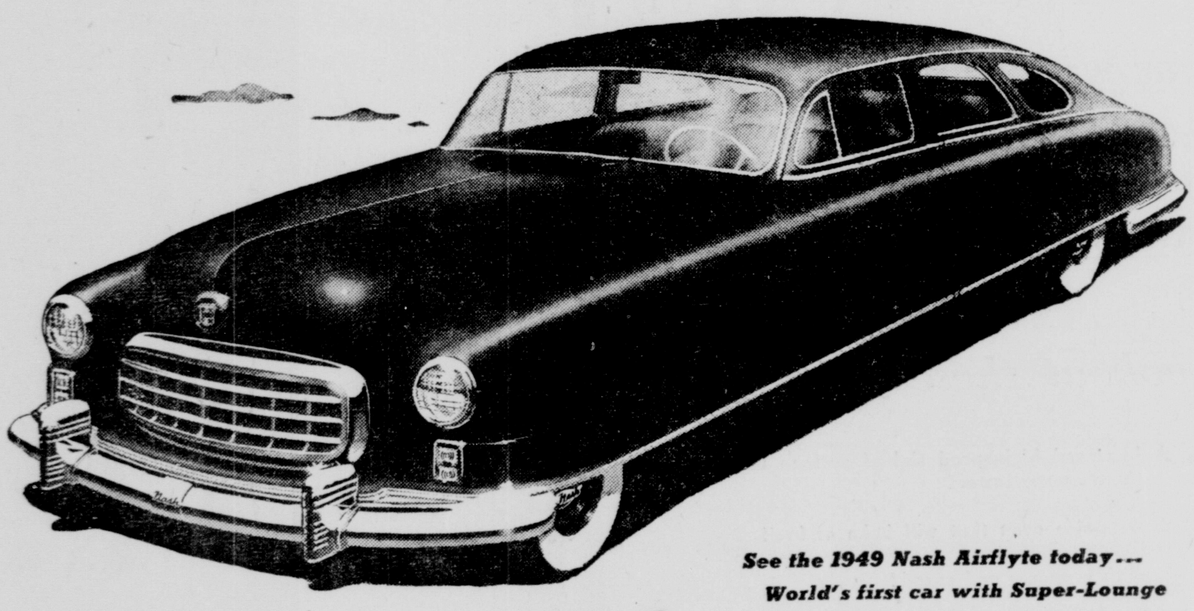

The committee mapped plans several years ago to purchase a school bus and through various benefit performances and events raised the necessary funds.

Ordinarily this would have not been necessary because of an act of the Maryland General Assembly the Allegany County Board of Commissioners were given discretionary power to provide for the transportation of parochial school children where needed, according to Rev. Landrigan. This discretionary power has never been used favorably in the matter of hauling parochial school students, he added.

The committee was praised by Father Landrigan for its work during the bus fund drive and later for providing money for excavating the school yard. The group is now considering the erection of a wire fence around the school property to safeguard buildings and grounds from trespassers. Windows have been broken not only in the school but in the church, Rev. Landrigan said.

Polish Reds Hit Unions

WARSAW—(AP)—Communists are demanding that the powerful Polish Trade Unions do more to spread Marxist propaganda among the nation's workers.

President Boleslaw Bierut, who also is secretary-general of the Communist Workers party, told trade unionsis here that "the party is worried about the insufficient role of the trade unions in the life and struggle of the working class."

The Communist organ "Glos Ludu" accused the unions of failing to properly push "work competitions" in all branches of industry, of negligence in promoting the workers-peasants alliance, and in the improvement of housing conditions, social insurances and medical care for workers.

SCHOOL CONDITIONS—Under attack in Keyser Elementary School by champions of "more sanitary conditions" for the student children is the boys' toilet (pictured above) where cases of food can be seen in the center of the photograph. School officials said the boxed food was placed there pending destruction. In the far left are new toilet fixtures which have been ready for installation for several months.

When steel sheets were hand drawn by men who used long tongs to grab the red hot metal, they chewed their handkerchiefs to save the linings of their mouths from blistering. The very best workmen could then produce but one ton an hour at the most. The continuous rolling mill of today averages 150 tons an hour.

Moose Lodge Burglary Still Being Probed

County authorities and Frostburg City Police are still investigating a burglary at the home of Frostburg Lodge No. 348, Loyal Order of Moose, West Main Street.

Pending completion of the investigation no statement was made by Moose officials regarding the amount of money and articles taken.

Entrance was gained by forcing a door in the rear of the building leading to the basement. A second door, on the first floor was opened, to give access to the second floor where a panel was knocked out of the entrance to the lounge. The same method was used to enter the bar room.

The robbery was discovered by Fred Thomas, a bartender, when he reported for work yesterday. A card, left by the night detective service, showed everything intact at 2 a. m.

The lodge occupies the second and third floors of what was formerly the Stewart building. It was purchased by the lodge two years ago.

The term "skyscraper" was originally applied to a skysail of triangular form.

As late as 1877, the use of steel in bridge-building was prohibited in England.

Moose Lodge Burglary Still Being Probed

County authorities and Frostburg City Police are still investigating a burglary at the home of Frostburg Lodge No. 348, Loyal Order of Moose, West Main Street.

Pending completion of the investigation no statement was made by Moose officials regarding the amount of money and articles taken.

Entrance was gained by forcing a door in the rear of the building leading to the basement. A second door, on the first floor was opened, to give access to the second floor where a panel was knocked out of the entrance to the lounge. The same method was used to enter the bar room.

The robbery was discovered by Fred Thomas, a bartender, when he reported for work yesterday. A card, left by the night detective service, showed everything intact at 2 a. m.

The lodge occupies the second and third floors of what was formerly the Stewart building. It was purchased by the lodge two years ago.

The term "skyscraper" was originally applied to a skysail of triangular form.

Shooting At Cobb's .367

There is a certain mark in baseball, and there are only two ballplayers now hanging around who have even a faint wisp of a chance to equal or beat it. The mark is Ty Cobb's lifetime batting average of .367. Here is one of the greatest records that sport has ever known.

Ty Cobb

The .367 is high enough. But when you figure this represents 24 years of play against the top pitchers from almost three decades, the picture takes on added greatness.

The two players referred to are Ted Williams of the Red Sox and Stan Musial of the Cardinals. Neither will ever last for any 24 years. But each has at least a long shot, outside chance of meeting the .367 challenge by hitting from .380 to .390 for the remainder of what would have to be a miracle career.

You might be interested in selecting the leaders from past campaigns. Here they are—

Ty Cobb—24 years—.367.
Rogers Hornsby—19 years—.359.
Joe Jackson—10 years—.356.
Billy Hamilton—11 years—.353.

Dan Brouthers, Ed Delehanty, Willie Keeler, Tris Speaker, Babe Ruth, Harry Heilmann, Bill Terry and George Sisler follow in order from .348 to .341. Lou Gehrig finished at .340, two points under Babe Ruth's .342.

Ted Williams, today is slightly over .350 and Stan Musial's lifetime record to date is .345.

Ted Williams is 30 years old and should have at least seven or eight good years left. The war cut into his chance for any longtime mark, and it also hit him just as he was approaching his peak. His average was .356 when he gave three years to the service.

Musial is only 28 years old and should have ten seasons left. His mark is .345. Both Williams and Musial could launch their wiry frames on batting splurges and finish close. But it would take miracle hitting.

One thing to their advantage is they don't have to hit against such pitchers as Johnson, Young, Joss, Walsh, Wood, Donovan, etc.

Joe DiMaggio is out of the race. Joe is now 34 years old. He has been around as an active pro since 1932 when he was with San Francisco, and that as 16 years ago. He can have only a few big years left and his lifetime average is only around .331.

So only the Red Sox and the Cardinal aces have any chance to mingle with the Cobbs and Hornsbys, the Joe Jacksons and the Billy Hamiltons above .350.

When you can finish a 10-year career, or longer, above .350, you are in the top Social Set of Swat.

Ty Cobb set more records than an adding machine can handle in a day. But there are two that are almost unbelievable. The first of his incredible performances has already been named—that of finishing with a lifetime average—taking in 24 years of .367.

Here are two leading examples. Hans Wagner and Nap Lajoie are still remembered as two of the greatest hitters of all time. I saw both Wagner and Lajoie in the years of their prime. Both were masters of the ash. Yet, after 21 years, Lajoie's all-time mark was .338 and Wagner's was .329. Cobb finished 29 points above Lajoie and 38 above the Flying Dutchman.

Here's another angle. After sixteen or seventeen years, both Lajoie and Wagner began to fade away from their twin peaks. But, after Cobb had completed 20 years, his batting averages for the last four years were: .378, .339, .357 and .323—the last mark was in Cobb's twenty-fourth campaign. At the end of 20 years, Cobb's mark was around .372.

Cobb's other high mark was just as amazing. Hans Wagner led the National League in batting eight seasons. Hornsby led his league seven times. But, from 1907 through 1919, Ty Cobb led the American League in 12 out of 13 years. He led nine consecutive years, was finally stopped by Tris Speaker in 1916 and then came back to the front in 1917 ,1918 and 1919.

In 1922, just 17 years after he reported to Detroit, Cobb mode his final challenge. He batted .401 that year, but George Sisler's .420 was more than the veteran could match.

Check back and you'll find few ballplayers still around after seventeen major-league years. To find one good enough to pass .400 is something else again.

There are a few records that will not be broken that anyone now living will ever know about.

One is Babe Ruth's output of 714 home runs. The other is Cy Young's pitching record of 510 big league victories. The other two belong to Ty Cobb; .367 for 24 years—leading the American League in 12 out of 13 consecutive seasons.

The Sportlight by GRANTLAND RICE

Shooting At Cobb's .367

There is a certain mark in baseball, and there are only two ballplayers now hanging around who have even a faint wisp of a chance to equal or beat it. The mark is Ty Cobb's lifetime batting average of .367. Here is one of the greatest records that sport has ever known.

Ty Cobb

The .367 is high enough. But when you figure this represents 24 years of play against the top pitchers from almost three decades, the picture takes on added greatness.

The two players referred to are Ted Williams of the Red Sox and Stan Musial of the Cardinals. Neither will ever last for any 24 years. But each has at least a long shot, outside chance of meeting the .367 challenge by hitting from .380 to .390 for the remainder of what would have to be a miracle career.

You might be interested in selecting the leaders from past campaigns. Here they are—

Ty Cobb—24 years—.367.
Rogers Hornsby—19 years—.359.
Joe Jackson—10 years—.356.
Billy Hamilton—11 years—.353.

Dan Brouthers, Ed Delehanty, Willie Keeler, Tris Speaker, Babe Ruth, Harry Heilmann, Bill Terry and George Sisler follow in order from .348 to .341. Lou Gehrig finished at .340, two points under Babe Ruth's .342.

Ted Williams, today is slightly over .350 and Stan Musial's lifetime record to date is .345.

Ted Williams is 30 years old and should have at least seven or eight good years left. The war cut into his chance for any longtime mark, and it also hit him just as he was approaching his peak. His average was .356 when he gave three years to the service.

Musial is only 28 years old and should have ten seasons left. His mark is .345. Both Williams and Musial could launch their wiry frames on batting splurges and finish close. But it would take miracle hitting.

One thing to their advantage is they don't have to hit against such pitchers as Johnson, Young, Joss, Walsh, Wood, Donovan, etc.

Joe DiMaggio is out of the race. Joe is now 34 years old. He has been around as an active pro since 1932 when he was with San Francisco, and that as 16 years ago. He can have only a few big years left and his lifetime average is only around .331.

So only the Red Sox and the Cardinal aces have any chance to mingle with the Cobbs and Hornsbys, the Joe Jacksons and the Billy Hamiltons above .350.

When you can finish a 10-year career, or longer, above .350, you are in the top Social Set of Swat.

Ty Cobb set more records than an adding machine can handle in a day. But there are two that are almost unbelievable. The first of his incredible performances has already been named—that of finishing with a lifetime average—taking in 24 years of .367.

Here are two leading examples. Hans Wagner and Nap Lajoie are still remembered as two of the greatest hitters of all time. I saw both Wagner and Lajoie in the years of their prime. Both were masters of the ash. Yet, after 21 years, Lajoie's all-time mark was .338 and Wagner's was .329. Cobb finished 29 points above Lajoie and 38 above the Flying Dutchman.

Here's another angle. After sixteen or seventeen years, both Lajoie and Wagner began to fade away from their twin peaks. But, after Cobb had completed 20 years, his batting averages for the last four years were: .378, .339, .357 and .323—the last mark was in Cobb's twenty-fourth campaign. At the end of 20 years, Cobb's mark was around .372.

Cobb's other high mark was just as amazing. Hans Wagner led the National League in batting eight seasons. Hornsby led his league seven times. But, from 1907 through 1919, Ty Cobb led the American League in 12 out of 13 years. He led nine consecutive years, was finally stopped by Tris Speaker in 1916 and then came back to the front in 1917 ,1918 and 1919.

In 1922, just 17 years after he reported to Detroit, Cobb mode his final challenge. He batted .401 that year, but George Sisler's .420 was more than the veteran could match.

Check back and you'll find few ballplayers still around after seventeen major-league years. To find one good enough to pass .400 is something else again.

There are a few records that will not be broken that anyone now living will ever know about.

One is Babe Ruth's output of 714 home runs. The other is Cy Young's pitching record of 510 big league victories. The other two belong to Ty Cobb; .367 for 24 years—leading the American League in 12 out of 13 consecutive seasons.

St. Mary's Plans Eight-Bout Card Monday Night

Jim Catanese Faces Pesely In 5-Rounder

Two Fives Head Show, Frazier Opposes Key

Matchmaker Albert "Bobby" Green of St. Mary's Boys' Club last night announced that he is planning a program of eight bouts, topped by a pair of five-rounders, for Monday night's amateur boxing show at the State Armory.

"There are a lot of local boys that want to get on the card and I hope to have a good show," Green declared.

Two Five-Rounders Set

In one of the double windup five-rounders, Leon Daughtry, Washington, D. C. welterweight ace, who won the Golden Gloves title in the capital city and whipped Hank Herring, U. S. champion in the All-Navy Olympic Trials finals, will test Randall "Skeets" Starkey, Cumberland's outstanding amateur mittman.

Jimmie Catanese, local featherweight, who has engaged in over 40 matches since getting out of the army, will return to the ring after a 90 days' layoff to battle Samuel Pesely, Washington D. C. 126-pounder, in the other five-round feature.

In one of the six three-round supporting bouts, Bill Frazier, local 160-pounder, will collide with David Key, Washington fighter.

Five Washington scrappers hope to get spots on the local card. The Washington team, headed by Herbert Harris, manager, is scheduled to arrive here Monday at 2 p. m.

Boys Weight In At 4 P. M.

"Zip" Hutson, Green's partner, states that all boxers participating in the show will be weighed in at the armory at 4 p. m. Monday and the public is invited to attend.

TOASTMASTER — Howard M. Smith, above, manager of the local office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, will be the toastmaster at the dinner honoring Fort Hill High School's football team Thursday at 6:30 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Richard "Dick" Harlow, former college football and boxing coach, will be the principal speaker. H. Clifford Spiker, head of the Fort Hill Boosters Club, reports tickets may be purchased at the Truitt Drug Company, Wilson Harware Company and the high school until 6 p. m. today.

Bruce Woodcock Gets Scorching

Writers Pan Champion, Films Show Low Blow

By BILL MACKLIN

LONDON, Dec. 7 (AP)—The movies show that Bruce Woodcock was struck a low blow before he "fouled out" to Lee Savold last night, but the fact promises slight consolation to the British heavyweight champion.

London fight writers, almost to a man, scorched Woodcock today for having hit the canvas and writhed around until the referee declared him the winner in the fourth round.

They advised their readers who had invisioned Woodcock as a future world heavyweight champion to "forget it."

Promoter Jack Solomons abandoned any thought of flying to New York to try to arrange a title bout between Woodcock and Joe Louis in London.

"It is no good going over to America to make a fool of myself," he said, sadly.

The slow motion movies, shown privately to the Associated Press, disclosed that Savold hit Woodcock in the left groin with a right which travelled about three feet. The blow was partially blocked.

It was impossible to judge from the film how painful the blow might have been to the British fighter. He was wearing a protective device which is supposed to prevent injury.

The film, which will be released to the public on Sunday, shows Woodcock wincing as the blow strikes, then clutching his groin and collapsing.

Savold, in no rush to return to New Jersey, sat around today clipping stories of the fight and applying hot compacts to a puffed-up left eye.

Baugh Will Play With Washington For 13th Season

Sammy Signs Contract, Holds Passing Record

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Sammy Baugh today signed a contract for the 1949 season, his 13th as a member of the Washington Redskins.

The announcement halted those rumors, always current at this time of the year, that the old pass master is about to retire to his Texas ranch and take life easy.

As usual, no mention was made of anything as sordid as money, but it's generally thought that Baugh works for around $18,000 a year.

Actually Baugh seems to be improving as he goes along, and the record books prove it. He has been around so long that it's only natural that he should hold every lifetime passing record in the National Football League books.

But last year Baugh also set new season records for number of passes thrown, passes completed and yards picked up by same.

And this season, against the Boston Yanks, he set another record by picking up 446 yards with his passes, the most ever made in an NFL game.

Cresaptown Tavern Quits Shuffleboard League

Cresap Tavern has withdrawn from the National Shuffleboard League of Allegany County and will forfeit its remaining games in the first half, Robert "Ace" Baker, secretary, announced last night.

A new team will be voted into the league at the close of the first half.

The Goodfellowship - Amvets match will be played here Friday instead of Thursday. Shires Charged With Murder Of Friend In Fight

Former Big Leaguer Is Released On Bond

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 7 (AP)—Art Shires, former major league first baseman, was charged with murder today in the death of W. H. (Hi) Erwin, former professional baseball player.

Erwin, 56, died in a hospital here Saturday. Officers quoted Shires as saying he had a fight with Erwin Oct. 3. Shires was questioned last night and released on a $5,000 bond in a habeas corpus writ.

The murder charge, filed in the court of Justice of the Peace W. L. Sterrett, charged murder with malice aforethought.

Shires is 42 years old. He now runs a shrimp house in Dallas.

Erwin operated a cleaning and pressing shop here.

Shires was quoted by Dallas detectives as saying he and Erwin had been friends for 25 years and that he had gone to Erwin's place of business on Oct. 3 to give him a steak.

"He hit me across the face with a telephone receiver and I knocked him down without thinking," the detectives quoted Shires as saying. "I had to rough him up a good deal because he grabbed a knife and started whittling on my legs."

Shires had been with the Chicago White Sox, Washington Senators, Boston Braves and St. Louis Cardinals. Last summer he ran for state representative in Texas but was defeated.

Erwin, one of six brothers who played in organized baseball, once was a catcher for Dallas in the Texas League and umpired in the American Association and Western Association.

Dead Heat Thrills Charles Town Fans

Battletown Ties Air Defense In Fourth

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Dec. 7 (AP)—Today's racing card at the Charles Town track was highlighted by a thrilling dead heat in a seven furlong test.

W. R. Hardesty's Air Defense and Mrs. Stanley Green Sr.'s Battletown, a pair of $1,250 platters, came down the stretch and passed the finish line together in the fourth race. The camera, the judges and a magnifying glass could not separate them.

Air Defense paid $3.80, $4 and $2.60, and the across-the-board payoff on Battletown was $5.40, $4.60 and 03.20. They were clocked at 1:34 4-5.

The dead heat took most of the edge off the advertised feature, which was won by J. H. Hammond's Butler. The six-year-old won by a length over C. B. Carter's War Story. H. B. Cohen's Cordon was third in a field of eight.

Butler returned a $3.60 mutuel and was timed at 1:33 1-5 for the seven furlong route.

The daily double combination of C. F. Wright's Verte and L. Donofiro's Magic Heels, winners of the first and second races, paid $30.40.

NAMED BY NAVY — Capt. Henry Howard Caldwell, above, will succeed Capt. Tom Hamilton as director of athletics at the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis. Caldwell, a combat hero in World War II, has been head of the department of mathematics sice last June. Hamilton will retire Feb. 1 to become director of athletics at the University of Pittsburgh.

Capt. Caldwell Named To Direct Navy Athletics

Hero Of World War II Succeeds Hamilton

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 7 (AP)—A navy captain who has been "closely associated" with football coach George Sauer this past season, was named today as Navy's athletic director.

Capt. Howard Caldwell, 43, former antarctic explorer and World War II combat hero, will take over the job to be relinquished February 1 by his 1927 classmate, Capt. Tom Hamilton.

Hamilton yesterday accepted the post of athletic director at the University of Pittsburgh.

Jerry Flynn Resigns

At the same time another shift in Navy's set-up was in the making. It was learned that Jerry Flynn, who for two years has been publicity director for the athletic association, turned in his resignation.

The new athletic director has been head of the department of mathematics at the Naval Academy since last June. He also has been officer representative for football.

Rear Admr. James L. Holloway, Jr., Academy superintendent, said after announcement of the appointment that as officer representative Captain Caldwell "was closely associated with Coach George Sauer and the Navy varsity football squad" this fall.

Captain Caldwell is a former member of the Navy coaching staff, in charge of the junior varsity from 1934 to 1937.

He was wartime commander of air group 12 based on the carrier Saratoga, leading raids on Japanese installations at Rabaul and other Pacific islands. Caldwell holds the Navy Cross, Distinguished Flying Cross and other decorations.

Caldwell was with Admiral Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic Expedition in 1946. While on that assignment he was lost for two weeks with the crew of a patrol plane which crashed near the South Pole.

Native Of California

Caldwell was born at Rocklin, Calif., but calls both Sparks, Nev., and Roseville, Calif., his home towns. He attended the University of Nevada in 1922 and 23. He is married and has two children, Joyce, 15, and Hank, 13.

There was no formal announcement about Flynn's departure from the academy and spokesmen said there would be none immediately. There was no hint of Flynn's plans although he said he would not follow Hamilton to Pittsburgh.

The 29-year-old publicity director is a resident of Rochester, N. Y., and is a reserve lieutenant and took over the job in April, 1946.

Bruce Woodcock Gets Scorching

Writers Pan Champion, Films Show Low Blow

By BILL MACKLIN

LONDON, Dec. 7 (AP)—The movies show that Bruce Woodcock was struck a low blow before he "fouled out" to Lee Savold last night, but the fact promises slight consolation to the British heavyweight champion.

London fight writers, almost to a man, scorched Woodcock today for having hit the canvas and writhed around until the referee declared him the winner in the fourth round.

They advised their readers who had invisioned Woodcock as a future world heavyweight champion to "forget it."

Promoter Jack Solomons abandoned any thought of flying to New York to try to arrange a title bout between Woodcock and Joe Louis in London.

"It is no good going over to America to make a fool of myself," he said, sadly.

The slow motion movies, shown privately to the Associated Press, disclosed that Savold hit Woodcock in the left groin with a right which travelled about three feet. The blow was partially blocked.

It was impossible to judge from the film how painful the blow might have been to the British fighter. He was wearing a protective device which is supposed to prevent injury.

The film, which will be released to the public on Sunday, shows Woodcock wincing as the blow strikes, then clutching his groin and collapsing.

Savold, in no rush to return to New Jersey, sat around today clipping stories of the fight and applying hot compacts to a puffed-up left eye.

Baugh Will Play With Washington For 13th Season

Sammy Signs Contract, Holds Passing Record

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Sammy Baugh today signed a contract for the 1949 season, his 13th as a member of the Washington Redskins.

The announcement halted those rumors, always current at this time of the year, that the old pass master is about to retire to his Texas ranch and take life easy.

As usual, no mention was made of anything as sordid as money, but it's generally thought that Baugh works for around $18,000 a year.

Actually Baugh seems to be improving as he goes along, and the record books prove it. He has been around so long that it's only natural that he should hold every lifetime passing record in the National Football League books.

But last year Baugh also set new season records for number of passes thrown, passes completed and yards picked up by same.

And this season, against the Boston Yanks, he set another record by picking up 446 yards with his passes, the most ever made in an NFL game.

Shires Charged With Murder Of Friend In Fight

Former Big Leaguer Is Released On Bond

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 7 (AP)—Art Shires, former major league first baseman, was charged with murder today in the death of W. H. (Hi) Erwin, former professional baseball player.

Erwin, 56, died in a hospital here Saturday. Officers quoted Shires as saying he had a fight with Erwin Oct. 3. Shires was questioned last night and released on a $5,000 bond in a habeas corpus writ.

The murder charge, filed in the court of Justice of the Peace W. L. Sterrett, charged murder with malice aforethought.

Shires is 42 years old. He now runs a shrimp house in Dallas.

Erwin operated a cleaning and pressing shop here.

Shires was quoted by Dallas detectives as saying he and Erwin had been friends for 25 years and that he had gone to Erwin's place of business on Oct. 3 to give him a steak.

"He hit me across the face with a telephone receiver and I knocked him down without thinking," the detectives quoted Shires as saying. "I had to rough him up a good deal because he grabbed a knife and started whittling on my legs."

Shires had been with the Chicago White Sox, Washington Senators, Boston Braves and St. Louis Cardinals. Last summer he ran for state representative in Texas but was defeated.

Erwin, one of six brothers who played in organized baseball, once was a catcher for Dallas in the Texas League and umpired in the American Association and Western Association.

Dead Heat Thrills Charles Town Fans

Battletown Ties Air Defense In Fourth

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Dec. 7 (AP)—Today's racing card at the Charles Town track was highlighted by a thrilling dead heat in a seven furlong test.

W. R. Hardesty's Air Defense and Mrs. Stanley Green Sr.'s Battletown, a pair of $1,250 platters, came down the stretch and passed the finish line together in the fourth race. The camera, the judges and a magnifying glass could not separate them.

Air Defense paid $3.80, $4 and $2.60, and the across-the-board payoff on Battletown was $5.40, $4.60 and 03.20. They were clocked at 1:34 4-5.

The dead heat took most of the edge off the advertised feature, which was won by J. H. Hammond's Butler. The six-year-old won by a length over C. B. Carter's War Story. H. B. Cohen's Cordon was third in a field of eight.

Butler returned a $3.60 mutuel and was timed at 1:33 1-5 for the seven furlong route.

The daily double combination of C. F. Wright's Verte and L. Donofiro's Magic Heels, winners of the first and second races, paid $30.40.

NAMED BY NAVY — Capt. Henry Howard Caldwell, above, will succeed Capt. Tom Hamilton as director of athletics at the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis. Caldwell, a combat hero in World War II, has been head of the department of mathematics sice last June. Hamilton will retire Feb. 1 to become director of athletics at the University of Pittsburgh.

Capt. Caldwell Named To Direct Navy Athletics

Hero Of World War II Succeeds Hamilton

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 7 (AP)—A navy captain who has been "closely associated" with football coach George Sauer this past season, was named today as Navy's athletic director.

Capt. Howard Caldwell, 43, former antarctic explorer and World War II combat hero, will take over the job to be relinquished February 1 by his 1927 classmate, Capt. Tom Hamilton.

Hamilton yesterday accepted the post of athletic director at the University of Pittsburgh.

Jerry Flynn Resigns

At the same time another shift in Navy's set-up was in the making. It was learned that Jerry Flynn, who for two years has been publicity director for the athletic association, turned in his resignation.

The new athletic director has been head of the department of mathematics at the Naval Academy since last June. He also has been officer representative for football.

Rear Admr. James L. Holloway, Jr., Academy superintendent, said after announcement of the appointment that as officer representative Captain Caldwell "was closely associated with Coach George Sauer and the Navy varsity football squad" this fall.

Captain Caldwell is a former member of the Navy coaching staff, in charge of the junior varsity from 1934 to 1937.

He was wartime commander of air group 12 based on the carrier Saratoga, leading raids on Japanese installations at Rabaul and other Pacific islands. Caldwell holds the Navy Cross, Distinguished Flying Cross and other decorations.

Caldwell was with Admiral Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic Expedition in 1946. While on that assignment he was lost for two weeks with the crew of a patrol plane which crashed near the South Pole.

Native Of California

Caldwell was born at Rocklin, Calif., but calls both Sparks, Nev., and Roseville, Calif., his home towns. He attended the University of Nevada in 1922 and 23. He is married and has two children, Joyce, 15, and Hank, 13.

There was no formal announcement about Flynn's departure from the academy and spokesmen said there would be none immediately. There was no hint of Flynn's plans although he said he would not follow Hamilton to Pittsburgh.

The 29-year-old publicity director is a resident of Rochester, N. Y., and is a reserve lieutenant and took over the job in April, 1946.

Old German Bank Notes Are Sent Here From Cambridge As Souvenirs

A puzzling communication was received in the mail yesterday by Joseph E. Boden, clerk of court, addressed to "Clerk of the Court, Allegany County, Cumberland, Md."

The envelope, postmarked Cambridge, Md., bears no return address and is sealed with a 1948 Christmas seal.

The envelope contained two German 1,000 Mark bank notes, and a printed communication which reads, "Souvenir. Old German Currency issued 1910, before World War I. 1000 Mark Nate worth $240.00 later repudiated.

"Old Bonds regarded valueless, later have been scraped from the wall and redeemed.

"Prayer and Faith have brought many blessings throughout the world.

"Save for the children and grandchildren."

There is nothing else. There is no name or signature and no means of identifying the sender. Boden said he understands several other people here received duplicates of his letter, and all are equally mystified.

Numerous suggestions have been offered from the sublime to the ridiculous. Some think the sender forgot to sign his name or forgot to enclose a note or letter. Others believe it might be the first part of some new type of chain letter, or pernaps Boden will receive a "bill" for his "souvenirs" later.

In any event, the bank notes attract a lot of attention when Boden displays them, and he says "they are interesting souvenirs."

But Hollis had some luck, anyway. The burglar left him the paper case in which the book and money had been kept.

Employment Tight In Cumberland

During the month of November only 132 job placements were made through the local office of the Maryland Employment Service, according to Patrick J. Carroll, office manager. This is the lowest number in many months, he said.

Listed on the active file for Cumberland are 2,259 unemployed.

Carroll said that there are "very few job opportunities," and that of the persons in the active file a total of 903 are veterans of World War II. Another 758 are women seeking work. The balance are non-veteran males.

Short work weeks at the Kelly-Springfield tire plant and some curtailment in work at the Celanese are reflected in the number of unemployed contacting the employment office each day, Carroll pointed out.

The office was crowded with more than 75 persons yesterday either seeking work or else obtaining their unemployment compensation.

Mining operations in the Georges Creek region are at a minimum and added to the current unemployment in Cumberland make the situation bad, according to employment service officials.

Railroad workers who have been furloughed by the B. and O. do not contact the employment service for their jobless compensation as this is handled through the federal government and the railroad offices here.

Despite the current economic situation here local retail stores report sales took an upturn the latter part of last week and most stores added extra clerks for the balance of the Christmas shopping season.

$7 Unlucky Sum For Local Man

Seven seems to be an unlucky number for Harold Hollis, 432 Walnut Street. And it may prove unlucky for the thief who twice stole $7 from him.

Detective Ernest M. Powell said Hollis reported last night that someone stole $7 from a "piggy bank" at his home on September 18.

Then between November 20 and November 30 $7 was taken from an insurance book and folder he had left hanging in the hallway of his home. The thief also took the insurance premium book.

But Hollis had some luck, anyway. The burglar left him the paper case in which the book and money had been kept.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

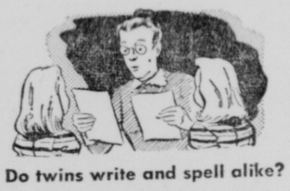

Should you hold a person to a promise he regrets?

Answer: That depends to start with upon whether it is one he CAN keep. If someone has promised to pay you a debt and you know that he has the money, you can hold him to his promise, though this may cost you his friendship. But to demand that another person shall continue to give you his love because he has vowed to do so is another matter, since his power to keep this promise largely depends on unconscious forces which he cannot control. If these work against you, your insistence will make them resist all the harder.

Will "emotionally disturbed" people become insane?

Answer: This is much like asking whether someone who is sick will die—it depends on the severity of the disturbance. Anyone whose desires conflict with the dictates of his conscience will have warring or "disturbed" emotions, and of course, this is the case with nearly everybody. Only when the conflict is so painful that the person cannot stand it any longer and "escapes" into hallucinations or delusions — for example, that the accusations of his conscience are mysterious "voices"—does he become insane or "psychotic."

Do twins write and spell alike?

Answer: Not invariably, reports a psychologist from Uppsala University, Uppsala, Sweden, after studying the records of 530 pairs of twin school children between 7 and 15. Both fraternal and identical twins tend to have similar handwriting, but while the "identicals" are also alike in their abilities to spell, the "fraternals" differ more and more as they grow older. The report suggests that this is because spelling and imaginative composition depend more upon heredity than writing, and only "identicals" have the same "genes."

JANE MARSHALL, Home Service Director, Cumberland & Allegheny Gas Company

Santa is paying an early visit to the Home Service Center of the Cumberland & Allegheny Gas Company Wed. and Thurs. afternoons beginning at 1:30 p. m.

Your Gas Company Home Service Director invites you to come and see all the wonderful things you can make to surprise your family and friends this Christmas.

You'll see the famous Cookie House, and learn how to make one for your own youngsters. This storybook house, cookie-studded in frosty white icing, looks like a jewel out of Fairyland! You will have as much fun making one . . . and in watching the excited joy of the youngsters (and oldsters, too) . . . as they do in their wild enjoyment of it! Use it for a centerpiece —or put it "on display."

At the demonstration you will see table after table filled with Christmas goodies. There will be a special-gift table . . . food gifts you make yourself, all done up attractively in pretty wrappings.

Platters and boxes and dishes of candy and cakes; stuffed fruits—the old-fashioned kind with fondant and nuts; candied orange and lemon peel—glazed nuts—which are easier to make than you think! There will be steamed puddings, gingerbread men and Santa Claus cookies.

You may be wondering what kind of basket you can make up for that needy family you know . . . or that elderly couple down the street — there are suggestions for that, too.

And such unique table decorations! Did you ever see a popcorn Christmas tree? There will be one at Open House. You will see how it is made and decorated with colored candy and cookies. Oh,—there are so many pretty decorations! You'll just have to come and see them — find out how they're made, easily and inexpensively.

It's fun to make all these special things for the Holiday. Be sure to come, join in the festivity—and get one of the colorfully decorated Christmas recipe and suggestion sheets that tell you how to go about making "Something Special for Christmas."

Infirmary Needs Listed By Benjamin Wright

Benjamin W. Wright, superintendent of Memorial Hospital, submitted a complete list of equipment for the new Allegany County Infirmary, scheduled to open about February 1, to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday.

The equipment, comprising furniture for rooms for patients, offices and other sections of the infirmary will cost $18,734.20, according to Wright's estimates. He told the board to allow about $3,000 for contingencies and variations on his price estimates.

Wright also suggested that items which cost over $500 each be advertised and that the bulk of the supplies, consisting of small articles, be bought locally. Soap and other items for the infirmary laundry can be bought in Cumberland from any number of sources and would save commissioners the trouble of purchasing them from out-of-town business firms.

The larger items, such as chairs, tables, and lockers, can best be bought through advertising for bids from six or seven hospital furnishing firms, Wright said. He informed the board that the supplies could probably be obtained within 30 days as the larger furnishing companies are well stocked at this time.

Fund of $75,000 Available

The board has available $75,000 for equipping and maintaining the infirmary for the first six-month period of operation.

The annual cost of maintaining the infirmary, including salaries of the staff, food, heat and light is not expected to run more than $70,000, the board reported.

Following Wright's report the board decided that his wide experience in administrative work at Memorial Hospital would benefit the county in putting an economical program in effect.

Wright said he would confer with Dr. Arthur F. Jones, county physician, on the staff setup for the infirmary. After the suggested supplies are purchased only food will need to be purchased to place the infirmary in operation.

Provisions For 80 Bed-Patients

In commenting on plans to operate the new infirmary, Wright said provisions have been made to care for 80 bed-patients. The county institution will also be used to care for 16 juveniles awaiting court action or placement in other state institutions.

The new infirmary will prove of "great service to the community", Wright told the board, and will also help alleviate the acute shortage of beds in the two local hospitals. Wright pointed out that at present local hospitals are being operated at capacity, and that patients cared for at the infirmary will be just that many less local hospitals will have to provide for at various periods.

The list of supplies and equipment submitted to the board by Wright included hundreds of items and was broken down into various departments of the infirmary.

The new infirmary was built at a cost of $250,000, and adding the $75,000 for equipment and maintenance the first six-month period gives the county a $325,000 establishment.

SS. Peter And Paul Cafeteria Opened

Father Ernest Horning, assistant pastor and superintendent of the SS. Peter and Paul School's cafeteria, reported about 250 lunches were served at 11:30 a. m. on the opening day yesterday. The cost of the cafeteria is estimated at $11,000.

The cafeteria will observe a five-day week.

The new cafeteria is patterned after the county's public school luncheon program and the help of school officials in preparing it was enlisted. William F. Cooper, director of public school cafeteria., aided in the project, Father Earnest said.

Father Earnest said this is the first full-time cafeteria program the school has had although until recently some lunches were served.

The equipment is all new and includes a refrigerator, large steam table, potato peeler, dish washer and other modern kitchen conveniences. A soup cooker has been ordered and is expected soon. Father Earnest added.

In addition to Father Earnest as supervisor, the cafeteria has a staff of three people.

Regular baking soda, mixed with a small amount of talcum powder, makes a good fire extinguisher powder.

Infirmary Needs Listed By Benjamin Wright

Benjamin W. Wright, superintendent of Memorial Hospital, submitted a complete list of equipment for the new Allegany County Infirmary, scheduled to open about February 1, to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday.

The equipment, comprising furniture for rooms for patients, offices and other sections of the infirmary will cost $18,734.20, according to Wright's estimates. He told the board to allow about $3,000 for contingencies and variations on his price estimates.

Wright also suggested that items which cost over $500 each be advertised and that the bulk of the supplies, consisting of small articles, be bought locally. Soap and other items for the infirmary laundry can be bought in Cumberland from any number of sources and would save commissioners the trouble of purchasing them from out-of-town business firms.

The larger items, such as chairs, tables, and lockers, can best be bought through advertising for bids from six or seven hospital furnishing firms, Wright said. He informed the board that the supplies could probably be obtained within 30 days as the larger furnishing companies are well stocked at this time.

Fund of $75,000 Available

The board has available $75,000 for equipping and maintaining the infirmary for the first six-month period of operation.

$8,000 Bond Set In Theft Case

Unable to post the $2,000 bond, each, set pending action of the Hampshire County grand jury, four Romney, W. Va., youths, arrested in connection with a series of robberies in that area, are in Hampshire County Jail today.

They are Elmo Barnes, 23; Kenneth Haines, 19; Eugene Combs, 19, and Edward Hines, 17.

The quartet entered pleas of guilty before Justice of the Peace T. E. Pownall Monday waived preliminary hearings. The jury will convene December 18.

Haines, Barnes and Combs admitted breaking and entering the Romney Grill early last Tuesday and taking cash and merchandise.

Combs and Barnes told authorities they entered the Roy L. Corbin Store on November 1 and took merchandise.

Hines and Haines, in a statement to investigators, said they also entered Corbin's Store on October 13, 1947, taking merchandise and a cash register.

Hines admitted entering the David Long Planing Mill on several occasions with Haines to take small amounts of goods. He confessed to two other thefts of articles of small value in the Romney area, police said.

Haines, according to police, is serving in the Army and at the time of the grill robbery was home on a delay enroute to a port of embarkation for transfer overseas.

Trooper F. H. Tribett, of the West Virginia State Police, and Romney Chief of Police Robert W. Daugherty made the arrests.

No Plans Yet For Inaugural Delegation

No plans have been made yet for an Allegany County delegation to attend the inauguration of President Truman in Washington January 20, according to William L. Wilson, Jr., chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee for Allegany County.

Wilson added, however, that a delegation will probably be named to represent the county.

West Virginia and Pennsylvania Democrats are also planning to be represented at the inaugural, with Pennsylvanians already arranging for special service on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Delegates from Cambria, Somerset, Indiana and Armstrong counties have expressed their intention to attend. The train will be called the "Truman Special."

$2,000 Damage Suit Docketed

Kathleen Adams, through her attorney, Edward J. Ryan, filed suit for $2,000 damages yesterday in Circuit Court against Margaret Johnson as a result of a collision September 21 on Third Street.

In the bill of complaint, the plaintiff claims that due to the negligence of the defendant in operating her car she suffered injuries of the head and chest and that her machine was damaged to the extent of $200.

In her bill of complaint, docketed by Edward J. Ryan, her attorney, the plaintiff claims that due to the negligence of the defendant in operating her car she suffered injuries of the head and chest and that her machine was damaged to the extent of $200.

In a second damage suit, Chester D. Loar filed a bill of complaint against the Western Maryland Railway Company for $1,000 for damages to his car in an accident October 17 on the Mexico Farms Road crossing of the company.

Loar claims that while driving across the crossing a wheel of his machine became lodged in the tracks. He charges that the railway was negligent in not maintaining the crossing properly, and that while his car was wedged in the crossing a train struck the vehicle and caused much damage.

George C. Roeder filed suit against William P. Roeder for an account allegedly due, and is asking for $1,000. Edward J. Ryan is attorney for the plaintiff.

Eleanor Kerns, administrator of the estate of Alonzo Kerns, filed suit against John William Miller for $700 allegedly due the estate.

An absolute divorce was granted Delena Hose Spiker in her suit against Gilbert O. Spiker. She was also granted custody of their minor child.

$8,000 Bond Set In Theft Case

Unable to post the $2,000 bond, each, set pending action of the Hampshire County grand jury, four Romney, W. Va., youths, arrested in connection with a series of robberies in that area, are in Hampshire County Jail today.

They are Elmo Barnes, 23; Kenneth Haines, 19; Eugene Combs, 19, and Edward Hines, 17.

The quartet entered pleas of guilty before Justice of the Peace T. E. Pownall Monday waived preliminary hearings. The jury will convene December 18.

Haines, Barnes and Combs admitted breaking and entering the Romney Grill early last Tuesday and taking cash and merchandise.

Combs and Barnes told authorities they entered the Roy L. Corbin Store on November 1 and took merchandise.

Hines and Haines, in a statement to investigators, said they also entered Corbin's Store on October 13, 1947, taking merchandise and a cash register.

Hines admitted entering the David Long Planing Mill on several occasions with Haines to take small amounts of goods. He confessed to two other thefts of articles of small value in the Romney area, police said.

Haines, according to police, is serving in the Army and at the time of the grill robbery was home on a delay enroute to a port of embarkation for transfer overseas.

Trooper F. H. Tribett, of the West Virginia State Police, and Romney Chief of Police Robert W. Daugherty made the arrests.

No Plans Yet For Inaugural Delegation

No plans have been made yet for an Allegany County delegation to attend the inauguration of President Truman in Washington January 20, according to William L. Wilson, Jr., chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee for Allegany County.

Wilson added, however, that a delegation will probably be named to represent the county.

West Virginia and Pennsylvania Democrats are also planning to be represented at the inaugural, with Pennsylvanians already arranging for special service on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Delegates from Cambria, Somerset, Indiana and Armstrong counties have expressed their intention to attend. The train will be called the "Truman Special."

$2,000 Damage Suit Docketed

Kathleen Adams, through her attorney, Edward J. Ryan, filed suit for $2,000 damages yesterday in Circuit Court against Margaret Johnson as a result of a collision September 21 on Third Street.

In the bill of complaint, the plaintiff claims that due to the negligence of the defendant in operating her car she suffered injuries of the head and chest and that her machine was damaged to the extent of $200.

In her bill of complaint, docketed by Edward J. Ryan, her attorney, the plaintiff claims that due to the negligence of the defendant in operating her car she suffered injuries of the head and chest and that her machine was damaged to the extent of $200.

In a second damage suit, Chester D. Loar filed a bill of complaint against the Western Maryland Railway Company for $1,000 for damages to his car in an accident October 17 on the Mexico Farms Road crossing of the company.

Loar claims that while driving across the crossing a wheel of his machine became lodged in the tracks. He charges that the railway was negligent in not maintaining the crossing properly, and that while his car was wedged in the crossing a train struck the vehicle and caused much damage.

George C. Roeder filed suit against William P. Roeder for an account allegedly due, and is asking for $1,000. Edward J. Ryan is attorney for the plaintiff.

Eleanor Kerns, administrator of the estate of Alonzo Kerns, filed suit against John William Miller for $700 allegedly due the estate.

An absolute divorce was granted Delena Hose Spiker in her suit against Gilbert O. Spiker. She was also granted custody of their minor child.

Frostburg Fire Department Asks Increased Funds

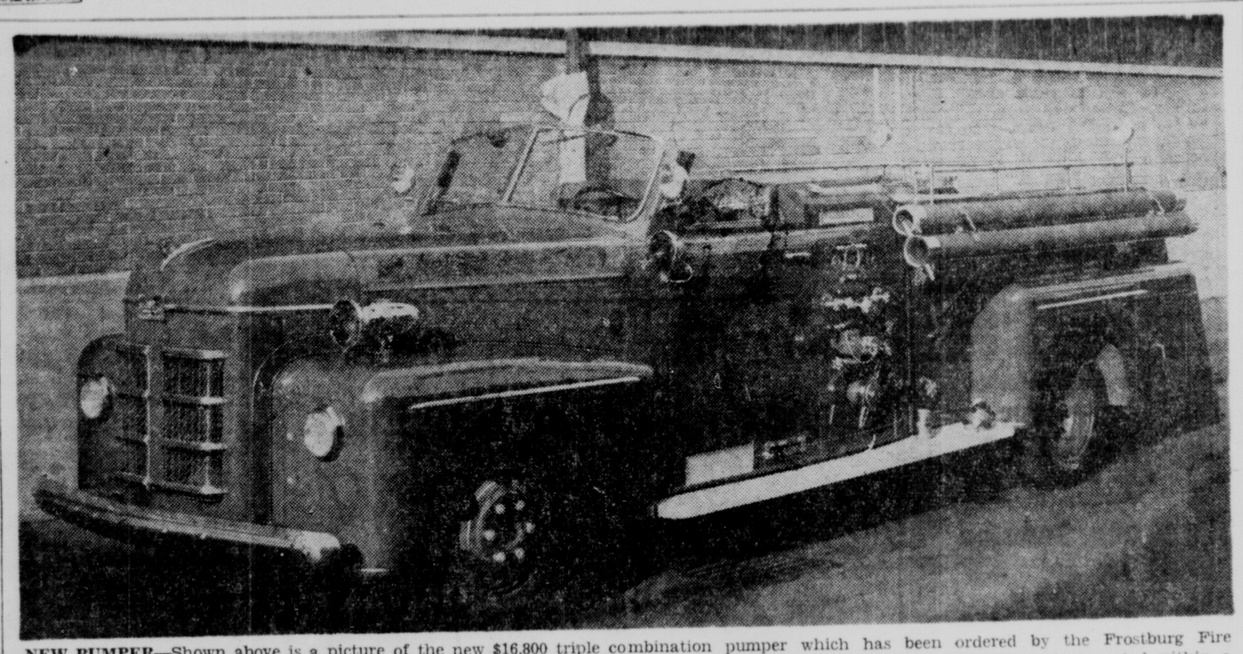

City Officials To Study Request

FROSTBURG—A committee from the Frostburg Fire Departemnt, consisting of Alvin Rankin, Florian Nickel, Samuel McCulloh, Robert Stewart, Kenneth Close and James Lloyd appeared before the Mayor and City Commissioners Monday evening to request an increase in the annual appropriation for current expenses of the department.

Rankin, spokesman for the delegation, pointed out that the present city appropriation had decreased, although expenses of the department are steadily increasing.

He explained that the department has succeeded in meeting expenses by the sale of honorary memberships and other methods, but that regular members were unwilling to continue requesting financial aid from a limited number of citizens since the department, organized as volunteers without pay, renders protection serviee to all property owners.

City officials agreed to study the matter and report to representatives of the department at a meeting scheduled either December 20 or 21.

NEW PUMPER—Shown above is a picture of the new $16,800 triple combination pumper which has been ordered by the Frostburg Fire Department from the Ahrens-Fox firm of Cincinnati. Delivery of the pumper, which has a capacity of 750 gallons, is expected within a month. It will replace a smaller piece of equipment, firemen said. Other equipment of the department includes a large "quad," which is a combined ladder, hose wagon and pumper, and a triple combination piston pumper.

Eckhart Church Plans Service

FROSTBURG—Among Christmas events planned at Eckhart Methodist Church is a candlelight service, "The Light of Men," to be presented Sunday evening, December 19, at 7:30 p. m. in the church auditorium by the young people's choir, with 50 persons taking part.

Leading parts in the production have been assigned to Evelyn Wright and Isabel Lynch, readers; Faye Rephann, Mary Huber, Barbara Knepp, Nancy Carter and Peggy Felker.

Others taking part will be John Stark, Charles Holsinger, Robert Nelson, Naomi Brode, James Croston, Aaron Snyder, John Wolfe, Louis Emerick, Norma Meagher, William Pape, Reuben Lewis, George Porter, Philip Knepp, Howard Rephann, John Holsinger, Thomas Wright, Robert Wright, Louis Shitfield and James Filsinger.

The pageant will be presented under direction of Louis R. Emerick and the musical accompaniments will be played by Mrs. James Filsinger.

The church will also have a service at 6 a. m., when Rev. Charles Mead will deliver a Christmas sermon. On Christmas Eve, the young people will sing Christmas carols at the homes of shut-ins.

Frostburg Legion To Erect Large Christmas Tree

Committee Is Named By Post Commander

FROSTBURG—Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, decided to sponsor its annual project of erecting a large community Christmas tree in front of the Frostburg Postoffice and to illuminate it at least 10 days before Christmas.

Frank T. Powers, commander, appointed Earl R. Miller, chairman; William Buckalew, Paul Stewart, Harold Blocher, Walter LaRue, Lester Snyder, Fred Rowe and Olin Spiker as the committee in charge.

A tree has been donated by Miss Lillie Wasmuth and Annie Hartman, 104 Ormond Street. Purchased about 10 years ago from the late George Albright, the tree, located in the front yard of the home of the donors, has grown to considerable height.

The tree will be removed from its present location and erected as a community Christmas tree at the expense of the Legion.

Keyser Council Plans To Amend Ordinance On Loud-Speakers

KEYSER, W. Va. — Amendments to an ordinance pertaining to use of loud-speakers will be up for their first reading at the next regular meeting of the Mayor and City Council on December 21.

Present readings of a proposed ordinance on unnecessary noise disturbances of a commercial and non-commercial basis were dispensed with at yesterday afternoon's council meeting.

The action resulted after R. A. Pulliam, who operates a novelty company at 81 North Main Street, told the council the amplifier at his store is more of a public service than a "nuisance" since it is used to broadcast news, athletic contests and other items of current interest.

Pulliam's attorneys, H. G. Shores and Lester Reynolds, said they would prefer regulation but not prohibition of the use of sound amplification in Keyser.

The proposed ordinance on noise disturbances was one of two prepared by City Attorney James H. Swadley and read for the first time November 16.

The measure, which came up for a second reading at yesterday's meeting, would have prohibited "unnecessary and disturbing noises," including playing, using and operating sound amplifiers on the public streets.

School Plumbing Plan Clarified

KEYSER, W. Va.—Clarifying an article appearing in a Keyser newspaper Monday, Haven D. Idleman, superintendent of Mineral County Schools, said yesterday that Arthur B. Wells, local plumber, is not responsible for the delay in repairing the boys' toilet at Keyser Elementary School.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the school made a public appeal for Wells to install the toilet fixtures.

In his statement to the press, Idleman said:

"The School Board does not hold Wells responsible for the delay. However, it is true Wells was told last summer that he could install the fixtures, but plumbing jobs in other schools had to be done and were done first inasmuch as all the fixtures for the local school were not on hand.

"Wells was not and is not under contract with us to install the fixtures. Early last summer following the close of last year's school term, I went to Wells and talked to him about the equipment needed for the rest rooms. At that time fixtures needed to complete the project were not available and Wells said he thought he could get them in 90 days.

"Wells was told to order the fixtures and that he could install them. I had ordered them a year previous to contacting the plumber, but delivery was never made.

"Fixtures finally arrived late in the summer and in October Wells came to my office with S. T. McGee, principal of the elementary school, who asked me to authorize the project.

"I referred McGee's questions about when the work would be done to Wells who replied that he could not have the fixtures installed before the Christmas holidays, inasmuch as he was under contract to repair the Mineral County Court House and such work would not be completed prior to that time. Wells is in no way to blame."

Wells substantiated Idleman's statement and added that in working for the school board he has always handled jobs in the order requested.

He said: "As all the fixtures did not arrive here until late summer, at which time I was working at other schools in the county, I could not have installed them prior to the opening of the school term this fall.

"I am of the opinion that the Christmas holidays is the best time to install the toilets as I do not think it would be wise to undertake the job while school is in session."

Both Wells and Idleman said no verbal or written agreement was made to the time the work was to be done, it apparently being agreeable to handle the project either during the summer vacation or the Christmas holidays.

Frostburg Fire Department Asks Increased Funds

City Officials To Study Request

FROSTBURG—A committee from the Frostburg Fire Departemnt, consisting of Alvin Rankin, Florian Nickel, Samuel McCulloh, Robert Stewart, Kenneth Close and James Lloyd appeared before the Mayor and City Commissioners Monday evening to request an increase in the annual appropriation for current expenses of the department.

Rankin, spokesman for the delegation, pointed out that the present city appropriation had decreased, although expenses of the department are steadily increasing.

He explained that the department has succeeded in meeting expenses by the sale of honorary memberships and other methods, but that regular members were unwilling to continue requesting financial aid from a limited number of citizens since the department, organized as volunteers without pay, renders protection service to all property owners.

City officials agreed to study the matter and report to representatives of the department at a meeting scheduled either December 20 or 21.

NEW PUMPER—Shown above is a picture of the new $16,800 triple combination pumper which has been ordered by the Frostburg Fire Department from the Ahrens-Fox firm of Cincinnati. Delivery of the pumper, which has a capacity of 750 gallons, is expected within a month. It will replace a smaller piece of equipment, firemen said. Other equipment of the department includes a large "quad," which is a combined ladder, hose wagon and pumper, and a triple combination piston pumper.

Eckhart Church Plans Service

FROSTBURG—Among Christmas events planned at Eckhart Methodist Church is a candlelight service, "The Light of Men," to be presented Sunday evening, December 19, at 7:30 p. m. in the church auditorium by the young people's choir, with 50 persons taking part.

Leading parts in the production have been assigned to Evelyn Wright and Isabel Lynch, readers; Faye Rephann, Mary Huber, Barbara Knepp, Nancy Carter and Peggy Felker.

Others taking part will be John Stark, Charles Holsinger, Robert Nelson, Naomi Brode, James Croston, Aaron Snyder, John Wolfe, Louis Emerick, Norma Meagher, William Pape, Reuben Lewis, George Porter, Philip Knepp, Howard Rephann, John Holsinger, Thomas Wright, Robert Wright, Louis Shitfield and James Filsinger.

The pageant will be presented under direction of Louis R. Emerick and the musical accompaniments will be played by Mrs. James Filsinger.

The church will also have a service at 6 a. m., when Rev. Charles Mead will deliver a Christmas sermon. On Christmas Eve, the young people will sing Christmas carols at the homes of shut-ins.

Frostburg Legion To Erect Large Christmas Tree

Committee Is Named By Post Commander

Frank T. Powers, commander, appointed Earl R. Miller, chairman; William Buckalew, Paul Stewart, Harold Blocher, Walter LaRue, Lester Snyder, Fred Rowe and Olin Spiker as the committee in charge.

A tree has been donated by Miss Lillie Wasmuth and Annie Hartman, 104 Ormond Street. Purchased about 10 years ago from the late George Albright, the tree, located in the front yard of the home of the donors, has grown to considerable height.

The tree will be removed from its present location and erected as a community Christmas tree at the expense of the Legion.

Keyser Council Plans To Amend Ordinance On Loud-Speakers

KEYSER, W. Va. — Amendments to an ordinance pertaining to use of loud-speakers will be up for their first reading at the next regular meeting of the Mayor and City Council on December 21.

Present readings of a proposed ordinance on unnecessary noise disturbances of a commercial and non-commercial basis were dispensed with at yesterday afternoon's council meeting.

The action resulted after R. A. Pulliam, who operates a novelty company at 81 North Main Street, told the council the amplifier at his store is more of a public service than a "nuisance" since it is used to broadcast news, athletic contests and other items of current interest.

Pulliam's attorneys, H. G. Shores and Lester Reynolds, said they would prefer regulation but not prohibition of the use of sound amplification in Keyser.

The proposed ordinance on noise disturbances was one of two prepared by City Attorney James H. Swadley and read for the first time November 16.

The measure, which came up for a second reading at yesterday's meeting, would have prohibited "unnecessary and disturbing noises," including playing, using and operating sound amplifiers on the public streets.

School Plumbing Plan Clarified

KEYSER, W. Va.—Clarifying an article appearing in a Keyser newspaper Monday, Haven L. Idleman, superintendent of Mineral County Schools, said yesterday that Arthur B. Wells, local plumber, is not responsible for the delay in repairing the boys' toilet at Keyser Elementary School.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the school made a public appeal for Wells to install the toilet fixtures.

In his statement to the press, Idleman said:

"The School Board does not hold Wells responsible for the delay. However, it is true Wells was told last summer that he could install the fixtures, but plumbing jobs in other schools had to be done and were done first inasmuch as all the fixtures for the local school were not on hand.

"Wells was not and is not under contract with us to install the fixtures. Early last summer following the close of last year's school term, I went to Wells and talked to him about the equipment needed for the rest rooms. At that time fixtures needed to complete the project were not available and Wells said he thought he could get them in 90 days.

"Wells was told to order the fixtures and that he could install them. I had ordered them a year previous to contacting the plumber, but delivery was never made.

"Fixtures finally arrived late in the summer and in October Wells came to my office with S. T. McGee, principal of the elementary school, who asked me to authorize the project.

"I referred McGee's questions about when the work would be done to Wells who replied that he could not have the fixtures installed before the Christmas holidays, inasmuch as he was under contract to repair the Mineral County Court House and such work would not be completed prior to that time. Wells is in no way to blame."

Wells substantiated Idleman's statement and added that in working for the school board he has always handled jobs in the order requested.

He said: "As all the fixtures did not arrive here until late summer, at which time I was working at other schools in the county, I could not have installed them prior to the opening of the school term this fall.

"I am of the opinion that the Christmas holidays is the best time to install the toilets as I do not think it would be wise to undertake the job while school is in session."

Both Wells and Idleman said no verbal or written agreement was made to the time the work was to be done, it apparently being agreeable to handle the project either during the summer vacation or the Christmas holidays.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 7 — (INS) — Now and then I kid my old friend, George Jessel—but there's no kidding about his long list of musical hits for 20th.

Rita Johnson

So, I am not surprised that Georgie has been given a new contract and, at the same time, a new assignment. He will do "Bandwagon," the Howard Dietz Broadway musical of a few years ago, with June Haver in the star role.

• — • — •

Jessica Tandy, who was so run down she just had to take time off from "Streetcar Named Desire," returns in time for the first anniversary performance the middle of this week.

Then, whether "Streetcar" is still clanging away at the box office or not (and it is sure to be), Jessica is returning to Hollywood in June to make a picture at 20th where she is still under contract.

• — • — •

With an eye on his stockholders, Howard Hughes will not give Frank Ross the "go" sign on "The Robe." Howard, who is a good business man, believes this is not the time to spend $5,000,000 which was what "The Robe" was to have cost when it was discussed before Howard ever assumed control of the company.

For five years this great story, by Lloyd Douglas, has been discussed. It was bought by the old RKO regime, but it was acquired when conditions were better — so there isn't a chance of it being made, at least, by RKO.

All the night club reviewers who found fault with Peter Lind Hayes' imitation of President Truman when Pete was at Ciro's last year —listen to this:

Pete is now appearing in Washington, D. C., and the other night he and Mary Healy were almost bowled over when in walked the President, Mrs. Truman and Margaret, and asked for the much disputed "take off."

The comedian was plenty nervous at first until he saw out of the corner of his eye that the President was bent over with laughter. Later the President invited Peter and Mary over to his table and personally told them how amused the first family were at the imitation.

• — • — •

Charles Vidor leaves today for Washington, D. C., with the scripting Epstein brothers to shoot locations for "Born Yesterday." So, you don't have to be a private detective to unravel that the direction on this Broadway hit has fallen to Vidor.

While Harry Cohn's "mad" at Rita Hayworth is currently at fever heat and he's saying she won't make any picture until she makes "Lona Hanson"—I still think she will be the star of "Born Yesterday." Wait and see.

Rita never said she did not like the script of "Lona." She told me she just felt she couldn't do the character of the heroine—too far out of her line.

• — • — •

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Mayer returned home today. I can tell you now they spent the entire three days of their honeymoon at Joseph Schenck's Arrowhead Springs bungalow.

Rita Johnson took her first long walk—and her escort was Mike McCausland, the boy friend she hadn't been able to remember. Now she says she remembers Mike very well, so I guess that romance is on again.

Here's a cute story about Bing Crosby. He stopped in at Mocambo to see how Kay Starr, who is on his show, is doing. It was so crowded he couldn't get in so he said, "She's doing all right!"

Mary and Delmar Daves went social on us and gave a luncheon for the Count and Countess De Voge at Warners Studio. Gary Cooper, Jane Wyatt and other members of the "Task Force" company were the guests.

Today Aly Khan departs for home. All that talk about the expensive gifts he gave Rita, I just talk—but she never was a gal what liked jewels. Now I hope Rita stops hiding her face from photographers and becomes her old, cooperative self again.

Joan Crawford and Greg Bautzer are as lovey-dovey as a pair of turtle doves. Just how long it will last, nobody knows. They certainly are a case of can't live with or without each other.

Nora Flynn is coming back next week. Errol proceeds to Jamaica to spend the holidays.

That's all today.

The guillotine gets its name from its inventor, Joseph Ignatius Guillotine, a French physician.

North and South Carolina were separated in 1729.

District Legion Commander Plans Visit To Paw Paw

PAW PAW, W. Va.—Tenth District Commander H. Glenn Boyd, Piedmont, W. Va., will make his first official visit to Hardley Bohrere Post No. 128, American Legion, at a special meeting tomorrow at 8 p. m., according to Adjutant T. F. Cadigan.

Tenth District Vice Commander Richard M. Johnson, Berkeley Springs, W. Va., and Department First Vice Commander S. H. Stone, department membership chairman, will also be present.

Members and veterans are invited t oattend and refreshments will be served following the meeting. J. W. Garrett is post commander.

Romney Court Fines Two Local Men

Ambrose Kabosky and John C. Kabosky, this city, were each fined $20 and costs at a hearing before Justice of the Peace T. E. Pownall at Romney, W. Va., on charges of hunting without a license. They were arrested November 30 by Conservation Officer S. A. Saville.

It is said that the Place de l'Opera, Paris, has more motor traffic congestion than any other street intersection in the world.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Mayer returned home today. I can tell you now they spent the entire three days of their honeymoon at Joseph Schenck's Arrowhead Springs bungalow.

Rita Johnson took her first long walk—and her escort was Mike McCausland, the boy friend she hadn't been able to remember. Now she says she remembers Mike very well, so I guess that romance is on again.

Here's a cute story about Bing Crosby. He stopped in at Mocambo to see how Kay Starr, who is on his show, is doing. It was so crowded he couldn't get in so he said, "She's doing all right!"

Mary and Delmar Daves went social on us and gave a luncheon for the Count and Countess De Voge at Warners Studio. Gary Cooper, Jane Wyatt and other members of the "Task Force" company were the guests.

Today Aly Khan departs for home. All that talk about the expensive gifts he gave Rita, I just talk—but she never was a gal what liked jewels. Now I hope Rita stops hiding her face from photographers and becomes her old, cooperative self again.

Joan Crawford and Greg Bautzer are as lovey-dovey as a pair of turtle doves. Just how long it will last, nobody knows. They certainly are a case of can't live with or without each other.

Nora Flynn is coming back next week. Errol proceeds to Jamaica to spend the holidays.

That's all today.

The guillotine gets its name from its inventor, Joseph Ignatius Guillotine, a French physician.

Romney Court Fines Two Local Men

Ambrose Kabosky and John C. Kabosky, this city, were each fined $20 and costs at a hearing before Justice of the Peace T. E. Pownall at Romney, W. Va., on charges of hunting without a license. They were arrested November 30 by Conservation Officer S. A. Saville.

It is said that the Place de l'Opera, Paris, has more motor traffic congestion than any other street intersection in the world.

Radio in Review

By JOHN CROSBY

The Invasion

The most famous—or maybe infamous is the word I'm looking for—broadcast of all time opened with a precise, fussy and extraordinary dull weather report. "For the next twenty-four hours not much change in temperature. . . . Maximum temperature 68, minimum 48. . . . We take you now to the Meridan room in the Hotel Park Plaza in downtown New York where you will be entertained by the music of Ramon Raquello and his orchestra.

John Crosby

There followed an interval of dance music, then there was a long and dull interview with a professor at the Princeton Observatory over a meteor which had fallen in New Jersey. More dance music. There were a few news bulletins about the meteor and then an on-the-spot description of the meteor by a radio reporter named Carl Phillips at the scene where it fell, Grovers Mill near Newark.

Suddenly the coppery cylinder opened "revealing the leathery tentacles and the terrible pale-eyed faces of the Martians within." Phillips began to splutter incoherently, for long moments he was entirely speechless, he spluttered some more, and within a matter of seconds, lay dead over his microphone, the first victim of the Martian ray.

"There followed a moment of absolute silence—an eternity of waiting. Then, without warning, the network's emergency fill-in was heard—somewhere in a quiet studio a piano playing "Clair de Lune,' soft and sweet as honey for many seconds, while the fate of the universe hung in the balance. Finally it was interrupted by the manly reassuring voice of Brigadier General Montgomery Smith, commander of the New Jersey State Militia, speaking from Trenton and placing the counties of Mercer and Middlesex as far west as Princeton and east to Jamesburg under martial law.

"Soon after that came an eyewitness account of the fatal battle of Watching Hills and then once again the lone piano was heard—now a symbol of terror, shattering the dead air with its nervous tinkle. As it played on and on, its effect became increasingly sinister—a thin band of suspense stretched almost beyond endurance."

New Jersey was destroyed and the Martians, tall as skyscrapers, headed for New York. The Secretary of State came on the air pleading for calm among the populace and promising that all measures were being taken to repel the invader. But the invaders came right on anyway, wading the Hudson, and blanketing New York City with gas. The last announcer choked to death on the roof of the broadcasting house and his open mike caught only the whistling of ships in the harbor trying to escape. Then this noise died too. Finally, there was no sound at all except that of a lone amateur radio ham trying desperately to find some one to talk to: "2X2L calling CQ 2X2L calling CQ 2X2L calling CQ.

"Isn't there any one on the air? "Isn't there any one?"

A few moments later an announcer came on the air announcing that the program was an Orson Welles production of H. G. Wells's "War of the Worlds." The program was only half over but no one heard the last half of it. The panic was on.

The history of the Martian invasion has been beautifully told in the December issue of "Harper's" magazine by John Houseman in an article from which the above quotes were taken. Houseman, co-founder with Welles of the Mercury Theater, explains convincingly why the improbable radio drama was taken seriously by millions of people. Most psychologists have attributed it to the jittery time—Munich was only thirty-five days away—but Houseman gives the main credit to Welles's artistry in radio.

Houseman gives a wealth of background detail about this weird program and its consequences. The oddest revelation of all was the fact that "War of the Worlds" aroused no enthusiasm from any one, including Welles, and came close to being discarded in favor of some other work. Every one involved thought it was much too dull for a radio program.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

The most famous—or maybe infamous is the word I'm looking for—broadcast of all time opened with a precise, fussy and extraordinary dull weather report. "For the next twenty-four hours not much change in temperature. . . . Maximum temperature 68, minimum 48. . . . We take you now to the Meridan room in the Hotel Park Plaza in downtown New York where you will be entertained by the music of Ramon Raquello and his orchestra.

John Crosby

There followed an interval of dance music, then there was a long and dull interview with a professor at the Princeton Observatory over a meteor which had fallen in New Jersey. More dance music. There were a few news bulletins about the meteor and then an on-the-spot description of the meteor by a radio reporter named Carl Phillips at the scene where it fell, Grovers Mill near Newark.

Suddenly the coppery cylinder opened "revealing the leathery tentacles and the terrible pale-eyed faces of the Martians within." Phillips began to splutter incoherently, for long moments he was entirely speechless, he spluttered some more, and within a matter of seconds, lay dead over his microphone, the first victim of the Martian ray.

"There followed a moment of absolute silence—an eternity of waiting. Then, without warning, the network's emergency fill-in was heard—somewhere in a quiet studio a piano playing "Clair de Lune," soft and sweet as honey for many seconds, while the fate of the universe hung in the balance. Finally it was interrupted by the manly reassuring voice of Brigadier General Montgomery Smith, commander of the New Jersey State Militia, speaking from Trenton and placing the counties of Mercer and Middlesex as far west as Princeton and east to Jamesburg under martial law.

"Soon after that came an eyewitness account of the fatal battle of Watching Hills and then once again the lone piano was heard—now a symbol of terror, shattering the dead air with its nervous tinkle. As it played on and on, its effect became increasingly sinister—a thin band of suspense stretched almost beyond endurance."

New Jersey was destroyed and the Martians, tall as skyscrapers, headed for New York. The Secretary of State came on the air pleading for calm among the populace and promising that all measures were being taken to repel the invader. But the invaders came right on anyway, wading the Hudson, and blanketing New York City with gas. The last announcer choked to death on the roof of the broadcasting house and his open mike caught only the whistling of ships in the harbor trying to escape. Then this noise died too. Finally, there was no sound at all except that of a lone amateur radio ham trying desperately to find some one to talk to:

"2X2L calling CQ 2X2L calling CQ 2X2L calling CQ.

"Isn't there any one on the air?

"Isn't there any one?"

A few moments later an announcer came on the air announcing that the program was an Orson Welles production of H. G. Wells's "War of the Worlds." The program was only half over but no one heard the last half of it. The panic was on.

The history of the Martian invasion has been beautifully told in the December issue of "Harper's" magazine by John Houseman in an article from which the above quotes were taken. Houseman, co-founder with Welles of the Mercury Theater, explains convincingly why the improbable radio drama was taken seriously by millions of people. Most psychologists have attributed it to the jittery time—Munich was only thirty-five days away—but Houseman gives the main credit to Welles's artistry in radio.

Houseman gives a wealth of background detail about this weird program and its consequences. The oddest revelation of all was the fact that "War of the Worlds" aroused no enthusiasm from any one, including Welles, and came close to being discarded in favor of some other work. Every one involved thought it was much too dull for a radio program.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my wife, Verna May Stevenson, who died 2 years ago December 8th, 1946.
It was on a Sunday morning,
I'll ne'er forget that sad day,
God called and took my wife
To her Heaven Home to stay.
The Pearly Gates were opened,
A gentle voice said come,
And with farewell unspoken
She swiftly entered Home.
Gone from this earth, yes gone forever,
Tear dimmed eyes shall look in vain;
I will see her face, no never,
Never more on earth again.
In a grave yard silently sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one I love so dearly,
In a cold and silent grave.
Sadly missed by:
Her Husband, George H. Stevenson
Her Sisters and Nieces.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my wife, Verna May Stevenson, who died 2 years ago December 8th, 1946.
It was on a Sunday morning,
I'll ne'er forget that sad day,
God called and took my wife
To her Heaven Home to stay.
The Pearly Gates were opened,
A gentle voice said come,
And with farewell unspoken
She swiftly entered Home.
Gone from this earth, yes gone forever,
Tear dimmed eyes shall look in vain;
I will see her face, no never,
Never more on earth again.
In a grave yard silently sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one I love so dearly,
In a cold and silent grave.
Sadly missed by:
Her Husband, George H. Stevenson
Her Sisters and Nieces.

Market Closes Slightly Lower After Vague Attempts To Rally

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—The stock market closed slightly lower today after attempts at a rally failed to develop real punch.

Volume of 1,140,000 shares topped the 1,000,000-share mark for the 10th full day of trading in a row and compared with 1,800,000 Monday.

The Associated Press Average of 60 stocks dipped .1 of one point to 64.4, the first average setback in a week. The decline was considered of small significance because of the close balance of individual gains and losses.

Of the 1,051 issues which changed hands, 423 declined while 380 advanced.

Zenith Radio jumped 2¼ to 32, one of the largest gains. Brokers linked the advance with news that the company had purchased the Rauland Corp., makers of cathode ray tubes for television pictures, a deal which apparently assures the company of a source of tube supply.

Admiral Corp., another radio firm, gained 1⅞ at 22¼, high price for the year. The advance seemed to be a delayed reaction to news yesterday, when the price declined, of an extra and stock dividend.

Others higher included Skelly Oil at 118, Atlantic Refining 39¼, Sears Roebuck 39¼, Schenley 29⅞, American Telephone 151½, American Can 82, Dow Chemical 47½, Radio Corp., 13⅜, U. S. Gypsum 103¼, Nickel Plate 72⅛, United Airlines 11⅝.

Several ne financing developments, topped by the sales of $150,000,000 American Telephone & Telegraph 25-year debentures, shared investors' interest wit han irregular treno in the bond market.

Sales totaled $3,641,000—the biggest turnover since November 12. Monday's volume was $3,160,000.

U. S. Governments were mostly unchanged, with a scattering of issues up 1-32.

Slot Machine Action Blocked

FROSTBURG—A motion by City Commissioner John Hendley Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Mayor and City Commissioners for an ordinance giving the city power to destroy confiscated slot machines failed when Commissioner W. W. Sluss cast a negative vote.

According to City Clerk Alex G. Close, a unanimous vote is necessary to pass an ordinance.

Sluss said he was opposed to destroying the devices as no one would profit except the manufacters of the machines.

Sluss pointed out that after cases of operating illegal gaming devices are settled in court, he could not see where the city could help clear up gambling by destroying the machines.

A motion was passed to appoint John Kerr a permanent member of the police force. Kerr has been on probation for 18 months.

Rail Officials Discuss Blocking Of Keyser Street

Council Considers Street Sign Plan

KEYSER, W. Va.—Authorities of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad yesterday told the Mayor and Council they will make every effort to prevent blocking of the Main Street crossing by freight trains.

R. A. J. Morrison, superintendent of the Cumberland Division, and Warren Frye, general yard master here, explained the small size of the Keyser railroad yards makes it difficult to make up trains without blocking the crossing.

Two types of hand-operated fire extinguishers for the city police cruiser were exhibited by Clyde LaRue for possible purchase by the city.

LaRue pointed out that on many occasions police arrive at the scene of a fire before the fire truck and explained that local officers could handle small blazes and possibly prevent big fires by using the extinguishers.

LaRue dispayed two types of extinguishers, one using carbon tetrachloride and the other carbon dioxide. He recommended the latter.

The council decided to table the offer until the next regular meeting. Both types cost approximately $30.

James Broome, representing the Yeoman's Club, offered a street sign plan to the city, which met with favorable approval. Explaining that the city needs a total of 120 signs for its streets, Broome displayed a sample black and white sign which would cost $6.35, making a total of approximately $700 for the entire amount of signs needed.

Broome explained that the Yeoman's Club, which has surveyed the city's needs, has the necessary pipes on which to place the markers. He added that the club would donate the pipe to the city, thereby saving about $400. The city would be responsible for the erection of the markers.

The council decided to table the matter until the next meeting, during which time the contingent fund account will be checked and a decision will be made.

Plans for replacing the present lighting system in the downtown area were discussed by the council with T. Warner Lowery, head of the Potomac Light and Power Company. Decisions were tabled until the January 4 meeting so that a complete study of the city's lighting needs may be made.

Market Closes Slightly Lower After Vague Attempts To Rally

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—The stock market closed slightly lower today after attempts at a rally failed to develop real punch.

Volume of 1,140,000 shares topped the 1,000,000-share mark for the 10th full day of trading in a row and compared with 1,800,000 Monday.

The Associated Press Average of 60 stocks dipped .1 of one point to 64.4, the first average setback in a week. The decline was considered of small significance because of the close balance of individual gains and losses.

Of the 1,051 issues which changed hands, 423 declined while 360 advanced.

Zenith Radio jumped 2¼ to 32, one of the largest gains. Brokers linked the advance with news that the company had purchased the Rauland Corp., makers of cathode ray tubes for television pictures, a deal which apparently assures the company of a source of tube supply.

Admiral Corp., another radio firm, gained 1⅞ at 22¼, high price for the year. The advance seemed to be a delayed reaction to news yesterday, when the price declined, of an extra and stock dividend.

Others higher included Skelly Oil at 118, Atlantic Refining 39¼, Sears Roebuck 39¼, Schenley 29⅝, American Telephone 151½, American Can 82, Dow Chemical 47½, Radio Corp., 13⅜, U. S. Gypsum 103¼, Nickel Plate 72⅛, United Airlines 11⅝.

Several ne financing developments, topped by the sales of $150,000,000 American Telephone & Telegraph 25-year debentures, shared investors' interest wit han irregular treno in the bond market.

Sales totaled $3,641,000—the biggest turnover since November 12. Monday's volume was $3,160,000.

U. S. Governments were mostly unchanged, with a scattering of issues up 1-32.

Slot Machine Action Blocked

FROSTBURG—A motion by City Commissioner John Hendley Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Mayor and City Commissioners for an ordinance giving the city power to destroy confiscated slot machines failed when Commissioner W. W. Sluss cast a negative vote.

According to City Clerk Alex G. Close, a unanimous vote is necessary to pass an ordinance.

Sluss said he was opposed to destroying the devices as no one would profit except the manufacters of the machines.

Sluss pointed out that after cases of operating illegal gaming devices are settled in court, he could not see where the city could help clear up gambling by destroying the machines.

A motion was passed to appoint John Kerr a permanent member of the police force. Kerr has been on probation for 18 months.

Rail Officials Discuss Blocking Of Keyser Street

Council Considers Street Sign Plan

KEYSER, W. Va.—Authorities of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad yesterday told the Mayor and Council they will make every effort to prevent blocking of the Main Street crossing by freight trains.

R. A. J. Morrison, superintendent of the Cumberland Division, and Warren Frye, general yard master here, explained the small size of the Keyser railroad yards makes it difficult to make up trains without blocking the crossing.

Two types of hand-operated fire extinguishers for the city police cruiser were exhibited by Clyde LaRue for possible purchase by the city.

LaRue pointed out that on many occasions police arrive at the scene of a fire before the fire truck and explained that local officers could handle small blazes and possibly prevent big fires by using the extinguishers.

LaRue dispayed two types of extinguishers, one using carbon tetrachloride and the other carbon dioxide. He recommended the latter.

The council decided to table the offer until the next regular meeting. Both types cost approximately $30.

James Broome, representing the Yeoman's Club, offered a street sign plan to the city, which met with favorable approval. Explaining that the city needs a total of 120 signs for its streets, Broome displayed a sample black and white sign which would cost $6.35, making a total of approximately $700 for the entire amount of signs needed.

Broome explained that the Yeoman's Club, which has surveyed the city's needs, has the necessary pipes on which to place the markers. He added that the club would donate the pipe to the city, thereby saving about $400. The city would be responsible for the erection of the markers.

The council decided to table the matter until the next meeting, during which time the contingent fund account will be checked and a decision will be made.

Plans for replacing the present lighting system in the downtown area were discussed by the council with T. Warner Lowery, head of the Potomac Light and Power Company. Decisions were tabled until the January 4 meeting so that a complete study of the city's lighting needs may be made.

William Stewart Dies In Car-Truck Collision

Court Attache Is Killed Instantly

WILLIAM STEWART

William Stewart, 67, Frostburg, deputy clerk in Trial Magistrates Court, Cumberland, and an active Republican party worker, was killed instantly yesterday afternoon when his car and a Western Maryland Railway-owned truck collided head-on at Corriganville.

The driver of the truck, Francis L. Charlton, 23, Boulevard Apartments, was admitted to Memorial Hospital with a laceration of the forehead between the eyes. He was reported in fair condition last night.

Trooper George Coddington of the State Police, who investigated, said Stewart, riding alone, was driving west on Route 36 when his car collided with Charlton's truck a few feet east of the Western Maryland Railway tracks.

Driving To Frostburg

The accident occurred about 4:10 p. m. as Stewart was driving to Frostburg after court closed here. Charlton was driving a load of signal and signal maintenance equipment from Rockwood, Pa., to Cumberland when the accident occurred, Coddington said.

Stewart was taken to Allegany Hospital by Elmer C. Furlow and Phillip Diehl, both of Mt. Savage, and was pronounced dead on arrival. Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said death was caused by a broken neck.

Coddington said no charges have been preferred pending completion of the investigation.

Mr. Stewart was born at Eckhart Mines June 22, 1881, a son of the late John R. and Mary R. Watson Stewart. He received his early education at the Eckhart Mines and Hoffman public schools and at the age of 14 was employed as a coal miner at Hoffman Mines.

He later worked for the B. and O. Railroad in Cumberland for six months and studied bookkeeping and typing at the Mountain State Business College here. He then accepted a position as assistant bookkeeper for the Cumberland Brewing Company, where he remained for 24 years.

Named Clerk In 1939

He had been a deputy clerk at the local magistrates court since 1939. An active Republican party worker for many years, he sought election as clerk to the County Commissioners on several occasions.

Mr. Stewart, who was unmarried, resided with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Rance Stewart, 11 Washington Street, Frostburg.

He is survived, besides his brother, by two other brothers, James, Frostburg, and Roy, Eckhart; three sisters, Mrs. William England, Oklahoma; Mrs. Richard Gunter, Youngstown, O., and Miss Nan Stewart, at home, and several nieces and nephews, including John Stewart, secretary of the Tri-State Mine and Mill Supply Company.

He was a member of the Allegany-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association, and had been treasurer of the organization for the past six years. Mr. Stewart was a member of the Baptist Church.

The body will be at the Durst Funeral Home, Frostburg.

Armour Workers Get Four Cent Increase

An agreement was reached yesterday which will provide workers of the Armour and Company branch here with a four cent hourly wage increase, C. E. Stutzman, business agent for Local 453, Teamsters Union, which represents the workers, said.

Salvation Army Group Will Meet Tomorrow

The Chistmas committee of the Salvation Army will meet Thursday at 10:30 a. m. at the Citadel to work out plans for a one-day fund campaign for Christmas work in this area.

Representatives of Cumberland civic and service clubs will meet with the committee headed by Forrest Brown, Major Elmer Wall, commander said.

Weather

A foggy mist which played havoc with assorted hairdos in Cumberland wasn't able to keep the thermometer from going up to 55 degrees yesterday after it had been way down to 27 degrees. The minimum temperature might have been that near-freezing temperature that was promised, but it confined itself to the time when most people are in bed anyway. Late last night the thermometer read 40 degrees. Rain is supposed to be due this morning. It should clear up by night, if it comes, and the temperature should go down right sharply after dark.

Christmas Seal Returns To Date Total $3,251

Amount Is Lower Than Last Year

Returns to date in the current Christmas Seal campaign amount to $3,251.15, somewhat under last year's total at the same time, William J. Edwards, campaign chairman and president of the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association, said yesterday.

That figure does not include contributions from residents of the Frostburg and Westernport areas.

Edwards explained that Mrs. Julia Abramson and Miss Mary Hanna, Christmas Seal chairmen for the respective communities, will not turn in their reports until a later date.

Allegany County's goal this year is $10,000, of which 80 per cent will remain here for tuberculosis work, including maintenance of the monthly chest clinics and a future program of health education.

County residents last year contributed a record amount of $8,900 to the campaign.

At the request of the state association, two sheets of 100 Christmas Seals instead of one sheet were mailed in each letter to county residents for the first time this year.

Edwards said some confusion resulted early in the campaign, with a number of persons returning the second sheet of seals in the belief an error had been made.

Although the standard practice has been to contribute $1 for each sheet of 100 Christmas Seals, all donations are gratefully received, Edwards said.

Persons who did not receive the Seals but who wish to contribute may send their donations either to the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association headquarters at City Hall or to Mrs. Teresa Longwell, executive secretary, 203 Greene Street.

Edwards said the practice of mailing 200 Christmas Seals per letter has been in effect in Baltimore and several other counties for several years.

He urged county residents to return contributions or unused seals promptly.

Grocery Store Is Burglarized

City Police are investigating a burglary at Joe's Cut Rate Store, 1100 Ella Avenue, some time Monday night.

Detective Thomas J. See said Joseph W. Lewis, proprietor of the grocery store, reported goods valued at $25 were stolen.

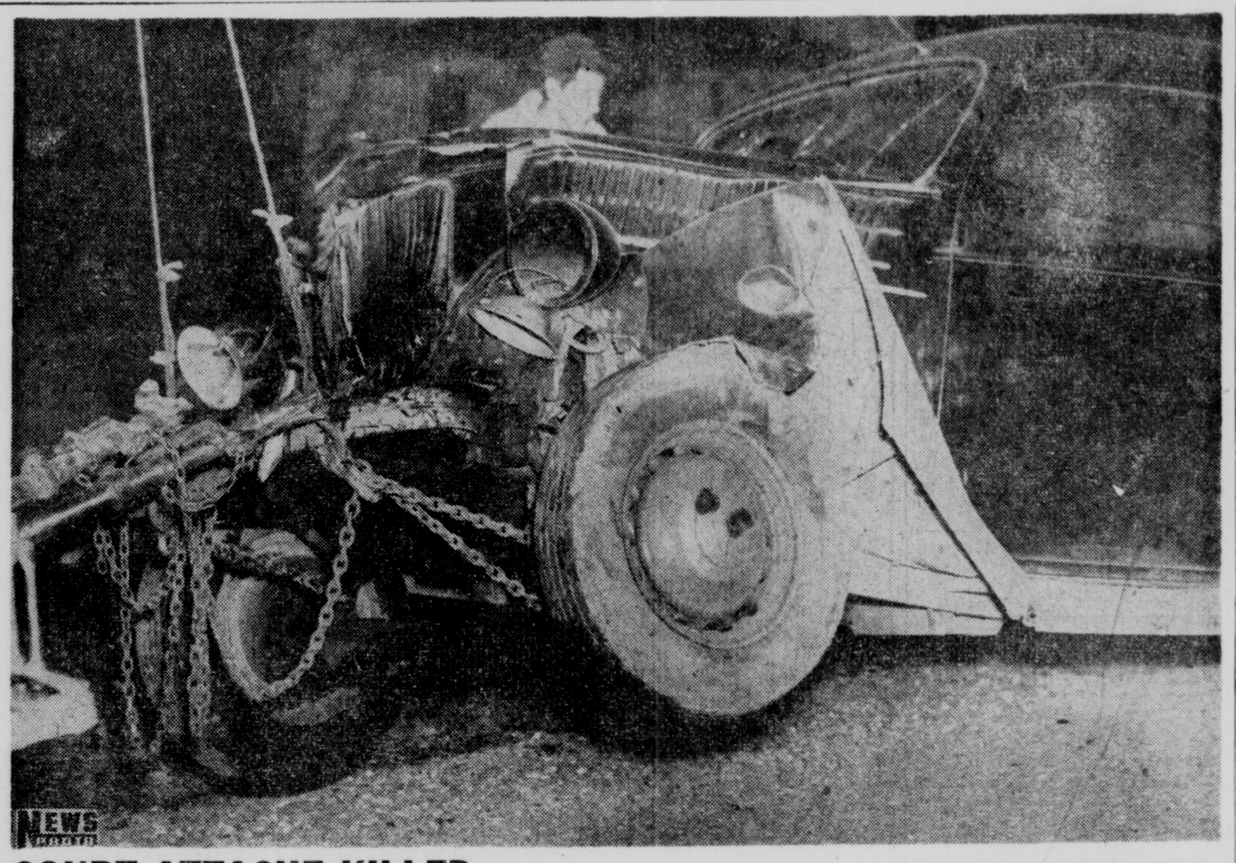

See said the burglar took three five-pound boxes of candy, three two and a half-pound boxes of candy and some socks and nylon hose.

Entrance, he said, was gained by breaking glass in a side window. The proprietor discovered the theft upon opening the store at 9 a. m. yesterday.

Police are still searching for two men who attempted to break into the Hering and Sharer Plumbing and Heating Shop, rear of 128 Polk Street, early Monday morning.

Lt. James E. Van said the intruders were frightened away by an unidentified pedestrian. The pedestrian, he said, told him he saw the two men jump from the roof of the building and run toward the B. and O. Railroad tracks.

Police said the pair had forced a window up three inches but had not entered. One was wearing a Navy uniform and the other was bareheaded and wore a brown leather jacket, police said.

Celanese Plant Remodeling To Be Finished In May

An intensive modernization program which has been in progress at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America for some time is expected to be complete by next May, it was announced last night.

The program will allow the Cumberland plant, which began operations 34 years ago this Christmas, to compete with the most modern textile plants in the United States.

Fred T. Small, plant manager and a vice president of the Celanese Corporation, last night emphatically denied rumors of a four-day work week at the plant.

The plant, he said, is operating at peak production now and has been for some time.

Small recalled that it was on Christmas day in 1924 that the first yarn was produced at the Amcelle plant, which was the first cellulose acetate plant in the United States.

On that Christmas there were 200 employes at Amcelle which has a total working force of 9,200 staff and hourly rated employes.

Hoelzer was formerly employed by the Automatic Signal Corporation, which owns the traffic signal, as a part-time maintenance man, and helped to install the light.

The city has a contract agreement with the firm for use of the light, with maintenance provided by the Potomac Edison Company.

VFW Post To Send Holiday Boxes To Vets In Hospitals

Christmas boxes will be mailed to their members in veterans hospitals, Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, decided last night at their regular meeting.

According to James J. Kloran, post commander, families of hospitalized post members should notify the post and furnish full names and address of hospital. Lee Thrasher, Harry Reiber and George Banzhoff were named to a committee to handle the project.

Kloran was presented with a golden jubilee pin last night for signing up 50 new members for 1949. The presentation was made for the national commander by Thomas K. Whalley, post adjutant and national deputy inspector.

Committee reports were received, Kloran said, with the Drum and Bugle Corps announcing a suspension of activities until January 17. No rehearsals will be held until that time, due to the busy holiday season.

A committee was named to compile historical facts and publicity data on the post and keep a record of post activities. Verner Winner was named chairman.

The degree team will hold regular weekly rehearsals. The team went to Silver Spring Sunday and obligated 200 members at Silver Spring Memorial Post. Speakers at the induction ceremony included Omar B. Ketchum, national legislative officer, and Paul Walburn, past national commander.

Three new members were admitted last night for 1949, bringing the total obtained for the new year to 447. The current membership drive will continue until last year's 1,300 enrollment has been exceeded, Kloran said.

Miss Bonig said the toys are being kept at the Associated Charities office in City Hall for distribution to families who come to the office for aid.

A unique feature is a collection of 25 miniature beds, with spreads, quilts and pillows made by the Girl Scouts, Gamma Chapter of Nu Phi Mu Sorority, and the Intermediate Girls' Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society of First Baptist Church.

Materials for the toys were supplied by John A. Malcolm of the Cumberland Paint and Glass Company and Arthur J. Weber of the South Cumberland Planing Mill Company.

Two similar lines serving the areas were not affected. A crew was dispatched to the scene within six or eight minutes after the power failure was reported at 6:40 p. m., but darkness hindered location of the trouble, officials said.

The crew said the part of the line affected was between Route 40 and Allegany Grove.

Truck Owner Is Charged In Deaths Of 2 Passengers

Broadwater Posts $500 Appearance Bond

The owner of the truck in which two men were drowned when the vehicle plunged into Savage River near Bloomington Monday night was released yesterday afternoon after posting $500 bond for his appearance at a hearing Saturday morning on a charge of manslaughter by motor vehicle.

Garrett County State's Attorney Dwight Stover said the owner of the truck, Robert Broadwater, Swanton, was assumed to have been the driver of the truck in which Aden C. Wilt, Jr., 34, Swanton, and Samuel Lewis Darr, 46, Hill Top, near Westernport, were killed.

The hearing is set for 10 a. m. Saturday.

Meanwhile, funeral services for both victims are scheduled for tomorrow.

The men were apparently passengers in the bed of the truck when it left the road and overturned in about three feet of water, authorities said.

Wilt Material Witness

Broadwater, police said, told them he waded ashore when the vehicle righted itself. Broadwater and another passenger, Darie Wilt, Swanton, escaped injury. Wilt is scheduled to appear as a material witness at the hearing.

Trooper T. H. Gilmore, who opened the investigation, said the accident was reported to him by a Westernport man who saw the vehicle resting in the middle of the river.

When he arrived, he said, Broadwater was not at the scene, but appeared later, saying he had walked to Bloomington for help.

Firemen from Bloomington and Westernport worked to lift the truck and free Aden Wilt, who was pinned beneath it. As the truck was lifted Darr's body floated about 300 feet downstream and became lodged among rocks.

Dr. E. I Baumgartner, deputy Garrett County medical examiner, attributed both deaths to drowning.

Funerals Today

A funeral service for Samuel Lewis Darr will be conducted at 10 a. m. tomorrow by Rev. O. F. Bowman, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, Frostburg, at the Boal Funeral Home, Westernport. Interment will be in Philos Cemetery, Westernport.

Darr was a son of the late John and Eliza Jones Darr and was a native of Westernport, where he was engaged in farming. He was a former coal miner.

Surviving him are one brother, William Darr, Hill Top, near Westernport, with whom he resided; three sisters, Mrs. Anna Mullan, Westernport, and Mrs. Wayne O. Irwin and Miss Bertha Lee Darr, both of LaVale.

Wilt was a son of Mrs. Lulu Wilt, Swanton, and the late Aden C. Wilt, Sr. He was born in Swanton and resided there most of his life.

During World War II he served in the cavalry for three years and nine months in the ETO. He lived with his mother and was engaged in farming. He was a member of Victory Post No. 155, American Legion, Westernport.

Besides his mother, he is survived by four brothers, Arthur and Michael Wilt, both of Swanton; Luther Wilt, Bloomington, and Daniel Wilt, Baltimore; four sisters, Mrs. Carrie Rounds, Piedmont, W. Va.; Mrs. Gertrude Ward and Mrs. Blanche Barnard, both of Swanton, and Mrs. Mabel Schaidt, Lonaconing.

Lilya Asks Merchants To Begin Long-Range Parking Program

Local merchants must start now to think of alleviating Cumberland's parking problems in the business district, Lt. Edwin R. Lilya, Traffic Division head, said yesterday at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Rotary Club in Central YMCA.

Action now to find off-the-street parking places for customers will halt any move to decentralize the business section brought on by over congestion, he said. Merchants should, individually or collectively, procure areas for parking before business concerns take up the remaining available space, he added.

Some think, Lt. Lilya said, that parking lots should be provided by the city. However, the merchant would not be aided because clerks and employes would tend to fill up the spaces in the morning and remain there all day. He also cited the need for supervision of such lots should the city take over.

He mentioned a proposal before the city to take over a lot on George Street using parking meters to defray the cost. However, nothing definite has been done about it yet, he added.

The time will come, Lt. Lilya said, when parking will have to be prohibited on all downtown streets. Already loading zones have been established on North Mechanic and Liberty Streets with another planned for North Centre Street.

The traffic head told of measures taken by merchants in other cities. One city had a parking lot 10 blocks from the shopping district with a shuttle service to and from the area. Some merchants give motorists tickets and, with the proved purchase of so much merchandise, pay the monthly parking bill.

Lilya cited Silver Spring as an example of the growing trend toward decentralization of large towns as traffic conditions become too crowded. Many businesses have moved from more congested Washington, he said.

The victims were Aden C. Wilt, Jr., 34, Swanton, and Samuel Lewis Darr, 46, Hill Top, Westernport. The owner of the vehicle, Robert Broadwater, posted $500 bond yesterday for his appearance at a hearing Saturday on a charge of manslaughter by motor vehicle.

Nations Must Work Together For World Community, Rev. Smith Says

Peoples of the earth must be brought together and live together, if mankind is to survive, Rev. Nevin E. Smith, pastor of Emmanuel Reformed Church, Hanover, Pa., told the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce last night.

Nations, he declared, learn to work together for a world community in much the same manner as Chambers of Commerce work together for the general interest of their communities.

One of the principal things that must be learned in order to develop, Rev. Smith declared, is common Christian decency and common Christian morality.

John J. Robinson, Chamber president, opened the meeting, which was held in the Elks Club, and Rev. Carl H. Clapp, pastor of St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed Church and a classmate of Rev. Smith, gave the invocation.

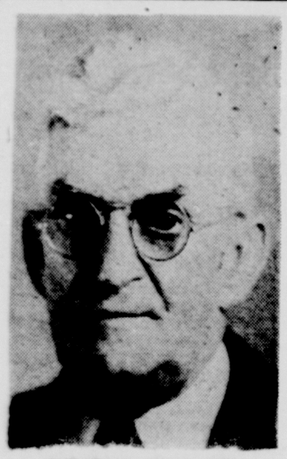

Rev. Smith was introduced by C. Philip Jolley, chairman of the membership activities committee.

A feature of the program was showing of the film, "America and Sons, Unlimited," which illustrates the development of America under the free enterprise system and shows how progress in the United States resulted from the willingness of varied groups to work together.

Weather

A foggy mist which played havoc with assorted hairdos in Cumberland wasn't able to keep the thermometer from going up to 55 degrees yesterday after it had been way down to 27 degrees. The minimum temperature might have been that near-freezing temperature that was promised, but it confined itself to the time when most people are in bed anyway. Late last night the thermometer read 40 degrees. Rain is supposed to be due this morning. It should clear up by night, if it comes, and the temperature should go down right sharply after dark.

Christmas Seal Returns To Date Total $3,251

Amount Is Lower Than Last Year

Returns to date in the current Christmas Seal campaign amount to $3,251.15, somewhat under last year's total at the same time, William J. Edwards, campaign chairman and president of the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association, said yesterday.

That figure does not include contributions from residents of the Frostburg and Westernport areas.

Edwards explained that Mrs. Julia Abramson and Miss Mary Hanna, Christmas Seal chairmen for the respective communities, will not turn in their reports until a later date.

Allegany County's goal this year is $10,000, of which 80 per cent will remain here for tuberculosis work, including maintenance of the monthly chest clinics and a future program of health education.

County residents last year contributed a record amount of $8,900 to the campaign.

At the request of the state association, two sheets of 100 Christmas Seals instead of one sheet were mailed in each letter to county residents for the first time this year.

Edwards said some confusion resulted early in the campaign, with a number of persons returning the second sheet of seals in the belief an error had been made.

Although the standard practice has been to contribute $1 for each sheet of 100 Christmas Seals, all donations are gratefully received, Edwards said.

Persons who did not receive the Seals but who wish to contribute may send their donations either to the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association headquarters at City Hall or to Mrs. Teresa Longwell, executive secretary, 203 Greene Street.

Edwards said the practice of mailing 200 Christmas Seals per letter has been in effect in Baltimore and several other counties for several years.

He urged county residents to return contributions or unused seals promptly.

Grocery Store Is Burglarized

City Police are investigating a burglary at Joe's Cut Rate Store, 1100 Ella Avenue, some time Monday night.

Detective Thomas J. See said Joseph W. Lewis, proprietor of the grocery store, reported goods valued at $25 were stolen.

See said the burglar took three five-pound boxes of candy, three two and a half-pound boxes of candy and some socks and nylon hose.

Entrance, he said, was gained by breaking glass in a side window. The proprietor discovered the theft upon opening the store at 9 a. m. yesterday.

Police are still searching for two men who attempted to break into the Hering and Sharer Plumbing and Heating Shop, rear of 128 Polk Street, early Monday morning.

Lt. James E. Van said the intruders were frightened away by an unidentified pedestrian. The pedestrian, he said, told him he saw the two men jump from the roof of the building and run toward the B. and O. Railroad tracks.

Police said the pair had forced a window up three inches but had not entered. One was wearing a Navy uniform and the other was bareheaded and wore a brown leather jacket, police said.

Celanese Plant Remodeling To Be Finished In May

An intensive modernization program which has been in progress at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America for some time is expected to be complete by next May, it was announced last night.

The program will allow the Cumberland plant, which began operations 34 years ago this Christmas, to compete with the most modern textile plants in the United States.

Fred T. Small, plant manager and a vice president of the Celanese Corporation, last night emphatically denied rumors of a four-day work week at the plant.

The plant, he said, is operating at peak production now and has been for some time.

Small recalled that it was on Christmas day in 1924 that the first yarn was produced at the Amcelle plant, which was the first cellulose acetate plant in the United States.

On that Christmas there were 200 employes at Amcelle which has a total working force of 9,200 staff and hourly rated employes.

Truck Owner Is Charged In Deaths Of 2 Passengers

Broadwater Posts $500 Appearance Bond

The owner of the truck in which two men were drowned when the vehicle plunged into Savage River near Bloomington Monday night was released yesterday afternoon after posting $500 bond for his appearance at a hearing Saturday morning on a charge of manslaughter by motor vehicle.

Garrett County State's Attorney Dwight Stover said the owner of the truck, Robert Broadwater, Swanton, was assumed to have been the driver of the truck in which Aden C. Wilt, Jr., 34, Swanton, and Samuel Lewis Darr, 46, Hill Top, near Westernport, were killed.

The hearing is set for 10 a. m. Saturday.

Meanwhile, funeral services for both victims are scheduled for tomorrow.

The men were apparently passengers in the bed of the truck when it left the road and overturned in about three feet of water, authorities said.

Wilt Material Witness

Broadwater, police said, told them he waded ashore when the vehicle righted itself. Broadwater and another passenger, Darie Wilt, Swanton, escaped injury. Wilt is scheduled to appear as a material witness at the hearing.

Trooper T. H. Gilmore, who opened the investigation, said the accident was reported to him by a Westernport man who saw the vehicle resting in the middle of the river.

When he arrived, he said, Broadwater was not at the scene, but appeared later, saying he had walked to Bloomington for help.

Firemen from Bloomington and Westernport worked to lift the truck and free Aden Wilt, who was pinned beneath it. As the truck was lifted Darr's body floated about 300 feet downstream and became lodged among rocks.

Dr. E. I Baumgartner, deputy Garrett County medical examiner, attributed both deaths to drowning.

Surviving him are one brother, William Darr, Hill Top, near Westernport, with whom he resided; three sisters, Mrs. Anna Mullan, Westernport, and Mrs. Wayne O. Irwin and Miss Bertha Lee Darr, both of LaVale.

Wilt was a son of Mrs. Lulu Wilt, Swanton, and the late Aden C. Wilt, Sr. He was born in Swanton and resided there most of his life.

During World War II he served in the cavalry for three years and nine months in the ETO. He lived with his mother and was engaged in farming. He was a member of Victory Post No. 155, American Legion, Westernport.

Besides his mother, he is survived by four brothers, Arthur and Michael Wilt, both of Swanton; Luther Wilt, Bloomington, and Daniel Wilt, Baltimore; four sisters, Mrs. Carrie Rounds, Piedmont, W. Va.; Mrs. Gertrude Ward and Mrs. Blanche Barnard, both of Swanton, and Mrs. Mabel Schaidt, Lonaconing.

Lilya Asks Merchants To Begin Long-Range Parking Program

Local merchants must start now to think of alleviating Cumberland's parking problems in the business district, Lt. Edwin R. Lilya, Traffic Division head, said yesterday at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Rotary Club in Central YMCA.

Action now to find off-the-street parking places for customers will halt any move to decentralize the business section brought on by over congestion, he said. Merchants should, individually or collectively, procure areas for parking before business concerns take up the remaining available space, he added.

Some think, Lt. Lilya said, that parking lots should be provided by the city. However, the merchant would not be aided because clerks and employes would tend to fill up the spaces in the morning and remain there all day. He also cited the need for supervision of such lots should the city take over.

He mentioned a proposal before the city to take over a lot on George Street using parking meters to defray the cost. However, nothing definite has been done about it yet, he added.

The time will come, Lt. Lilya said, when parking will have to be prohibited on all downtown streets. Already loading zones have been established on North Mechanic and Liberty Streets with another planned for North Centre Street.

The traffic head told of measures taken by merchants in other cities. One city had a parking lot 10 blocks from the shopping district with a shuttle service to and from the area. Some merchants give motorists tickets and, with the proved purchase of so much merchandise, pay the monthly parking bill.

Lilya cited Silver Spring as an example of the growing trend toward decentralization of large towns as traffic conditions become too crowded. Many businesses have moved from more congested Washington, he said.

Nations Must Work Together For World Community, Rev. Smith Says

Peoples of the earth must be brought together and live together, if mankind is to survive, Rev. Nevin E. Smith, pastor of Emmanuel Reformed Church, Hanover, Pa., told the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce last night.

Nations, he declared, learn to work together for a world community in much the same manner as Chambers of Commerce work together for the general interest of their communities.

One of the principal things that must be learned in order to develop, Rev. Smith declared, is common Christian decency and common Christian morality.

John J. Robinson, Chamber president, opened the meeting, which was held in the Elks Club, and Rev. Carl H. Clapp, pastor of St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed Church and a classmate of Rev. Smith, gave the invocation.

Rev. Smith was introduced by C. Philip Jolley, chairman of the membership activities committee.

A feature of the program was showing of the film, "America and Sons, Unlimited," which illustrates the development of America under the free enterprise system and shows how progress in the United States resulted from the willingness of varied groups to work together.
